C. I. O. THREAT: 'FORD IS NEXT'

MOLEY, FORMER BRAIN TRUSTER, HITS COURT PLAN

Says It Means End of Constitution.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Raymond Moley, former undersecretary of state and chief of President Roosevelt's original brain trust, told the senate judiciary committee today that we might as well not have a constitution at all as to pack the Supreme court for the purpose of securing favorable judicial construction.

Carried to its logical conclusion, he said, the President's proposal will mean "destruction of the constitution."

Mr. Moley was the second important witness for the senate opposition, which began its attack yesterday with a statement from Chief Justice Hughes showing that the justices themselves believe the President's plan will impair the court's efficiency and with Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] urging a constitutional amendment.

Favors Amendment Method.

Mr. Moley also urged the constitutional amendment method as the honest and democratic approach to the New Deal's objectives and replied directly to President Roosevelt's assertion that he wanted "to make democracy work."

"Let us make democracy work by working through the instruments of democracy," the witness declared.

Mr. Moley, who became the President's closest adviser during the campaign of 1932 and brought into the brain trust such recruits as Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell and A. A. Berle Jr., is now professor of public law at Columbia university.

He was outspoken in his denunciation of the Supreme court's decisions, particularly those outlawing some of the legislation which he helped to formulate, such as the AAA, but he opposed the President's plan because of its moral implications and because, he said, the amendment method is the better way.

Lists Four Proposals.

He mentioned four specific amendment proposals as being better from the practical standpoint than the President's plan to pack the court with six favorable justices:

1. Senator William E. Borah's amendment giving the states unquestionable power to deal with social and economic problems.
2. An amendment extending the commerce powers of the federal government.
3. An amendment assuring that the presumption of constitutionality shall attach to acts of congress by requiring two-thirds of the justices to concur before declaring laws unconstitutional.
4. An amendment to provide compulsory retirement of Supreme court justices at 70 or 72 years of age.

Mr. Moley said he was happy in the fact that the original arguments in support of the plan, including the idea that the court is inefficient and unable to keep abreast of its work, had been exploded and that even the sponsors of the measure had abandoned such arguments.

Protest from Dieterich.

This brought a protest from Senator William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.], who took the President at his word that more judges are needed to do the court's work and apparently intends to stand on that premise, even though the President does not.

"When you say 'they' have abandoned that contention whom do you mean?" Dieterich asked.

"I mean the senate committee," Mr. Moley replied.

"Well, if I told you that I, for one, had not abandoned it would you change your opinion?" Dieterich persisted.

"With all due respect to you, I'd rather take the statement of the chief justice," said the witness.

Interested in Judges.

But Senator Dieterich, who was converted to the court packing scheme about the time he secured the appointment of one federal judge and who still is sponsoring another candidate, said the chief justice might be "too close to his court" and "too set in his ways" to be the best witness as to whether the court needs more judges.

Dieterich received another blow in this respect when Representative

IL DUCE'S BLAST AT BRITAIN SEEN AS WAR THREAT

Anger of Both Sides at Danger Point.

"Italy Never Forgets"

ROME—Premier Mussolini, angered by taunts in the British press over the defeat of Italian troops in Spain, hurls a veiled threat against Britain. Declares Italians have a "tenacious memory" and orders Black Shirts "to remember and be prepared."

MADRID—Loyalists drive Italian supported rebels back to original positions near Jadraque and Almadrones, 53 miles northeast of Madrid, from which they started their early March drive on Guadalajara. Page 5.

Dino Grandi.

LONDON, March 23. — European diplomats said today that the tense relations now prevailing between Great Britain and Italy were putting the worst strain on the possibility of maintaining peace that has existed since the British sent their fleet into the Mediterranean two years ago.

Diplomatic chancelleries measured the extent of the strain by the fiery defiance which Premier Mussolini hurled from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia in Rome today and also by the extent of the British annoyance, which was thinly veiled, at Mussolini's bid for the leadership of Islam and his demonstrations in Tripoli during his recent trip to Libya. Mussolini's blasts at England today were made in a speech before 250,000 Fascists on the occasion of the eighteenth birthday of the Fascist party.

Clash Over Spanish Issue.

The gravity of the British-Italian tension over Spain was also emphasized today when the meeting of the subcommittee of the international committee on nonintervention in Spain broke up after a stormy session with Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, refusing to discuss the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain. He said not a single Italian fighting in the Spanish civil war would be ordered home until the conflict ended.

In Italian circles tonight it was not denied that the ambassador's outburst was a direct result of Mussolini's indignation over articles in British and other foreign newspapers reporting the reverses suffered recently by Italian troops fighting for the Spanish rebels near Madrid. British newspapers describe the Italian defeat as "a second Caporetto." This is a particularly sensitive spot with the Italians.

Italians See British Threat.

Italian ire, according to diplomatic gossip, also is due to the belief that the British armament program is directed toward putting England in shape to curb Italian expansion. This England was unable to do two years ago. Diplomatic indiscretions indicate that England's object now is to be strong enough two years hence to call Mussolini's bluff without the fear that Germany or Japan will seize the occasion to further their own aims.

On the other hand, the British are uneasy over Premier Mussolini's move to fortify his Ethiopian conquest and particularly over his intention to build a naval base in the Red sea to challenge British control of the Indian ocean.

FIFTEEN HORSES PERISH AS $50,000 FIRE RAZES N. SHORE POLO CLUB

Fifteen horses were burned to death last night when fire destroyed the arena, stables, and storage barns of the North Shore Polo, Driving, and Hunt club near the Glenview and Harms roads, just north of the village of Golf and the Glen View and Northwestern Golf clubs. The loss was estimated at $50,000 by Thomas R. Chalmers, owner of the club, who was burned about the hands and arms as he helped drive forty-five horses to safety.

Most of the mounts are owned by north shore residents, who stabled them at the club. After they were driven from the flaming stables the panic stricken animals wandered about the countryside, some being found as far as three miles away.

More than 100 boys from the Skokie Valley CCC camp, half a mile east of the club, helped firemen from surrounding towns in fighting the blaze, which started in the storage barn and spread rapidly through the connected wooden buildings.

Parlay Wins—but Up Jumps the Auditor!

Mr. Victor Schandorff had a $5 three horse parlay going yesterday, and Mr. Schandorff was very nervous, indeed, because his books at the Architects' club, 1810 Prairie avenue, did not balance. Mr. Schandorff knew why they did not balance and this was the reason for his nervousness.

Then Bulstrode came in the sixth at Epsom Downs, paying $8. The tension increased as Ravelstroke won the seventh at Fair Grounds at $8.20. Mr. Schandorff smiled broadly when Argoan won the eighth at Tropical Park at $5.

From the $287 the bookmaker paid him the bookkeeper pocketed all but $20. This he judiciously placed among four other horses which he mixed up in four $5 parlays. Then Mr. Schandorff returned to work and a rude surprise.

Finds Some One Waiting.

Waiting for him at the club where he is bookkeeper were Benard R. Klekamp, 140 South Dearborn street, treasurer of the club, and an official of the Continental Illinois National bank. They showed him a series of checks totaling $500.

Without hesitation the strapping blond bookkeeper, who is 36 years old and stands 6 feet 2 inches tall, admitted he had forged them. It was because of his gambling, he said.

"Since eight months ago," said the young man who came here from Denmark ten years ago, "I think, eat, and sleep horses. That's all I know now.

He Deserts a System.

"But if I had followed the advice of my friend I would be all right. He taught me a system—to double the bets when I lose. That's fine. Once I am ahead $800.

"Then I think I am smart. I plunge and play fifteen-twenty horses a day. They all don't win. I start forging checks."

Last December Schandorff was short $1,200. His mother sent him the money from Denmark and the club agreed to keep him. Just last week they raised his pay $30 a month.

And Now—a Headache.

"O, what a headache I've got," he muttered last night in a cell at the central police station. "My parlay comes in, but my $267 goes to the club. All I got in my pocket is $1.50."

He appeared to brood for a minute, then brightened as his eye caught the racing sheet, still clutched in his hand. He glanced at the turnkey.

"What," he asked, "did Persian Step do at Epsom Downs today?"

SENATE COMMITTEE PUTS O. K. ON 4 BILLS TO END GIN WEDDINGS

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—The senate judiciary committee tonight recommended passage of the series of four bills sponsored by Richey V. Graham [D., Cicero] designed to abolish "gin marriages" and to liberalize archaic portions of the divorce laws.

"Hair trigger" marriages, as they were called by Senator John W. Fribley [D., Pana] would be rendered impossible by the first bill in the program, which would require couples to obtain a marriage license three days in advance of the ceremony.

The other key bill provides that if a married couple has been living apart for a period of two years, a divorce could be obtained upon that showing alone. Nothing in the measure would affect dower rights or the duties of either party to support children of the union.

U. S. 'STRIP TEASE' DOOMED AS TOO HOT FOR ENGLAND

LONDON, March 23. — (AP) — The American "strip tease" may be art—but "it's too hot for England." That's the dictum of George Black, English producer, after a preview of Diane Raye doing her Broadway specialty.

Diane was imported for a new show to open Monday—but the argument over "strip teasing" started even before she landed in England. Black decided to abandon theory for reality and arranged a preview of the dancer's specialty in private audience. To the dragging cadence of a blues number, Diane took off her clothing bit by bit while the producer's eyes widened—bit by bit.

Black then pronounced his sentence: "It may be art—but it's too hot for England." Diane pleaded: "I wear beads, don't I?"

Who Fears a Hot Summer? Cover Lawn with Asbestos

END SIT HYSTERIA HERE; SECRET OF VICTORY IS TOLD

Chicago was free from sitdown strikes last night for the first time in more than a month. Workers who had held possession of industrial plants and business houses had bowed to the law and vacated them peaceably, to resume orderly bargaining with their employers in the light of long experience in solving labor problems. Meanwhile there were these other developments:

1. The coöperation between Chicago's workers and their employers was exemplified when the employers of the motor transportation industry gave a testimonial banquet in the Palmer house for Leslie G. Goudie, leader of the workers in many a labor controversy as president of the Chicago council of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

2. In the face of the strike epidemic the 1,000 employés of Maurice L. Rothschild voluntarily pledged their loyalty to the State street merchant and gave their word that they would not strike. They signed their names to a scroll five yards long. Their message was relayed to Mr. Rothschild, who is aboard the Aquitania at sea.

3. A few old fashioned walkout strikes continued, with the taxicab strike the most important, but no crises were foreseen. Law enforcement authorities gave assurance that they would permit no more sitdown strikes to begin.

Sitters Yield to Law.

The city was freed from sitdown srtikes Monday night when State's Attorney Courtney and Police Commissioner Allman, in the first serious effort to restore the properties to the owners, dislodged more than 1,000 sitters from the Wilson-Jones company stationary plant at 3300 Franklin boulevard, the Maremont Automotive Products corporation at 1625 South Ashland avenue, and the Logan department store at Milwaukee and Diversey avenues.

Col. R. B. Paddock, director of the Wilson-Jones company, announced a 10 per cent pay increase for the employés last night and invited them back to work this morning.

Compare Chicago, Detroit.

Goudie, the guest of honor at the employers' testimonial banquet, was appointed only recently to the labor relations board. His hosts were the motor transportation leaders of the Chicago Allied Industries. Equaling in significance the employers' banquet in his honor was the comparison of labor problems in Chicago and Detroit, made by Goudie before the dinner.

It was a comparison that delved deep into the background of labor relations in the two cities to find the reason for the strike hysteria and violence in Detroit and the comparative lack of lawlessness in Chicago's labor disputes.

It was recalled that Chicago years ago went through periods of stormy labor controversies, all too often marked by violence. But in those formative years it appeared that a stable unionism was developing.

City Learns Responsibility.

From that turmoil came the labor relations of the present, in which violence has been rare for almost two decades. Experienced leadership, coöperation between both sides, have done their work, according to observers familiar with Chicago's industrial development.

But Detroit's background was one in which the unions were kept down and wages, except in the automobile industry, lagged far behind Chicago's. Unorganized, Detroit's laborers never felt the responsibility of their position, and employers and workers alike failed to catch the spirit of coöperation.

Unbalanced by New Power.

When the recent unrest developed in industry, and many leaders came forward with cure-alls for labor's problems, the unorganized workers of Detroit flocked into the organizations that were offered them. Eager to test the power that so long had been denied them, they went even further, according to observers, than the most radical leaders had wished them to go.

Property rights and the law were ignored as they seized and held possession of the great industrial plants. Violence that reacted against them and their unionism was the result.

Aggravating the situation it appeared that there was a lack of experienced labor leadership with a local tradition which prevented the union workers from gaining the objectives they might have won by lawful means.

In Chicago, as was pointed out by Mr. Goudie last night, responsible labor leadership, better understanding of the problems by the rank and file, and the coöperation of the em-

Henry Ford.

Detroit, Mich., March 23.—[Special.]—Organized labor, under the leadership of the United Automobile Workers of America, tonight put on the biggest demonstration in Detroit's history.

An enthusiastic but orderly crowd, variously estimated from 25,000 to 50,000, heard Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, throw down the gauntlet to Henry Ford, whom he called the "great hero-Landon-making President," and challenge the capitalist to stem the tide of the labor movement.

"Henry, you can't stop the labor movement," declared the union president, indicating the approach of the previously announced campaign to unionize employés of the Ford Motor company, last of the "big three"—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—to be attacked.

Mayor Couzens Assailed.

"You can't keep your workers from joining the labor movement even if you have a 'fink' [company sympathizer] at every other post in your factory. The best thing for you to do, Henry, is to get ready to do business with your organized workers."

The crowd of union men and onlookers, which assembled in Cadillac square in downtown Detroit, also heard union leaders deliver denunciations of Mayor Frank Couzens, Police Commissioner H. A. Pickert public officials in general and the courts.

The meeting, called by Martin as a protest against police evictions of sitdown strikers, came on the eve of the long awaited meeting between Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the Chrysler corporation, and John L. Lewis, generalissimo of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The labor and motor leaders will meet with Gov. Frank Murphy in Lansing tomorrow morning. Both wired acceptances of requests telegraphed by Murphy this morning as he moved to open new negotiations to reach a settlement of the two weeks old sitdown strike in the company's eight plants here.

Turns on Supreme Court.

Martin, who made the principal address at the massmeeting, scored most of the public officials in Detroit as well as Ford, and then turned to the United States Supreme court.

"We know nine old men who have been on a sitdown strike for the last six years," he said. "I am right behind the President in his effort to retire those babies."

"Employers don't like sitdown strikes," he continued. "They don't like them because they are successful. They are a new weapon in the hands of labor and they are going to be used until labor is recognized."

How closely the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. are working together in Detroit was evidenced by the fact that Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor, was one of the speakers at the rally. In other cities the two organizations are in conflict. Several C. I. O. and U. A. W. leaders spoke also.

Fears had been expressed in some quarters that there would be violence at the mass meeting but it went off without any disturbance. More than a thousand policemen were at the scene.

Crowd Below Predictions.

The union crowd was good natured alternately cheering and booing as its leaders spoke. Commissioner Pickert estimated the entire crowd, including spectators, at 25,000 to 27,000. Other estimates were up to 50,000 or more. In any event it fell short by 75 to 85 per cent of the 200,000 crowd union leaders had predicted.

Gov. Murphy announced in Lansing this morning that he sent telegrams to Chrysler and Lewis asking them to meet with him at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in order to reach "a prompt and satisfactory solution" of the court order directing evacuation of the Chrysler plants.

His messages stressed the necessity for compliance with an order issued last Friday by Circuit Judge Allan Campbell, requiring evacuation of the eight Chrysler plants occupied by 6,000 sitdown strikers.

Chrysler, in a long telegram to Gov. Murphy, setting forth the corporation's position in the controversy, stated flatly that "we will not enter in any trade to get the men out of the plants." He said further that any agreement "must include a clear statement that no organization has exclusive bargaining privileges directly or indirectly."

The only issue in the present strike is whether the corporation will agree to meet the U. A. W. demand for sole bargaining power for all employés in the eight Chrysler plants.

The court order requiring evacuation of the sitdowners is entirely a matter between Lewis and Gov. Murphy, Chrysler asserted in his message.

Conferences Grow Bitter.

The daily conferences between Chrysler officials and union representatives in the last two days have turned into bitter affairs with no semblance of progress in the original purpose for which the meetings are held—collective bargaining.

A meeting of 300 Chrysler workers a short distance from the city was broken up by a crowd of 250 strike sympathizers this afternoon. The Chrysler workers were meeting to discuss a back to work movement.

Deputy Sherif Ray Bush said the violence was confined to a few fist fights and no one was hurt.

The sitdown strike situation outside of the major sitdowns at Chrysler, Hudson, and Bohn Aluminum plants, has been largely cleared up in the last week as the result of police action and voluntary settlements. Whereas a week ago there were thirty or more small strikes in progress there are now only half a dozen. All store strikes have been cleared up.

The principal remaining strikes outside of the big plants are those at the Yale and Towne Manufacturing company, Essex Cigar company, General Cigar corporation, and Square D company. Police indicated they would not interfere with these strikes.

LEWIS IN FURY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—In a fine fury John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, left here this afternoon to attend a conference at Lansing, Mich., tomorrow with Gov. Frank Murphy and Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler corporation, whose automobile plant has been seized by 6,000 sitdown strikers.

After reading Murphy's telegram to him Lewis wired: "Your message suggests that I confer under duress. Nevertheless, and notwithstanding, I agree to be present."

While unwilling to be quoted Lewis is said to have told friends that he was disappointed in Murphy's "law and order" stand and to have expressed fears that his sitdown strike activities in Michigan would be curbed in the future.

SEED OF SITDOWN IS TRACED TO N.Y. LABOR COLLEGE

Founded by Liberals; Now Supported by Radicals.

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Forty-five miles from the center of New York City—at Katonah in conservative Westchester county—stands Brookwood Labor college, at whose door today was laid the credit—or blame—for the wave of sitdown strikes now disturbing the industrial peace of the country.

Founded 16 years ago by a liberal minded minister, Brookwood has wandered from its original purpose—instruction in labor philosophy. Its graduates are professional labor agitators.

"And," boasted Director Tucker P. Smith in a recent speech, "three-quarters of the graduates have been in jail."

Breaks Into Chicago Jail.

Mrs. Ray Blottiaux, remembered at Katonah as a good student, joined the jail ranks of the alumnae in Chicago Monday night, when she was seized as one of the participants in a demonstration at a garment plant.

Brookwood college, which occupies two buildings on a 50 acre tract, has an enrollment of only thirty, but the turnover is fast. It requires only six months for apt pupils to learn how to sew the seeds of discontent and resentment among industrial employés, and be graduated.

The only entrance requirement is aptitude for the work of a militant labor organization. Pupils may be recommended by a labor leader or union.

Lewis Outfit Among Backers.

Nearly every large labor organization in the country, many of which have been accused of communistic tendencies, contributes to the support of Brookwood. Among these are the United Mine Workers, whose president, John L. Lewis, frequently has been charged with heading the nation toward labor dictatorship through his Committee for Industrial Organization.

Others who help pay the bills include the International Ladies' Garment Workers, who sponsored Mrs. Blottiaux, and the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. outfit which precipitated the General Motors and Chrysler sitdowns. When the college was founded, well to do liberals rather than the unions bore the financial burden.

Radicals on Board.

The board of directors of this self-styled "pioneer resident school for workers" includes John Brophy, secretary of the C. I. O.; Julius Hochman, vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers; James Maurer, former president of the Pensnylvania Federation of Labor; Phil Ziegler of the Brotherhood of Railway Workers, Abraham Miller of the Amalgamated Garment Workers, and Emil Riede of the Hosiery Workers' union.

END SIT HYSTERIA HERE; SECRET OF VICTORY IS TOLD

City's Labor Tradition Bolsters Law.

ployers prevented the hysteria from sweeping the major industries. And, as evidenced Monday night, the hysteria quickly subsided when the law took its normal course.

"Chicago has had much less violence than Detroit because of Chicago's background of unionism," Goudie said. "Employés and employers here are used to coöperating. My invitation to this dinner is an example of that.

"I am flatly opposed to sitdown strikes and to any other form of taking other people's property."

Comments on Taxi Strike.

Goudie, in commenting on the taxicab strike, said that Joseph M. Jacobs, attorney for the strikers, had come to him asking an American Federation of Labor charter after a charter had been refused by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. Goudie said he had declined to help Jacobs because Goudie could not take responsibility for a strike called before the union was formed.

Warning that a strike should be the workers' last resort in a labor dispute, Goudie predicted that both sides would lose much in the taxicab strike and said that the cab troubles could easily have been settled without a strike. The present situation, he said, is one of the results of inexperienced leadership in labor organization.

Notables at Banquet.

Among those attending the banquet were Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor; Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, international president of Goudie's union; State's Attorney Courtney; Michael L. Igoe, United States attorney; Martin Durkin, director of the Illinois department of labor, and Victor Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Secretary McGrady made the principal address of the evening. In it he assailed business men who fail to coöperate with labor in solving labor's problems and called for cooperation of employés and employers that the nation may progress industrially. He praised the recent wage increases in industry and expressed the hope that price levels might be kept from rising at the same rate.

The pledge of loyalty made by the employés of Maurice L. Rothschild was relayed to him on shipboard by telephone by David Mayer, vice president and general manager of the firm, and Ben Rimskie, its secretary. Mr. Rothschild was returning from a South American cruise.

The testimonial read: "While you have been away you probably read about the wave of strikes and industrial troubles that has spread over the whole country. We, your employés, take this means of pledging our 100 per cent faith and loyalty and to reassure you of our deep friendship."

SEEK WRIT ON WATER BILLS.

An injunction suit to restrain the city from shutting off the water supply in 1,039 houses because of unpaid water bills aggregating $10,000 was filed in Superior court yesterday on behalf of the Home Owners Loan corporation.

SITDOWN MENACE SPREADS IN WAKE OF NEW ATTACKS

Congress Quiz Demanded on Strike Situation.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—The sitdown strike was assailed and defended in various quarters today as this most potent weapon of labor continued its mushroom growth across the breadth of the country with no indication of slackening.

A congressional investigation of sitdowns was demanded by Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] in a resolution introduced and referred to the house rules committee.

The resolution proposed that a special committee of seven members be appointed to study causes of strikes, conditions in the affected industries, and the efforts of state and local authorities to cope with them.

Sees Threat to Government.

Dies declared the epidemic of sitdowns strikes is "threatening the very foundations of orderly government," and said they were injuring the cause of organized labor. He declared that public opinion is "revolting against this violation of property rights."

From the other side came the tacit approval of sitdowns which Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins reiterated at a press conference. She remarked that "no special situation has been brought about by sitdown strikes any more than any other kind of strikes."

"Economically, the sitdown and the old type of strike are the same," she said. "Socially they are somewhat different. It is a problem in every one's mind which must be approached with as much intelligence and calmness as possible."

Reveals Talks with Roosevelt.

The secretary revealed that she talked with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., over the long distance telephone in the last few days and discussed the sitdown strike situation.

Meantime, in New York, Supreme Court Justice Julius Miller swept aside defense pleas that sitdown strikes are legal and issued an injunction ordering 150 striking shoemakers from the Champion Shoe Manufacturing company's plant which they have held for eleven days.

The justice insisted the right of property owners must be protected. He issued the injunction, ordering the strikers out by noon tomorrow, after a company official testified the sitters had engaged in many "wild parties at which whisky was freely consumed," and were smoking continually despite the warnings of fire department inspectors.

Other activities along the nation's strike front included:

ALEXANDRIA, IND.—Police aid from nearby towns was obtained and there was talk of seeking a return of National Guardsmen as disorders flared in connection with the deadlocked strike at the Alladin Industries.

FLORA, ILL.—The Kuehne Furniture Manufacturing company plant was occupied by 300 sitdown strikers seeking wage demands.

BELVIDERE, ILL.—Returning to work after a strike yesterday, 100 employés of the National Sewing Machine company threatened to strike again unless their demands for overtime pay were met.

ANDERSON, IND.—Efforts were made to arrange bus service for citizens after street cars and buses of the Indiana railroad were stopped by a strike of power plant employés and car shopmen.

High Voltage Wires Cut.

MUNCIE, IND. — Passenger and freight service on the Muncie-Fort Wayne division of the Indiana railroad was discontinued after high voltage wires leading to a substation at Eaton were cut, supposedly by Anderson railroad strikers.

BOSTON, MASS.—A drive through New England to organize retail store employés was forecast by Joseph Sylvia, Rhode Island chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Approximately 7,000 clerks in ninety-five shops returned to counters after a one day strike which paralyzed business at the height of the Easter shopping season. They received 5 to 10 per cent wage increases.

COMPROMISE ENDS EIGHT DAY STRIKE OF 3,000 POLISH MINERS

KATOWICE, Poland, March 23.—(AP)—A strike which paralyzed the American financed Giesche coal mine for eight days and cost the life of one miner ended tonight.

Striking workers, of whom 1,000 had remained underground and 2,000 were outside the shaft, accepted the company's compromise offer in answer to their 50 conditions, including increased pay and shorter hours. More than 900 dusty, exhausted miners came to the surface following announcement that an agreement had been reached in the presence of a state official. Work in the mine will be resumed tomorrow. Terms of the compromise agreement also will be announced tomorrow.

Casualties among the miners included 87 in hospitals. Forty-two men collapsed today and were hauled to the surface, joining 45 others who earlier had dropped from exhaustion. The Giesche mine is financed by the Anaconda Copper company.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

NO ADDED TAXES, PRESIDENT SAYS; DODGES STRIKES

Refuses to Talk About Sitdowns.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., March 23.—[Special.]—With the sitdown strike situation seething throughout the nation President Roosevelt today continued to hold himself aloof from the acute industrial crisis. Although he appeared worried over the situation the President laughed off a barrage of questions aimed at establishing his position on sitdown strikes.

After stoutly resisting the bombardment Mr. Roosevelt turned the conversation to financial channels by expressing the hope that no new taxes will come out of the present session of congress.

Asked to comment on the strike situation at the outset of a press conference about his automobile, Mr. Roosevelt said there was nothing he could say. He added that he had been in touch with the situation all along and was following every development of the past week indirectly through Washington.

Hands Off Policy.

Since the first sitdown strike in the General Motors plant at Detroit the President has resisted persistent efforts to determine his position on industrial squatters. His hands off policy has been adopted because the situation is tied up with the battle between John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for domination of labor and New Deal labor legislation.

Leaves Tax Door Open.

In expressing the hope that no new taxes would be imposed by the present congress Mr. Roosevelt did not close the door to additional taxation. He did not declare himself as supporting either of two opposing financial camps within the administration.

Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board, recently said new taxes would be necessary if the administration is to halt the trend toward further inflation indicated in the sweep to higher prices and wages. He would halt the climb by additional taxes and budget balancing.

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, said within the week that new taxes would not be necessary. Behind Harrison are New Dealers who insist that the budget for the fiscal year to begin July 1 is a step toward budget balancing.

LIQUOR SALESMAN HELD.

Abraham Balaban, 50 years old, 4145 Broadway, a liquor salesman, was held yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker in bond of $3,000 on removal proceedings to Cleveland, O., for trial on charges of violation of the internal revenue law.

Peaches Browning Wins Estate Suit

Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Browning Hines, whose marriage to and divorce from the late Edward (Daddy) Browning brought her enough notoriety to send her to the stage.

Mrs. Dorothy (Sunshine) Browning Hood, who was adopted by the New York real estate operator in another headline epic.

Albany, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—The Court of Appeals today rejected the claim of Mrs. Dorothy [Sunshine] Browning Hood to be sole heir to the estate of her foster father, the late Edward W. [Daddy] Browning.

In a unanimous decision, New York's highest tribunal upheld the right of Mrs. Frances Heenan [Peaches] Browning Hines to recover dower rights in the wealthy New York City real estate operator's estate. The amount involved was not disclosed.

Mrs. Hines, remarried since Browning's death and now a resident of Denver, Colo., sought to recover her interest in the estate gained through her marriage, when 16 years old, to Browning. The marriage took place April 10, 1926.

The executors, the Title Guarantee and Trust company of New York City, joined with Mrs. Hood in opposing Mrs. Hines' claim. They argued that Browning's marriage to "Peaches" Heenan was illegal because a Paris divorce obtained by the realtor from his first wife in 1923 was not granted on grounds recognized in New York state.

ROPER DEPLORES FLOUTING OF LAW IN 'SIT' EPIDEMIC

Fort Myers, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, in an address here today, said "a factor of vital concern to both business and labor is the new departure of certain labor units in seizing private property as a means of emphasizing grievances prompting strikes."

"Nothing is more provocative of grave consequences to both labor and business," he said, "than the flagrant disregard of private property rights through open defiance of the authority of the courts and the over-riding of the sacredness of law and order."

Roper spoke at a banquet celebrating the formal opening of a barge and yacht canal from Florida's Atlantic seaboard to its gulf coast by way of Lake Okeechobee in the Everglades.

"The chief concern of business today, with recovery at high tide," the secretary declared, "is the responsibility for keeping optimism within reasonable bounds and safeguarding the future against dangerous boom conditions.

"I appeal to business and industrial leaders throughout the country to inaugurate conference studies with leaders in agriculture and labor to find ways to preserve our common economic and social structure from destruction.

"These coöperative endeavors should look also to the formulation of safeguards against inordinate prices by protecting the consumer from higher prices than necessitated by the actual increases in the cost of raw materials, wages, and other bona fide factors involved in production."

In reference to the labor situation, the secretary said: "All of our problems can be worked out with equitable adjustments for all through conferences."

BRITAIN AND ITALY DRIFTING TO WAR, EUROPE BELIEVES

Growing Strain on Ties of Two Nations Cited.

who are fighting with Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader.

How seriously Fascism feels its prestige involved in this controversy was indicated when Premier Mussolini, addressing a crowd in the Piazza Venezia on the occasion of the eighteenth anniversary of the founding of the Fascist party, let fly a violent and bitter speech which, in one stroke, plunged Anglo-Italian relations back to the state of mortal tension prevailing during the Ethiopian war.

Says "Italians Never Forget."

Referring to the league of nations' sanctions against Italy and Italy's victorious survival of that economic siege by the coalition in which England was the leading spirit, Il Duce said:

"It has been said that the Italian people forget easily. Error! Error! On the contrary, the Italian people have a tenacious memory and know how to bide their time. We waited forty years to avenge Adowa, but we succeeded."

To make the implied threat in these words more explicit, Il Duce wound up his address with a fiery appeal to the assembled Black Shirts "to remember and be prepared."

Assails Press Reports.

That it was the stories in the British press about the recent Italian military disaster in Spain and the pendent rumors that this alleged disaster had caused Il Duce to rush back from Libya two days earlier than scheduled which were the main factors in arousing the Italian ire was abundantly clear in the early parts of the speech. In them Il Duce referred to the "usual furious outbursts against this, our magnificent Fascist Italy."

He also cried that criticism by Anglican churchmen of the Italian suppression of an Ethiopian outbreak was "hysterical, hypocritical oratory."

[The English archbishops of Canterbury and York recently attacked what they called the "general massacre" in Ethiopia after Ethiopians had tried unsuccessfully to kill Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, Italian viceroy.]

"To the bad faith of others," Mussolini shouted, "we shall oppose our indestructible will; to the castles of lies of others, the gusts of our impetuous and tempestuous truth; to the blind hatred of others, our conscious contempt."

"Motes" and "Beams."

The remarks of the British churchmen, he said, indicated they were eager to find "motes" in others' eyes while not noticing the "beams" in their own.

Press attacks on Italy in both Great Britain and France, the premier declared, were "a tempest of printed paper and an inundation of turbid ink."

Mussolini also devoted some time to proving that it was nothing but "ghibli"—a sandstorm—which caused him to abandon his trip to the oasis Ghadames, where Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, had mobilized lobsters and dancing girls, and return to Rome. He assailed what he termed the "illiterate" newspaper men who spread rumors to the contrary.

To the correspondents who followed Il Duce through Libya and arrived back in Rome this afternoon, without having seen newspapers during the thirty-six hour crossing, Mussolini's speech was like a bolt from the blue.

Duce Changes Overnight.

In Africa Mussolini was cheerful and cordial with the journalists, and apparently without worry. Great pains were taken to keep the correspondents from overplaying the martial aspects of the story, and when Il Duce gave a reception for us on Thursday at Tripoli he chided us collectively for having sensationalized Italy's Islamic policy. Balbo's coastal highway was described as a road of peace linking Libya with its neighbors, Tunis and Egypt.

The cause of this sudden typhoon, blowing out of what was the balmy Mediterranean sky, clearly was the furor created in Europe by the counter offensive of the Spanish loyalists on the Guadalajara front northeast of Madrid.

Italian papers were forced to admit that some ground was regained by the loyalists, though they described the operation as a series of strategic withdrawals carried out in orderly fashion from awkward advanced positions.

Stress Losses of Loyalists.

The losses suffered by the enemy, naturally, were stressed. Virginio Gayda, in the newspaper Giornale d'Italia, gave some statistics on the battle which showed clearly what an important engagement it was.

According to Gayda the loyalists employed 20,000 men, and their armaments were such that the rebels were able to destroy twenty loyalist tanks and shoot down twenty loyalist planes—doubtless only a fraction of the material used by the loyalists.

Nothing was said about the rebels' losses, but more than 6,000 loyalists were killed, according to Gayda.

A battle of this size matters considerably, according to whether you win or lose it. The Italians, therefore, naturally are furious at the British press for saying that they lost it and particularly for saying, as did the London Times, in an issue which by some miracle reached the news stands of Italy this morning, that the Italian troops that formed the spearhead of the rebel attack broke and ran before the loyalist counter attack.

TALLEST RECRUIT

The long and the short of the regular army met in the recruiting office in the United States courthouse here yesterday. One of those who enlisted in the infantry was Arthur H. Fiedler, 21 years old, 1029 Wolfram street. He is 6 feet 6 inches tall, the maximum height for a soldier. His enlistment was taken by Sergt. Fred Vaccarella, who is 5 feet 4 inches tall, the army's low height limit. Col. William Edwards, the recruiting officer for this area, said that there are vacancies for amateur radio operators, as well as infantrymen, field artillerymen, and air service men.

Quiets Archduke Otto's Fears of Italian Enmity

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, March 23.—The bishop of Linz, Dr. Gfoellner, has just returned from a visit to Steenockerzeel, Belgium, where on Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's behalf he endeavored to minimize to Archduke Otto the effect of the Italian declaration that the Austrian monarchist agitation was a public nuisance. Otto is believed to have expressed disappointment and indignation in no measured terms. The bishop's public account of his meeting with Otto, delivered in Linz Friday, has been suppressed in the Austrian press.

'HANDS OFF SPAIN' GROUP MOVES TO GET U. S. TO JOIN

LONDON, March 23.—(AP)—Europe's long and stormy efforts to isolate the Spanish civil war took an unexpected turn tonight with a move to poll the 27 nations adhering to the "hands off Spain" pact on the question of inviting the United States and other non-European states to join. The subcommittee of the 27-nation group announced that it would ask the full membership to state their views about extending the roster outside Europe.

Britain tonight accepted an Italian explanation that only medical aid had gone to the Spanish rebels since the ban on volunteer enlistments went into effect. The Italian explanation, following a British inquiry, was that a medical unit landed at Cadiz, Spain, on March 5, two weeks after the ban on volunteers. No Italian troops have landed in Spain, Italy informed Britain.

A food store is a public servant. It should perform its duties in the interests of all.

EVERY time you leave a Jewel Food Store you have in your possession one small article which you didn't order. It isn't anything to eat; perhaps you throw it away without even looking at it. Perhaps it is only a symbol—but we are proud of its protection of your purse.

Your itemized, mechanically correct, cash register receipt is a price listing of your purchases, with a total above the suspicion of a mistake in addition.

Jewel Food Stores are modern, up-to-date. From experience of "the good old days" we have taken the better qualities, and done away with the faulty ones. No more figures scribbled on paper bags—no more hurried addition—no more errors. That one inefficient business method was the cause of frequent mistakes—and still is in stores which total your purchases in that way.

But at Jewel you always receive a correct receipt which itemizes your purchases and eliminates all possibility of error in addition. It is only right that you be safeguarded against mistakes, and we believe that a cash register receipt assures you of fair play.

We also believe that prices should be clearly and openly marked. You then know in advance what you are expected to pay. You can check prices without having to ask questions, and this makes your shopping easier. Every item at Jewel is marked with a legible ticket which tells you the price before you take an article from the shelf. Each individual package or can is either marked or it is listed at the checking counter so that the person listing and totaling your purchases on the cash register will not make an error from faulty memory.

Thus when you receive your itemized receipt you have a triple check on the prices you have paid. There is nothing concealed, no skeleton in the closet, about any transaction in a Jewel Food Store.

Stop at your Jewel Store today and see for yourself another of the reasons why more and more people are joining the parade to Jewel.

MADRID PLANES POUR BOMBS ON RALLIED REBELS

Franco Reaches Front to Direct New Stand.

BY HENRY BUCKLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Pre Service.]

MADRID, March 23.—The Spanish Fascist insurgent army composed mostly of Italian "volunteers" has halted its flight far northeast of Madrid and today loyalist troops faced strong resistance at Almadrones and Jadraque, important rail and highway junctions 53 miles northeast of the capital.

Observers declared Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel commander in the sector, had brought up strong reinforcements and it was even asserted that Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander in chief, was at Siguenza behind the lines to direct operations.

Two loyalist columns were pressing along either side of the Guadalajara-Saragossa [Aragon] road and it was reported the one to the left had taken Hita and Cogolludo, near Jadraque. The column to the right was said to be several miles beyond Brihuega and operating in mountainous country. Government aviation operated ahead of the loyalist columns and harassed the rebels' rear positions.

Regain Lost Territory.

Insurgent airplanes bombed Alcala de Henares this morning, causing a number of civilian casualties. The raiders fled before government pursuit ships.

The government has now regained practically all of the territory the rebels occupied in their early March advance, most of the recovery being made by skilfull use of a superior aviation force.

The rebels, allegedly using a force of 40,000 Italians, had advanced along parallel highways from Siguenza and their right flanks had reached a point twelve miles northeast of Guadalajara. Their left flank had reached the outskirts of Cifuentes and was in a position to menace Sacedon, a junction of the Guadalajara-Valencia highway a few miles beyond Cifuentes. In the advance the rebels had taken Almadrones, Brihuega, a number of small villages and reached the outskirts of Trijueque.

Take 500 Italian Prisoners.

Government troops, aided by reenforcements, rallied at Trijueque, and ten days ago administered the Italians a stunning defeat, turning their march into a rout. Loyalists pursued the fleeing rebels and inflicted severe casualties again at Brihuega, air bombers causing the heaviest toll. Nearly 600 Italians have been taken prisoners and it was asserted their casualties ran into thousands.

Gen. José Miaja, loyalist commander of the Madrid area, today denounced the foreign soldiers fighting on the insurgents' side, declaring that world democracies fear "the phantasmic German and Italian armies," and asserting his troops had proved they were "good only for parading."

Rebel artillery fired three high explosive shells into Madrid today, one landing on an automobile in a street near Puerta del Sol, killing four occupants. Another landed so close to a motion picture house that the fumes penetrated the building.

Repulse Two Attacks.

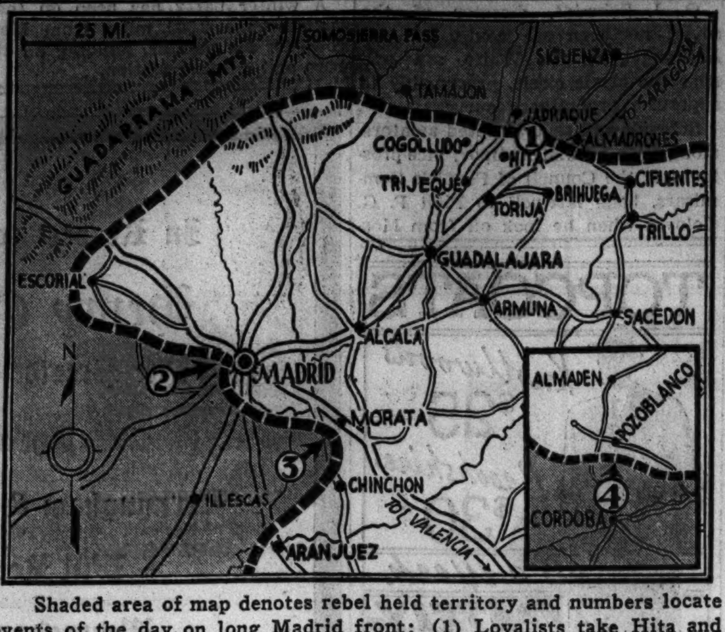
Loyalists repulsed an attack on Aravaca, suburb northwest of Madrid. Fifteen miles to the southeast, on the Jarama front, the rebels failed to advance, but a struggle went on into the evening. The attack was concentrated near Morata de Tajuna, where rebels have been trying for a month to break through to the Valencia highway.

Merciless artillery fire was directed at government positions beginning early in the morning, followed by mass infantry attack. The infantry was beaten back by machine guns but surged forward over the hilly terrain several times before fighting again settled down to an artillery duel.

Far southwest of Madrid the battle which has not ceased for eight days saw another rebel attempt to storm Pozoblanco. The town is halfway between rebel held Cordoba and Almaden, site of the richest mercury mines in the world, held by the government.

Insurgents near Pozoblanco are said to be supported by 10,000 Italians. Though they have made daily charges through machine gun fire, they have been repulsed in hand to hand fighting.

REBELS HALT ROUT, MAKE STAND



Shaded area of map denotes rebel held territory and numbers locate events of the day on long Madrid front: (1) Loyalists take Hita and Cogolludo forcing rebels back to positions of early March at Jadraque and Almadrones; (2) four persons killed in shelling of Madrid; (3) loyalists repulse attack on Jarama front; (4) loyal troops at Pozoblanco (southwestern Spain) for eighth day block rebel attempt to advance on mercury mines at Almaden.

FLYING DUCHESS OF 71 BELIEVED KILLED IN CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—The "flying duchess" of Bedford, oldest and one of the most daring of British women aviators, still was missing tonight. It was feared she is dead. However, military and civil aircraft and hundreds of searchers on foot kept up the grim hunt. The duchess, who is 71 years old, vanished on a practice flight over Bedfordshire and flooded Cambridgeshire yesterday afternoon.

Her husband, the duke, was keeping a constant vigil beside the telephone in his home, Woburn abbey, at Woburn, where she started the flight.

Weary searchers insisted the duchess must have fallen into the flooded fens. Since the aviatrix took off in her little green Moth plane her ship has not been seen except by a schoolboy. He reported that a plane answering the description of that of the duchess' turned back toward Woburn as a snowfall started.

Madrid Sends 400 Refugees to Safety on Dutch Ship

MADRID, March 23.—(AP)—More than 400 refugees, mostly Spaniards, prepared tonight to evacuate the capital where they have been protected in the Belgian and Dutch embassies and the Polish legation since outbreak of the civil war. The refugees will travel by bus to Valencia and sail aboard the Dutch steamer Ajax for France.

FOUND DEAD IN DITCH.

Havana, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—A man identified as E. H. Kegley, 65 years old, Galesburg, Ill., was found dead today in an automobile submerged in six feet of water in a drainage ditch.

MEDICINE PRODS OTHER SCIENCES TO FASTER PACE

Dr. Howard W. Haggard, Yale university physiologist, told Chicago Rotarians yesterday that the laggard sciences of sociology and economics must speed up to the pace set by medical advance before medicine can achieve its social goals. The meeting was held at the Palmer House under the chairmanship of Dr. Irving S. Cutter.

Dr. Haggard said the discovery that bacteria cause infectious diseases has had a greater influence on the human race than any other, and has brought about a new basis for civilization.

FROM BOYHOOD TO MASK TERROR; A STORY OF CRIME

Reveal Killer and Rapist as Physical Coward.

The development of the strange mentality of a rapist-killer through a troubled boyhood, was traced by police last night as they studied the case of Louis Ebert. He was the masked gunman who killed one woman and raped another during a two weeks rampage on the southwest side of the city. He was shot to death early yesterday when he tried to hold up two policemen.

From the stories told by members of the Ebert family and by his former teachers the police pieced together his sordid career and the conditions that culminated in his reign of terror and his death at the age of 27. He was incorrigible from early boyhood. As a youth he cut loose from all family control. He was freed from Pontiac reformatory on Nov. 25, 1936 with a perverted mind and a determination to get even with society.

Home with His Father.

Ebert lived with his father, Henry Ebert Sr.; his stepmother and a stepsister, Bernice, 17 years old, at 5245 South Tripp avenue. His mother died when he was 3 years old. When his father was first told yesterday that his son had been shot to death he remarked: "If he got shot, it's his own fault. He was always in trouble. I never knew what to do with him."

Walter Shea, who was principal of the Edwards grade school, 4800 South Karlov avenue, a year after Ebert left there in 1922, recalled the boy from what his teachers had told him.

"He was a wild, reckless kid," said Shea, who is now principal of the Medill High school. "His intelligence quotient was low. He skipped classes frequently."

The elder Ebert withdrew his son from the Edwards school and had him committed to St. Charles reformatory for 18 months. Young Ebert was freed from St. Charles at the age of 15.

Robbery in 1930.

In April, 1930, Ebert and a companion held up Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Marusk, 1852 South Grove avenue, Berwyn, and robbed them of $31 and jewelry. Ebert was sent to Pontiac for a term of 1 to 10 years.

He served the maximum of 6 years and 3 months for grand larceny [time off for good behavior was deducted from the 10 year sentence] and was discharged last November. He was arrested last Jan. 4 for disorderly conduct on complaint of his brother, Henry, but was discharged.

"He was hard boiled when he came out of Pontiac," the father said.

"He had a little machine shop in his room. He would often go there early in the evening, saying he was going to bed. But I guess he climbed out of the window. He tried to kiss his stepsister, Bernice, so we had to protect her."

Although a maniac with a gun, Ebert was a physical coward, particularly afraid of his brother Henry. On Monday night, several hours before he was slain, Louis went to his brother's home at 3415 West 51st street. Henry was not there and Louis brandished a gun and told Henry's wife he was going to kill her husband. A few minutes later Henry, hearing about the threat, followed his brother to their father's home and trounced him. Louis then ran to his room and sneaked out through the back window on his last marauding expedition.

Ebert's murder victim was Mrs. Mary Irwin, 5504 South Albany avenue, wife of Policeman Robert Irwin of the Maxwell street station. She was shot down on March 11 as she walked with her daughter, Mary, 13 years old, in front of 5725 South Troy street. The girl, who has been treated at a sanitarium since the murder, viewed Ebert's body at the county morgue yesterday and said he looked like her mother's killer.

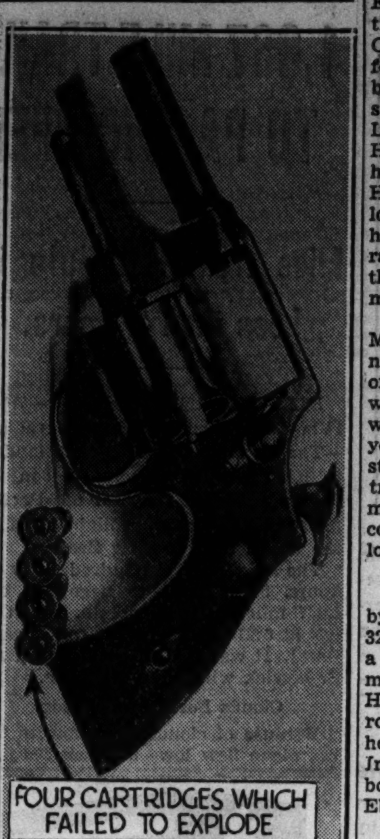
Positive Identifications.

Positive identifications were made by Miss Ann Weiner, 20 years old, 3242 Douglas boulevard, daughter of a rabbi, who was raped by the masked gunman Sunday morning; by Harold Shapiro, her escort who was robbed, and by two women who were held up eight minutes after Mrs. Irwin was slain. They viewed the body with the mask on and off Ebert's face.

For final proof that Ebert was the killer as well as a rapist, Lieut. Joseph Wilimovsky and other ballistics experts were examining the gun with which he attempted the holdup of the policemen. The weapon is of .38 special caliber, the same as that with which Mrs. Irwin was killed. Three inches of the barrel of the gun had been filed off since the slaying, making the task of the experts difficult.

Ebert was slain at Keeler avenue and 57th street when he tried to hold up Detectives William Ward and Stanley Lechert of the Deering street station. Ward recognized the slayer's mask and gray cap—two identifying features.

TERROR'S GUN



This is the gun found in hand of Louis Ebert, masked rapist-killer who was shot to death on southwest side yesterday. The lives of the two policemen who took part in the killing were probably saved because the four cartridges did not go off when Ebert pulled the trigger after being fatally wounded.

MOLEY, FORMER BRAIN TRUSTER, HITS COURT PLAN

Says It Would Destroy Constitution.

William Lemke [Rad., N. D.] took the stand for the opposition. Looking directly into the senator's "wonderful eyes" as a colleague, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] has described them, the grinning Lemke declared: "I've been to that court six or seven times and the only trouble I find with them is that they put you through so fast they don't give you time to prepare a brief. Also, every case I ever attempted to appeal or get a writ in I got a writ. Consequently I know that they are not overly particular in granting appeals."

Assails Crisis Psychology.

Mr. Moley assailed the "crisis psychology" on which he said the President's proposal is based.

"Must we always have legislation for reform which is based upon the existence of a crisis?" he asked. "Must we always have emergency measures? Shall we never achieve that happy moment when sound and liberal counsel can consider not the immediate future but the longer future."

He then assailed the proposal on moral grounds and for the dangers he said were inherent in it. While not specifically inhibited by the constitution, he said, the custom—that fundamental changes should not be sought by packing the court—is as binding as the custom that prevents presidential electors from exercising independent judgment and the custom that prevents Presidents from seeking a third term.

"We will have to answer to our conscience and to future generations if we abandon that American method which, despite minor flaws, has proved to be the truest and best avenue to the achievement of desirable ends. That method, the American method, is to tell the public in an orderly fashion precisely what is necessary in the way of economic and social change, to seek to convince the people of its wisdom, and then ask approval of the change.

"The ends which Mr. Roosevelt has so courageously made his own can be achieved within the grand mosaic of the American constitutional tradition. But to seek to achieve them through the destruction of the American tradition is to open the way to the death of the ideals that gave them birth."

BARES NEW DEAL 'WHIP CRACKING' IN COURT FIGHT

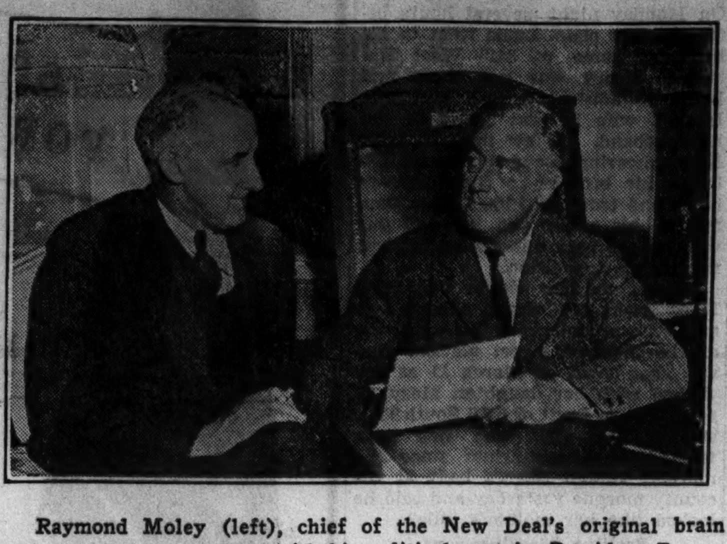
Chapel Hill, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—Senator Rush D. Holt of West Virginia today said President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley are "cracking the party whip" for the President's court reorganization plan.

In a prepared address Holt said that "the report has gone abroad throughout the land that recognition and patronage will be taken from members of the house and senate simply because they dare to differ with the President and Farley on this great question."

Holt spoke under auspices of the North Carolina political union, a student organization at the University of North Carolina, in answer to an address by Farley before the union two weeks ago.

"The President and Farley, by cracking the party whip, are not appealing to the wisdom of the proposal but to the force they desire to possess to push it through," Holt said.

BEFORE THEY PARTED COMPANY



Raymond Moley (left), chief of the New Deal's original brain trust, once saw eye to eye with his political captain, President Roosevelt (right). Coast to Coast Airways Bill Offered in Canada

OTTAWA, March 23.—[Special.]—A bill just offered in the dominion parliament provides for a coast to coast airway which comes much nearer to being a publicly owned enterprise than had been expected. Its introduction followed failure of the government to get Canadian aviation interests to coöperate. The bill proposes operation of a "first class" service by a private company to be underwritten by the state owned Canadian National railways.

Stanley Talks His Way Out of a Torrid Zone

Stanley Straukas, 9917 South Union avenue, was found not guilty by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Jury court yesterday of violating the city zoning ordinance. Straukas, who started building his home of scrap lumber in a restricted neighborhood, was charged with building without a permit. He convinced the judge that his main trouble had been erroneous advice from supposedly well informed friends.

CLIPPER BLAZES 1,067 MILE TRAIL TO PACIFIC REEF

Flies from Honolulu in Less than 8 Hours.

KINGMAN REEF, March 23.—(AP)—[Via Pan American Airways' radio.]—The Pan American Clipper landed in Kingman Reef's coral lagoon today to complete the first mid-Pacific phase of its pioneering flight through the South Seas to New Zealand.

The big plane required only 7 hours, 53 minutes to negotiate the 1,067 miles from Honolulu, which it left at 6:21 a. m. [10:51 a. m. Chicago time]. It was piloted by Capt. Edwin C. Musick with a crew of five.

Clouds Force Low Flying.

Because of clouds and showers the big plane flew low—between 500 and 600 feet—for the first half of the jaunt, but made 140 miles an hour against a 15 mile head wind.

Outwardly Kingman reef is only a sand bar 90 feet wide and 100 feet long which stands only three feet above the sea at high tide. Actually, however, its coral formation just beneath the surface forms a five mile lagoon nearly ideal for big flying boats.

Thus it forms a potential "stepping stone" between the United States and the Antipodes. It will give the big planes a stopping point in 2,617 miles between Honolulu and Samoa. From Samoa to Auckland, New Zealand, is another 1,797 miles.

Plan Express Service to Hongkong.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today that beginning April 21 it will extend its air express service in the trans-Pacific division from Manila to Macao, Portuguese colony, and to Hongkong.

French Plan Miquelon Base.

PARIS, March 23.—(AP)—The St. Pierre and Miquelon Archipelago, lying just south of Newfoundland, may be made a French base for a future north Atlantic air line, the air ministry announced today.

Russians Survey Arctic Field.

MOSCOW, March 23.—(AP)—Fulfillment of a long-cherished Russian plan for a north pole air base to speed transarctic flights to America appeared a step nearer tonight.

O. J. Schmidt, director of the soviet northern sea route, left for Archangel, on the White sea and near the arctic circle, presumably to supervise preliminary surveys.

Schmidt and several noted aviators, along with Nicolai Antipov, vice-president of the Council of People's Commisars, bade farewell to Pilot P. G. Golovin when he took off from Moscow on an announced flight to Rudolf Island a short time before Schmidt's own departure.

A winter party has been on that island—some 2,500 miles from Moscow—for six months, building an air base and weather station.

"DICTATOR"

"Dictator is an un-American name and I consider it unworthy of such a fine automobile"

. . . SO WRITES AN IRATE STUDEBAKER OWNER

WORLD politics is oddly reflected in increasing criticism of the name chosen ten years ago for Studebaker's low-priced, high quality car—The Dictator.

We regret this irritation of some of our friends. Is it unpatriotic for a young fellow to speak of his girl as a "queen"? Is it wrong to say that your friend is a "prince"? Should parents be forbidden to name their sons "Duke" or "Earl"?

Studebaker once called a car "The Little Aristocrat" without receiving criticism. We applied the word "regal" to de luxe models and no voice was raised. Autos are called "royal" and "imperial" without ruffling the serenity of a single American citizen. There was a car named the "King". It died of indifference—not antagonism.

But "DICTATOR" . . .

that's a fighting word. Well—"The Dictator" is a fighting car.

This car has been a Dictator in style, in comfort, in safety, in strength, in economy, in power, in value. It is today the finest six cylinder car in America.

But, honest, there are no political implications in the name. It is merely a colorful, distinctive designation for a colorful, distinctive automobile.

And remember this: Studebaker's fine eight cylinder car, the last word in luxury and performance, is known as

N. U. PROFESSORS FIGHT ROOSEVELT COURT SCHEME

Believe He Wants Role of Commander-in-Chief.

Six faculty members of the Northwestern university law school took issue yesterday with their dean, Leon Green, over President Roosevelt's scheme to pack the United States Supreme court. The professors opposed any executive policy which would enable the President to dominate all branches of the government as a "commander-in-chief" of the Supreme court.

Dean Wigmore.

Before a senate committee last week, Dean Green, who is being considered for appointment to the federal Circuit Court of Appeals, expressed approval of the court packing plan.

Three of the professors, Robert W. Millar, Edwin F. Albertsworth, and Newman F. Baker, joined with John W. Wigmore, dean emeritus, in issuing a statement. The others, Charles T. McCormick and Robert Kocourek, issued separate statements.

Other Issues Fade Away.

"On this issue [making the court subservient to the President]," read the Wigmore statement, "all other differences of opinion between citizens recede into the background. It becomes immaterial whether the condition of the nation does or does not urgently require more legislation which might be held invalid.

"Good citizens and competent lawyers differ radically [on many points about the court]. But these differences become irrelevant when the simple issue is presented:

Assail Court Plan

N. F. Baker (left) and Albert Kocourek, who joined four other professors in the Northwestern university law school in denunciation of President Roosevelt's scheme to pack Supreme court.

Prof. Edwin Albertsworth (left) and Prof. C. T. McCormick, who subscribed to the statement that President Roosevelt, who is now commander in chief of the army and navy, should not be made commander in chief of the Supreme court.

(Story in adjoining column.)

"Shall the executive be given power over the Supreme court to enable his own measures to become law? He is already the commander-in-chief of the army and navy; shall he now also become commander-in-chief of the Supreme court?"

Recent decision of the court have made it harder for congress to solve our national ills, said Prof. McCormick in his statement. However, any changes affecting the court, he declared, should be made by constitutional amendment, a "deliberate expression of popular will."

"It is considered improper," read Prof. Kocourek's statement, "for a man to be selected to act as an impartial judge to commit himself in advance as to what his decision will be. On that basis it would seem equally improper to attempt to reorganize the Supreme court with new judges already committed to surrender their judicial independence."

ORDERS GERMAN YOUTHS TO DRAW UP FAMILY TREES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 23.—The ministry of culture of Wuerttemberg today ordered all school boys and girls to draw up their family trees.

Each child must start work on his or her pedigree, which frequently includes laborious search for baptismal certificates of ancestors at the age of 7 years. The child must have it completed before leaving school. The family tree must at least include parents and grandparents.

Teachers were instructed to impress upon children the importance of family trees.

Big, Bad Squirrel Chases Her; She Calls the Police

Schenectady, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Elston Trimmer asked police today for protection from a "vicious" gray squirrel which, she said, climbed down from a tree in her yard, bit her and chased her into the house. Police said they were powerless to act since squirrels are protected by the state department of conservation. Dr. John A. McElwain said he had treated Mrs. Trimmer for nine squirrel bites.

State Pares City's Powers for Century, Hodes Charges

Ever since Chicago was granted a city charter in 1837, the state government has been making inroads on the city's powers. This statement was made by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes yesterday before the Central Lions club in the Hotel La Salle. "The city is too much the creature of the state," he declared. "Must its fight for real home rule go on another 100 years?"

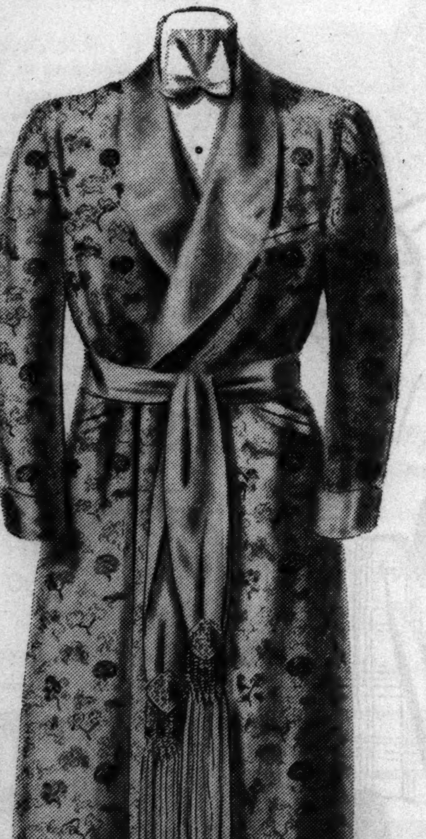
A Gentleman's Gown of Cloth-of-Gold



Loomed by hand so carefully that it took one month to weave the cloth for this one robe. The design is taken from a museum piece in the private gallery of M. Bianchini and represents an ancient Persian hunting scene, in colorings characteristic o that period.

The gown was cut by hand over a special pattern designed for it, and was made entirely by hand—every stitch being completed by hand except those in the reverse pocket binding.

The tassels were especially designed and are hand-made of pure silk thread and gold thread binding. The satin for the trim and lining was hand-loomed in France, of the finest quality that can be produced, and individually pure-dyed to match the colorings in the gold cloth.

This is, to our best knowledge, the finest gown that has been produced anywhere in the modern world—and is the only one of its kind in existence.

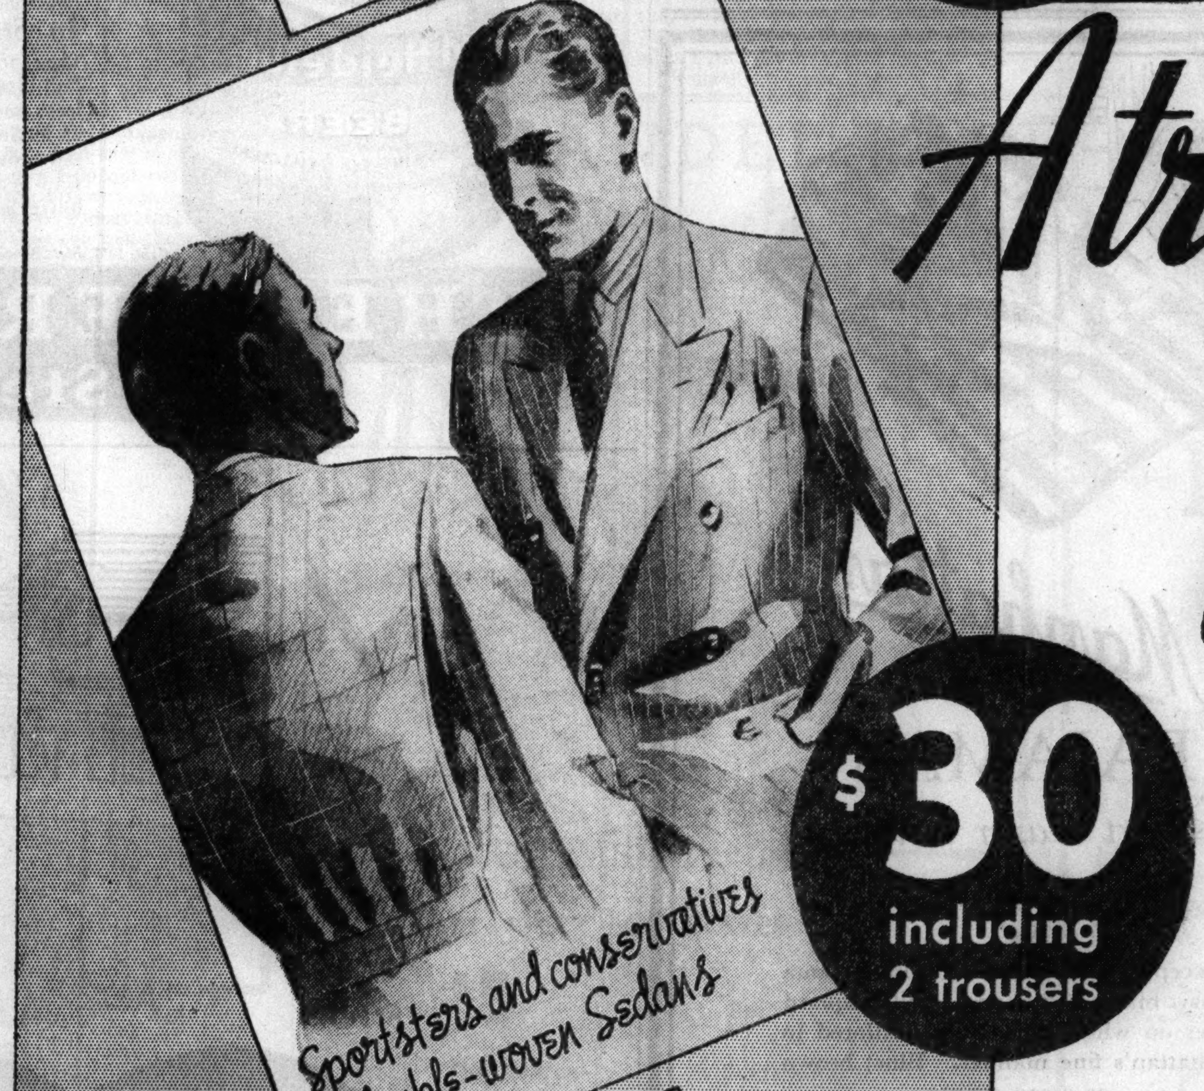
A triple-header for Easter



Sportsters and conservatives in double-woven Sedans
$30 including 2 trousers

It's an old Bond custom to stage something exciting for Easter. And this year's party just about tops them all! Instead of only one lot of standouts, there are three. Instead of only a limited number of "plums", there are hundreds. Instead of appealing only to one group of buyers, this Easter Festival rings the bell for everybody. As a starter, simply pick the price that best fits your purse. After that, picking your color, style or pattern, will be easy. You'll meet crisply designed business suits in tune with today's new prosperity. You'll be tempted by jaunty sportsters with a welcome dash of color for your Spring wardrobe. You'll see conservatives with an air of dignified good taste. And above all, you'll save money! The suits in this triple-header would cost you many dollars more, had we bought them in the open market. But all of them come direct from our own workrooms. We pay no profits to any outside maker—and neither do you! Let's get together, before this Sunday's Easter Parade.

TELLS OF KISSING CHUM'S HUSBAND; DIVORCE GRANTED

Women Become Pals; Toss George Out in Cold.

Mrs. Ruth Congdon, 35 years old, helped Mrs. Saida B. Walters get a divorce yesterday by testifying in Circuit court before Judge Philip J. Finnegan that she kissed George Skov Walters, the husband in the case. Since the kissing episode the two women have become the best of friends.

Mrs. Congdon, who lives at 7920 Ridgeland avenue, is a widow and the mother of a girl, 14 years old. Mr. Walters, whose last known address was 7515 Coles avenue, was not in court.

Married a Year Ago.

"Soon after my mother died, leaving me a comfortable inheritance, I met George," testified Mrs. Walters, who is 38 years old and lives at 6558 Greenwood avenue. "I guess my money attracted him. Anyway we were married March 28, 1936, at Valparaiso.

"Last Jan. 6 he left, taking all my jewelry and ready money. Some time later I found a letter to him from Mrs. Congdon and I went to see her. She was wearing my jewelry.

"Ruth was surprised to learn that George had a wife. He had posed as a single man."

"George and I met at a baseball game last fall," testified Mrs. Congdon. "I was a widow. He said he was single. We liked each other. He said his mother had just died, leaving him some money. He proposed marriage and I accepted.

George Makes a Mistake.

"George suggested that we go to New Orleans and be married there. On the train he gave me the jewelry, saying it was his mother's. He had a lot of money with him too, but he lost it all at a gambling house and got drunk. Then he gave me a beating for reproving him and I left him without marrying him."

As Mrs. Congdon finished her testimony Mrs. Walters smiled approvingly and patted her back. Judge Finnegan then instructed Attorney Lewis F. Baker to draw up a divorce decree, and arm in arm the two women left the court.

"We're going shopping," Mrs. Walters gayly told her attorney.

WPA CONSIDERS HELPING CHICAGO PAVING PROGRAM

Upon his return yesterday from Washington, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, announced that the federal Works Progress administration is considering a plan to aid a proposed street paving program.

Under the project, as approved by WPA authorities here, the government and city would contribute $1,292,000 each—Chicago from its share of the state gas tax.

The plan, as approved two years ago by the city council, calls for improvement of 20 miles of state aid and arterial highways. In addition, pavement of many side streets would be improved.

ATTORNEY LEO TARPEY.

A jury was selected in the Criminal court of Judge George Fred Rush yesterday to try Attorney Leo Tarpey and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feeley on charges of conspiracy to obtain money by false accident claims. They were arrested in the campaign against the ambulance chasing racket.

It was reported that three others indicted with them, who have obtained separate trials, will be among the witnesses called by the state. These three are George L. West, a confessed ambulance chaser, and Mr. and Mrs. James Valentine.

The accident claims were filed against the Chicago Surface lines after an accident at Fillmore street and Kedzie avenue last Aug. 31.

FEDERAL HEALTH CHIEF SPEAKS IN CITY TODAY

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, will address the third meeting of Mayor Kelly's committee in the city hall council chamber today at 11 a. m.

He is in Chicago to deliver the Gehrmann lectures at the medical school of the University of Illinois. The third and last of these will be delivered today at 1 p. m. and will be devoted to syphilis. Dr. Parran spent yesterday and Monday in consultation with Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, chairman of the mayor's committee, helping them to perfect Chicago's plan for the control of venereals.

Reports from the various subcommittees of the mayor's group are also expected to be made at today's meeting. Chief of these are those of the medical and legal groups. The latter has redrafted a proposed state law requiring all applicants for a marriage license, both men and women, to have certificates showing that they are free of syphilis and gonorrhea.

Engineer Sues for Divorce, Charging Wife Beat Him

Adam Ganisorek, 28 years old, a ceramic engineer, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Superior court against Julia Ganisorek, 1068 Fry street, charging cruelty. In his bill he accuses his wife and her mother of beating him.

PREDICT BATTLE ON 20% OF CITY'S REALTY TAX LEVY

Lawyers Point Out Cause of Heavy Delinquency.

Chicago taxpayers will attack the legality of levies totaling from 20 to 30 per cent of the 1935 city real estate tax bill of 119 million dollars. At least 10 per cent—nearly 12 million dollars—of the total tax extension will be declared invalid.

These forecasts, made yesterday by lawyers who specialize in handling taxpayers' complaints, point again to one of the biggest wrenches in Cook county's tax collection machinery. On Monday County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer advertised for sale 900,000 parcels of real estate on which a total of $44,500,000 in 1935 taxes is delinquent.

On many of these parcels the owners have paid a portion of the taxes and have filed a protest against their bills, contending that certain of the levies were illegal.

Where the Difference Lies.

Under the present system a taxpayer has no way to bring his protest against illegal levies to a court showdown until after his property has been advertised for tax sale.

This system causes a large part of the heavy tax delinquency in the county. A bill to remedy the evil is now pending in the general assembly as one of the major measures of a tax reform program. This bill would make it possible for a taxpayer to go to court, protest against any levy, and get a ruling before he receives his tax bill.

Treasurer Lindheimer, alarmed at the large amount being withheld by protesting taxpayers, issued a plea yesterday that all taxes be paid in full, even though a protest be filed.

Hangs Fire Until April 12.

On April 12 County Judge Jarecki is expected to set the time for filing objections to the sale of the 900,000 parcels of real estate posted for auction because of delinquent 1935 taxes. Not until then will protesting taxpayers be able to start their legal fight against levies they believe to be illegal.

Robert S. Cushman, former assistant state's attorney, now engaged in handling private tax litigation, was one of the experts who predicted the court will throw out 10 per cent of the total 1935 tax extension.

Entire Downtown District.

"At least half of the tax items on the 1935 bill should be included in this reduction," Cushman said. "This is evident from the large number of taxpayers who have paid on account instead of in full. Practically every parcel in the central business district and many larger properties in other sections will file objections. Most of them have paid from 75 to 90 per cent of the bill."

Objections are chiefly against levies of the city, school board, sanitary district, park board, and the county. The complaints are based on the ground that the various local governments set the loss and cost of tax collections at an excessive percentage. The Illinois Supreme court has ruled that 4.6 per cent is the maximum, yet many of the governments allow as much as 15 or 20 per cent.

CHICAGO IS RANKED AS TENTH COLDEST CITY IN U. S. IN 1936

Nine cities in the United States had more days with temperatures below 32 degrees than did Chicago during 1936.

There were 20 days on which the temperature rose above 90 degrees in Chicago, 123 days on which it fell below 32 degrees, and 22 days when it dropped below zero during the extremely cold winter of early 1936.

Frederick Rex, municipal librarian, made this announcement yesterday on completing his annual study of the weather records for the 35 largest cities of the country.

Chicago's mean monthly temperature during the year was 49.3 degrees, which placed the city 22d on the list in average warmth. Miami headed this list with a mean of 75.6 degrees, while Minneapolis was at the other end of the compilation with 44 degrees.

Peoria, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo., reported the highest temperatures recorded—113 degrees. Chicago's top was 102 degrees, placing the city tenth in this classification.

Cupid takes a hand in Real Estate

For every hundred couples married in Chicago from 1932 to 1936 inclusive, only one new dwelling place was built in the same period.

As a result of this striking disparity between supply and demand for residences, rents are rising—and more and more people are turning their thoughts to real estate ownership.

Reflecting this increased interest in real estate is the fact that during the first two months of 1937, the Tribune printed 109.9% more real estate want advertising than during the same period last year.

To keep in touch with real estate opportunities, follow the offers in the real estate columns of the Tribune want ad section.

The Tribune today, as for almost a quarter of a century, prints more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

NEW DEAL SLIPS DEEPER IN 'RED'; TAX HIKE HINTED

More Borrowing Viewed as Immediate Prospect.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—With tax receipts failing to equal estimates by 600 million dollars a year and the federal deficit remaining undiminished, more borrowing by the government immediately and a boost in taxes eventually are in prospect.

These revelations today illuminate the recent steady fall in the market price of government bonds, indicating a widespread doubt of the strength of the government's fiscal position.

They also lend special interest to the recent assertion of Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board that a disastrous runaway inflation can be averted only by a "prompt balancing" of the budget, even if an increase of taxes should be necessary.

Leaders Oppose Tax Boost.

Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill have set their faces sternly against a tax increase. They all are for retrenchment of expenditures to bring outgo within income. It is noted as significant, however, that after one look at the figures of 1936 income tax collections, President Roosevelt contented himself with expressing the "hope" that a tax boost could be avoided.

For the first 20 days of March the collection of 1936 income taxes totaled 652 millions, compared with 390 millions in the comparable period last year, a gain of 67 per cent. By the end of March the first quarter's collection may reach 690 millions, but even then will be 150 millions short of the President's budget estimate of 840 millions.

The President in his budget message held out a promise of a diminished deficit henceforth and a balancing of the budget within the next two years. But the current treasury figures do not bear out such roseate hopes.

Pay Less on Debts.

The deficit for the current fiscal year now stands at about 2 billions, which is about 300 millions less than the deficit in the comparable period of the last fiscal year. But a year ago the treasury had expended 365 millions for debt retirement, compared with 65 millions so far this year.

As a result the President's promise of a diminishing deficit has failed to materialize up to date. Government revenue has increased about 500 million dollars over last year, but government expenditures also have increased about 500 millions.

Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, raked administration fiscal policies in a speech in the house.

"When it is stated," he said, "that we are going to balance the budget very soon by taxation, how does that statement bear with the newspaper item I hold in my hand that today and every day we are spending, according to the official report, $7,935,006 more than our daily income?

Raps Juggling of Figures.

"It is going to be a very difficult problem to balance the budget when you are daily spending nearly $8,000,000 more than you receive. That is just a juggling of arithmetic that I did not learn in my early elementary education, and I do not think any Democratic official learned it either.

"Why bluff the people with what you are going to do and cannot do? There is only one way of eventually balancing the budget, and that is to reduce the items of expenditure. That can be done and that should be done, but for one I do not see any indication of the majority party or the administration endeavoring to do it. Even if they can fool the people that they are going to balance the budget now, in view of the facts that actually are before the people, they have my best wishes in that effort.

"Who are paying the taxes today? A man's name does not have to be on the income tax list to have him pay taxes. The worst taxes that we have are the hidden ones.

Cites Average Man's Burden.

"Let any man on a salary, a clerk in a store on an ordinary weekly pay—tell you what part is left at the end of the week from his household budget now, in comparison with what it was two years or five years ago, so far as the price of staples and necessities are concerned. There is the taxation.

"And the moment you try to raise your taxes today, it is the average man and the woman who will pay the bill, whether their names are on the income tax roll or not. They not only pay taxes directly, but also in the increased cost of what they buy.

"It is a terrible situation that we face, and it is due in very large measure to the extravagance of the present administration. Let us put the blame where it belongs. Unless more economy is shown in the next three years than has been shown in the past, what do we face at the end of this administration?"

Offers Proof of Waste.

The congressman cited the following expenditures under the Roosevelt administration as proof that there has been no economy:

[EXPENDITURES FOR YEARS 1933-'38.]

1933	$5,143,000,000
1934	7,105,000,000
1935	7,376,000,000
1936	8,880,000,000
1937 [budget estimate]	*8,841,000,000
1938 [budget estmiate]	*7,695,000,000

*Does not include items not included in budget.

"Mr. Chairman, in his radio 'fireside chat' a short time ago the President said that he had a great ambition," Treadway concluded.

"I, too, have a great ambition, Mr. Chairman. I want to live to see the day when the President carries out his solemn promise, made over four years ago and which he since has repeated many times, that he would balance the budget—now.

"And when it is balanced I want to see it done, not by increasing taxes on the masses, who cannot afford to pay them, but by reducing expenditures through the elimination of waste and extravagance."

INDIANA MAYOR, IMPEACHED, TO FILE AN APPEAL

Huntington, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Mayor C. W. H. Bangs, defeated in his five year effort to turn the city's street light plant into a public utility and forced to disconnect private consumers, today prepared to appeal to the courts his impeachment voted by the city council.

The mayor gave notice from his cell in Huntington county jail: "In the meantime I don't want anybody to misunderstand who is mayor."

City Attorney Arthur D. Sayler announced: "The accused will exercise all of his rights as the duly elected mayor and acting mayor of the city of Huntington."

The council found Bangs guilty on fourteen of nineteen counts after a report from the state board of accounts which showed $15,662.11 "unaccounted for" in funds of the city's light plant, which served approximately 680 consumers.

JIMMY WALKER ON COMMISSION TO TEST SANITY

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—James J. Walker, former mayor, and two psychiatrists today were appointed by Judge John J. Freschi of General Sessions members of a commission to take testimony on the sanity of Lawrence [La-La] Mullens, 34 years old, an ex-convict, one of five gunmen who held up a clothing store on lower 7th avenue on the night of Jan. 25.

It was the first time Mr. Walker had been appointed to any official berth since he resigned from the mayoralty in 1931 while on trial before Gov. Roosevelt in Albany on charges made by Samuel Seabury. He is a lawyer. The usual fee allowed by the General Sessions judges to a lunacy commissioner is $250.

Mrs. Freed Ignores Vallette Inquest for Eighth Time

Yesterday, for the eighth time, Mrs. Carmella Ruth Freed did not appear at the coroner's inquest into the slaying of Audrey Vallette last July 2 in her apartment at 1211 North La Salle street. At the request of Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, who said Capt. Andrew Barry of the Hudson avenue station is still searching for Mrs. Freed, the inquest was continued until April 23. Mrs. Freed has been sought since the murder, when her photograph was identified as that of the woman seen leaving Audrey's apartment shortly before she was found shot to death.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

ASSETS AS LIABILITIES

By CALEB

SOME days ago this column discussed friction and the terrific toll it exacts in the world.

Several "friends of friction" leaped to their stationery and informed me that the friction I condemn has its fine points. They point out that the friction which wears out automobile tires also makes the car go. Friction in this instance is traction—but it is nonetheless friction.

We volunteer to these correspondents we are aware of all this. Indeed were it not for friction our sales checks could never be made out, for both lead pencils and our Charga-Plates make their impressions by friction.

What these defenders of friction do is simply remind us that frequently liabilities are, under some conditions, assets. Or that what is condemned for one reason, in another place for another reason should be applauded. Generally this goes without saying. If high speed is condemned as a traffic hazard, the constructive high speeds of our modern day are not meant—or high speed in airplanes. If parole is disparaged, its evils are meant and the theory of parole may stand above the abuses.

This asset-liability idea is ever with us. Even of personal traits it is true. The man whose greatest asset is affability must beware lest his affability be given free rein in the wrong place at the wrong time. The man whose greatest asset is generosity and kindliness must beware lest the liability side of these virtues deprive his family of food and shelter. The studious person who advances by close application must beware lest the liability side of that virtue make him a recluse and unable to associate comfortably with his fellows. He who is winning a way to high places through aggressiveness and tenacity must beware lest the asset become a liability in the sense of fighting for small things, or he must beware lest he lose friends and friendly communion in the world.

One of our store's greatest assets is the reputation we have gained through the years for diversity and up-to-date-ness of stocks and quality in all things. We have known of businesses enjoying similar reputations coming to rest on the laurels of the past. The asset has then turned to a liability, dulling and deadening the senses of responsible employes.

The world is wisely made. We can all profit from our virtues. But if we do not cherish and sustain them and keep them eternally furbished as virtues, they may turn rapidly to liabilities.

A KIDNAPING DID OCCUR, RULING IN O'BRIEN WEDDING

Judge Holds 7 Defendants to Grand Jury.

The Quin O'Brien kidnaping-romance was tossed in the lap of the grand jury yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden of the Felony court. He held the bride. Marguerite Eustice her parents, and four alleged muscle men to the grand jury in bonds ranging from $500 to $2,500.

All the principals were in court except the bride. According to her attorney, Alfar Eberhardt, "the lady," as she was referred to during the preliminary hearing on the kidnaping charges because of her confused status as a bride, is home awaiting the stork.

O'Brien Is Elated.

But the oratorical groom, an assistant corporation counsel, was on hand, beaming over this development in the case. O'Brien contends that on the night of Feb. 3 the Eustice party shanghaied him to play the leading rôle in a shotgun wedding at Morrison, in Whiteside county.

There were no witnesses yesterday, the state having presented testimony last week.

In addition to Miss Eustice, the other defendants are her parents Dr. William Eustice of Elizabeth, Ill., a dentist; his wife, Mrs. Blanche Eustice; George Casper of Elizabeth, Frank [Little Caruso] Penicara, James Norman, and Joseph Abbatocola.

Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash contented himself yesterday with a brief statement that the state would leave the entire disposition up to the court. Miss Eustice was also willing to abide by the court's decision, her attorney said.

Holds There Was Kidnaping.

"Of course this is only a preliminary hearing to determine whether there is probable cause for grand jury action," Judge Padden said. "In the court's opinion there was a kidnaping.

"All of the defendants knew or learned what was going on during the time O'Brien undoubtedly was deprived of his liberty and freedom.

"I believe this was an attempt to accomplish a certain result in an unlawful manner. However, I do believe that none of the defendants was a professional kidnaper. It is entirely a matter for the grand jury to decide."

Elizabeth, N. J., March 23.—(AP)—A Negro was held today in the county jail on a charge of murder after authorities said he had confessed the slaying of a wealthy woman 60 years old and the beating and stabbing of her daughter, 26, at Plainfield.

Union County Prosecutor Abe J. David said Doran Roach, the Negro, had admitted entering the home of Mrs. Celia Kadesh yesterday and fatally beating her with an iron pipe. Roach told him he then stabbed the daughter, Bessie, with a screw driver, then left the home by way of a window.

He was arrested at his home in Plainfield last night.

INDIANA PASTOR FINDS EVOLUTION TAUGHT; AROUSED

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—The industrial suburb of Beech Grove is having a rumpus over evolution.

The Rev. Verdi Allen, pastor of the Beech Grove Baptist church, started things when he found in some note books of pupils of the eighth grade school items which appeared to him to be Darwinian. They ran as follows:

"Animal life existed long before human life. Human life was very crude and awkward in the early stone age.

"Early form of life was a mere cell.

"From the cells came plants, birds and reptiles.

"The reptiles grew huge and died and man came to earth as an ape-like animal."

The Rev. Mr. Allen said the notes had been copied from the school blackboard.

"We do not want our children taught the Darwin theory," he said. "We believe God created man, according to the Genesis record."

Citizens formed an anti-Darwin committee to protest to the Beech Grove school board.

Oldest Justice of Peace in County Is 84 Today

Samuel Harrison, oldest justice of the peace in Cook county in point of age and service, will celebrate his eighty-fourth birthday today in his home at 2036 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Mr. Harrison has lived in Evanston for sixty-five years. He has four married children and eleven grandchildren. "I am going to keep up my work," Mr. Harrison declared yesterday, "'until I am 100 years old. Then I'll take up golf to relax."

REVERSE $37,000 VERDICT AGAINST WALLACE PAPER

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals here yesterday reversed a verdict of the District court at Indianapolis, Ind., awarding damages of $37,000 in the conspiracy suit brought by the Indiana Farmer's Guide against the Midwest Farm Paper Unit, Inc., and its five member farm journals.

One of the members of the Midwest unit is Wallace's Farmer and Iowa Homestead, of which Secretary of Agriculture Wallce is editor on leave. The Indiana Farmer's Guide charged the group with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law through the offer of group advertising rates.

The court's opinion, written by Judge Walter C. Lindley, held there was not sufficient evidence to sustain a verdict upon the issue of unlawful restraint of trade. A third appeal to the Supreme court is expected.

DO AS DOCTORS DO For CONSTIPATION

Here's what over 50,000 doctors have used and recommended for constipation

When you need a laxative, play SAFE and follow the method thousands of doctors use and recommend. For doctors, of all people, know what is best for constipation. Just listen to what they say about Pluto Water:—

Dr. A. C. T. of Arkansas says, "There is no substitute for Pluto." Dr. C. E. B. of Indiana states, "Have prescribed Pluto for years." Dr. T. C. G. of Iowa says, "I prescribe Pluto daily for my patients." Simply mix 1/5 of a glass of Pluto Water in 4/5 of a glass of hot water. You'll find this mixture pleasant tasting. There's no overnight waiting. No painful griping. In 1 hour, or less, you'll get gentle YET THOROUGH RELIEF.

So, when you need a laxative, be sure—take Pluto Water. Your own doctor will tell you there is nothing better than this non-habit forming saline mineral water, bottled at famous French Lick Springs, Indiana. Get Pluto Water from your druggist. 25c, or 50c. In 1 hour you'll feel worlds better.

HAVE A CUP O' CHICORY?

Twenty-four pounds of cut and washed chicory root from the Tribune experimental farms were made into 1.81 pounds of chicory powder. This powder will get the "coffee cup test" this week. Frank Ridgway's farm article on page 33 of today's Tribune gives the case history of the Tribune farms' chicory experiment. Be sure to read it.

On this page also you will find the farm lands want ads which each week day appear adjacent to the farm article.

Selecting and blending hops blossoms is one phase of brewing that cannot be done by laboratory rule-of-thumb. It is an elusive art that must be learned painstakingly. My grandfather had the gift of judging hops by their aroma—and he schooled my father, who in turn taught my brother and me.

ALIMONY GRIEF KILLS KEN'S YEN FOR A DIVORCE

Another Support-Payer Ordered Arrested.

One alimony payer dropped his divorce suit in disgust, another was ordered arrested, while the wife in a third case had her divorce held up because of a technicality in the day's developments here yesterday in the divorce merry-go-round.

Yesterday was the tenth time Kenneth L. Watson, 30 years old, appeared in Superior court for being in arrears on alimony to his wife, Madge Watson, 6148 Woodlawn avenue. The tenth visit was too much for Watson.

A Litigant Is Fed Up.

"When I started this suit last fall," he complained bitterly, "I thought I could get a divorce without any fuss, and certainly without alimony. I want to dismiss my bill. I'm fed up."

Judge John C. Lewe said he would oblige if Watson paid the $85 he owes his wife. Watson said he would. Mrs. Watson's attorney, Norman Becker, declared she was agreeable to having the suit dropped.

Two years the Watsons aided police in their vain efforts to solve the murder of Kenneth A. Morrison, a park official, who was slain Aug. 14, 1935. Mrs. Watson, who is 29 years old, was a friend of Morrison's.

Orders Teacher Arrested.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan in Circuit court ordered the arrest of Charles Temple, 460 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, a teacher in the Steinmetz High school. His former wife, Mrs. Alma Temple, 2200 Warren boulevard, and her attorney, Herbert L. Steed, declared Temple owed $135 on an order to pay $10 a week for the support of his son, Patrick, 1 year old.

The wife, whose divorce decree was withheld temporarily, is Mrs. Marjorie Sheehan, 1423 Farwell avenue. Judge Finnegan discovered that the figures in the Los Angeles, Cal., address of her husband, Thomas R., were switched in the notice when service was obtained by publication. Mrs. Sheehan charged cruelty.

SAY HE STOLE $360,000 WHILE HE WAS LAWYER

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—John Wight Austin, 36 years old, a former lawyer, was arrested in the district attorney's office late this afternoon after he is alleged to have confessed obtaining approximately $360,000 from twenty-eight friends and clients of the law firm of Choate, Larocque, and Mitchell. Austin once was a junior partner in that firm. He is alleged to have obtained the money during three years beginning Feb. 1, 1932.

The discovery was made in May, 1936, when he was forced to resign from the firm. The matter has been in the civil courts in connection with notes he is alleged to have signed with the firm name.

Austin is married and lives with his wife and two children in Bronxville. He was specifically accused of stealing $15,000 from Frank H. Smith, an advertising man.

Court Returns Girl to Her Father; Sobs for Mother

Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court yesterday returned Betty Ahrens, 14 years old, to the custody of her father, Charles Ahrens, 1901 Oakdale street, but continued the custody petition of Ahrens' ex-wife, Mrs. Marie Hart, until April 2. Ahrens won a divorce and custody of the child two years ago. Mrs. Hart took the girl from school on March 5. When the judge announced his ruling Betty sobbed, pleading to go with her mother.

Divorce and Alimony

Mrs. Madge Watson in court of Judge Lewe when husband, Kenneth, dropped his divorce suit rather than pay alimony. Her name figured in probe of slaying of Kenneth Morrison, park district controler.

Alma Temple was before Judge Finnegan to get an attachment issued for her former husband, Charles Temple, who is in arrears on alimony payments to support son.

An error in publication kept Mrs. Marjorie R. Sheehan from winning decree from T. R. Sheehan.

COME HOME, ALL'S FORGIVEN! NAZIS WILL TELL PUTZI

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—Germany sent a man to Switzerland today to tell Dr. Ernst [Putzi] Hanfstaengl in effect: "Come home; all is forgiven."

[The Harvard educated Hanfstaengl, reported sent to Spain in February on a secret mission for Adolf Hitler, turned up instead at a Zurich hotel last week. He expressed gratification that his post of Nazi foreign press chief had been liquidated in his absence because "I have been wanting to get back to my historical studies." He apparently has been out of favor with Hitler for some time.]

Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, dispatched his chief of staf, Herr Spenger, to Zurich. Spenger will try to persuade Hanfstaengl to come back and assure him that his failure to go to Spain would not be counted against him.

He can live in Germany unmolested, he will be told, and will even have "a scientific task" assigned to him.

17 SAVED AT SEA AS VESSEL SINKS OFF EAST COAST

200 Workers Escape Fire on Boston Waterfront.

Boston, Mass., March 23.—[Special.]—With its crew of 17 men taken off by a coast guard cutter, the Norwegian steamer Bjerkli sank at 10:50 tonight in the Atlantic ocean 500 miles east of Nantucket lightship, while in Boston harbor flames swept two United Fruit steamers and a huge floating drydock before firemen brought them under control.

The coast guard cutter Chelan wirelessed headquarters here that it had reached the Bjerkli and that the steamer's master then abandoned the vessel.

Dense Pall Over Water Front.

The fire here spread such a dense pall of smoke over the east Boston waterfront that at times the fire fighters were working in semi-darkness. Half a dozen firemen required treatment for smoke inhalation.

Breaking out from the oil soaked planking on the Simpson dock of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company, the fire spread to the steamer San Gil and seriously threatened its sister ship, the San Bruno.

More than 200 men who were painting and doing other work on the vessels managed to slide down ropes to safety as the flames advanced.

Crane Operator Rescued.

At the height of the fire, above the roar of the flames, firemen heard the frantic cries of Charles Harndon, 65 years old, trapped in the cab of his electric crane 60 feet above the dock.

A fellow workman, Francis Carbon, with the aid of Stephen Ryan, worked his way up a greasy cable on the arm of the crane. Smoke and flames obscured them from sight as Carbon tied a rope around the crane operator's waist and lowered him to the ground.

Infected White Rats and Guinea Pigs Are Stolen

Lowell, Mass., March 23.—(AP)—Superintendent Christine S. MacLeod of the Lowell General hospital today appealed for the return of fifteen infected white rats and guinea pigs stolen from the hospital grounds last night. Warning that the animals had been exposed to tubercular infection, Miss MacLeod said there was danger of the germs being spread.

Newark, N. J., March 23.—[Special.]—A 10 year old boy lay near death tonight from injuries received when he was thrown from a fourth story window by a madman who attacked his mother. The boy, George Colligeros, suffered a broken spine.

MAY SELECT OUTSIDER HEAD OF INDIANA U.

Bloomington, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Dr. William Lowe Bryan's successor as president of Indiana university probably will be some outstanding educator not now a member of that faculty, it was indicated here today. But still mentioned prominently were Dean Bernard C. Gavit of the university's law school and Dean Herman B. Wells of the school of business administration.

Mr. Gavit, a former professor in the law school, became dean in 1932 when Paul V. McNutt resigned the deanship to become governor of Indiana. Dean Gavit holds degrees from Wabash college and the University of Chicago. He is 43 years old.

Mr. Wells, former secretary to the commission of financial institutions of Indiana, resigned in 1935 to return to his alma mater as dean of the business school. He is 34 years old.

Dr. Bryan has agreed to serve as president until a permanent successor has been appointed.

Fire Damages Hotel, but Mine Host Mourns Lights

Evansville, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—A $20,000 fire of undetermined origin damaged the eighth floor of the Hotel McCurdy, of which F. Harold Van Orman, former Indiana lieutenant governor, is president and manager. Of particular grief to Van Orman was smashing of the neon light system when a fireman slammed a ladder against it.

"First the men who put up the emergency boiler during the flood broke the tubing," he said, "they broke it again when they took the boiler down. Then men who cleaned up the building afterward broke it. Now the firemen break it."

Garnett Flannels, $50—From cutting table to pressing board these suits of soft imported flannel have known little but hand work. You see impressive proof of it in every detail that influences the drape and feel of these easy fitting broad-shouldered double breasted jackets. In blue, brown, grey, and oxford grey—plain and with chalk stripes.

The Peebles Scottish Twist, $55—The moisture laden breezes of Scotland, where it was woven, give this suitings a soft handle comparable to that of the finest worsteds. It is in the spinning of yarns selected from the choicest fleece from their own sheep, blended, colored and woven by skilled workers trained in their own mill in Peebles, Scotland, that Thorburn has been able to produce this famed fabric, fore-runner of all twists.

Donegal Tweeds, $36.50—Emanating from County Donegal, Ireland, these tweeds, despite the handicap of coming from the Isles famous for the distinctive pedigree of their many fine fabrics, have a character and grandeur that's all their own. We've used these Donegal Tweeds for single and double breasted business suits as well as suits for sportswear.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE ON THE WORK OF THE COURT.

Mr. Roosevelt first sought to justify the appointment of six new judges to the Supreme court by telling congress that the burden of litigation was too great and that serious injustice was being done litigants who could not get the judicial determinations to which they were entitled. If that were a true statement of the facts, the proposed increase in the number of judges could rest on it. The question of control of the court for executive purposes would be raised only by implication or by suspicion.

The first embarrassment encountered by this assumption that the court was overworked was found in the report of the attorney general, Mr. Cummings, made only a short time before the President sent his surprise message to congress. Mr. Cummings, who then had not been told what his opinions were, included in his review of the year, thereby giving approval and indorsement, a subreport written by Solicitor General Reed which said, "The work of the court is current and cases are heard as soon after the records have been printed as briefs can be prepared. Prompt hearings and decision were had in all cases of large public interest."

Mr. Reed also thought, and the attorney general approved, that the discretion given the justices to review or not review cases carried up on petition for writ of certiorari had been used with admirable results and "without restricting the possibility of review . . . has enabled the court to give more time to important legal issues and has reduced routine demands upon it."

Chief Justice Hughes in his letter to Senator Wheeler presents the record of the court in its disposal of suits. The review of facts and the opinions contained in his letter have the explicit approval of Justices Brandeis and Van Devanter and, as the chief justice said, are in accord with the views of all the judges.

The chief justice wrote Senator Wheeler that he was not discussing any matter of policy in the Supreme court bill, but only the question whether the court was unable to keep abreast of the demands upon it. He proves that it has done so and he offers the proof in a statement which meets the highest standards of public discussion of a great question. Although the judges have been subjected to criticism without merit, with which the Supreme court has been unfamiliar for many years, the tone of the chief justice contains no intimation that the question is to him or any of the other judges anything except an attempt without prejudice or passion to discover whether the court is so organized as to do its work with the facility and dispatch required by its function in American government.

Chief Justice Hughes says that in his opinion efficiency of the court would not be increased by the appointment of additional judges, but would be decreased. Neither the procedure nor the number of cases before the court from time to time requires more judges. Litigation before the court proceeds expeditiously and there is no denial of justice to be ascribed to any inability of the judges to hear cases which should be brought before them.

When a review is refused it is because the litigants have had their day in court and do not present an issue which entitles them to the prolongation of their suit, in which prolongation, as the chief justice remarked, the advantage is with the longer purse. Not every case is entitled to review by the Supreme court and the judiciary act recognizes that fact.

Attorney General Cummings and Solicitor General Reed had agreed to everything now written by the chief justice to Senator Wheeler, but that was before Mr. Roosevelt made the enlargement of the court the major question for congress and the country. The attorney general changed his opinion, but we may accept the one he had before pressure was put upon him as the one rising from his own knowledge and judgment.

The proposal to provide places for six new judges is reduced to its simplest form. They are not needed because the judges are too few. They are not needed because the judges are too old. They are to be appointed, if provision is made for them, merely because they will increase the membership and diminish the authority of the court whenever an administration act is challenged for constitutionality. They are to be appointed not to use their judgment, not to study a law in its relation to the constitution, but to say that any act required of congress by the executive is valid, no matter what it contains, no matter how it affects citizens, and no matter what the fundamental law says to the contrary.

That purpose is the whole purpose and it is so plain that no one can honestly say it is not the intent and so plain that every honest minded citizen can see that it is.

THE DRIVERS' LICENSE BILL.

Passage of the O'Grady drivers' license bill now pending at Springfield is threatened by a row which is brewing over patronage. The secretary of state and the superintendent of highways both want to administer the license system and its pay rolls.

The larger portion of the patronage will arise from the examination system which eventually will be set up under the bill. The logical solution of the impending row is to abolish the patrontage which is its stake by striking out of the bill the provision for examinations.

Examinations of motorists are not essential to a good drivers' license system. Experience in other states has shown that they do little, if anything, to weed out dangerous drivers beyond detecting persons with obvious physical handicaps, and this could be done much more easily and inexpensively by requiring answers under oath to a few questions on an application for a license. What an examination system does accomplish is the creation of an expensive burocracy with opportunities for shaking down the public.

The great benefits which may be expected from a drivers' license system do not arise from the manner in which the license is obtained. They arise from the fact that the motorist has a license, which becomes a record of his offenses against safe driving, and which may be suspended or taken away whenever that record shows his conduct to be a menace to the public.

It is immaterial to the public whether the secretary of state, an elective official, or the superintendent of highways, who is appointed by the governor, runs the drivers' license system. One thing is material, however, if needless government costs are to be avoided. That is that the drivers' license system should be kept in the same hands which administer the state vehicle license system.

The secretary of state now runs the vehicle license system. Either he should handle drivers' licenses also, or vehicle license administration should be taken from him and given to the highway department. It is foolish and expensive to set up an independent and parallel system to handle two license systems which are so closely connected.

THREE SITDOWN STRIKES ENDED.

Three sitdown strikes in Chicago came to an end Monday night when police, acting in cooperation with the state's attorney, notified the strikers that their conduct was in violation of the law. The result was accomplished with the minimum of violence. After the police had forced entrances more than a thousand men and women who had been in illegal possession of two factories and a store went home peaceably No one was hurt.

That is an accomplishment of which Chicago may well be proud. It evidences the good sense of the strikers who did not resist and by not resisting avoided committing a second offense. It demonstrates the moral authority possessed by the police department and the state's attorney and indicates a wholesome respect in the community for its laws. It suggests that many and perhaps most of the strikers had started their demonstrations in a picnic spirit and had discovered that gayety could not be sustained in the face of the discomforts. Close confinement in quarters designed for working, not for living, was found to be neither healthful nor comfortable. No doubt many of the strikers welcomed an excuse to call it a day.

Chicago and other communities in Illinois have handled the sitdown strikes well. Both at North Chicago and in the city proper the problem has been faced as it should have been, by local officials. There has been no concession by word or deed of the authorities that the sitdown is legal, proper, or tolerable. The police have acted on the theory that they had all the authority and all the force required to end the illegal occupations. The police have not provoked violence, but they have not been intimidated.

The sitdown strike is a new phenomenon. All its implications are not yet clear, but this much can be said with assurance: It is far more likely to lead to disorderly demonstrations and bloodshed in communities whose public officials are supine than in communities like Chicago where the police are prepared to do their duty. The riots in the suburbs of Paris the other day came about precisely because the constituted authorities in the past had not made it abundantly clear that they would preserve order against threats from any quarter.

Fortunately for the peace and prosperity of this community that mistake is not being made in Illinois and Chicago.

THANK YOU, MR. SMITH.

Effective April 1, the American Air Lines will inaugurate nonstop service in flagship club planes between Chicago and Washington. The flying time will be three hours and thirty-five minutes eastbound, and three hours and fifty-five minutes westbound, the discrepancy made necessary by prevailing westerly winds. Both are afternoon flights, so that the possibility of a round trip in a single business day is still in the future.

The circumstance that makes the new schedule worthy of special note is the attempt to prove a theory that the existence of a fast schedule will create patronage. The number of Washington tickets sold daily has never been heavy, and one wonders why until railway experience is recalled. Washington trains ran light until the Liberty and Capitol made their appearance.

The flying route between Chicago and New York has always been popular, so nonstop flights have been added to the time tables as a matter of logical sequence, but Washington is different. President Smith is to be congratulated for his courage in testing a conviction that trade will follow a schedule.

NO MORE TORTURE.

[Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.]

The action of the prison commission in ordering the elimination of stocks from the chain gang camps of the state will be universally approved by the people of the state.

The announcement contained the news of the abolition of a means of discipline few knew was still being used in the state's penal system. It is difficult to realize that this abomination could have existed in Georgia until this time.

Some years ago loyal Georgians found much to object to in certain current books dealing with our chain gang system. The people of Georgia were outraged at being held up to the contempt of the nation for conditions which, according to their information, did not exist in the state's prison camps. The indictment was so sweeping that Georgians had a right to continue being resentful. But in the light of what is now learned touching the use of stocks to subdue unruly convicts, at least in some of the camps, it is not possible for the people of Georgia to be as positive in their stand.

DINNER IN HOMETOWN.

Lots of women find it difficult to get their men folks to the table at mealtime when all the victuals are piping hot and at their best. Even after Uncle Isaac and Aunt Maria moved off the farm and into town Uncle kept a couple of teams of horses and some wagons and did plain and fancy teaming. Aunt Maria would call to him in the barn lot and he would come to put his head in the door and say: "Dinner ready?" "Yes, ready." . . . "On the table?" "Yes, on the table." . . . "Ready to sit down to?" "Yes, ready to sit down to." . . . "All right; I'll go water the horses." Carolus.

HOUSECLEANING TIME.

Housecleaning time is here again,
Season of woe unfeigned;
Mad chaos grips our domicile
Where peace so sweetly reigned.

Or whether I may eat.
Bedlam's abroad—my pipe was chucked
Amid gewgaws of Mama's,
And how I dread the fall of night—
I can't find my pajamas.
Though sunlight soft floods all the world,
Its cheer moves me not when
Gloom and despair my vitals gnaw—
Housecleaning's here again.

According to some clever lads who know how things should be, folks up in years can't earn the scads—they're s'posed to be N. G. The fact'ry gates are barred to these, and doors abruptly slam. They're chased into the wintry breeze; politely told to scram. The man of forty years or so may be a frisky gent, but far as jobs and stipends go his day has come and went. He's relegated to the dump—thrown on the old scrapheap. They kick him briskly in the rump, for he ain't worth his keep. And yet, if we can trust our ears, there was—once on a time—a man named Ford, aged forty years, who didn't have a dime. Seems we have heard, in days gone by, of old man Clemenceau, who won a war, was hale and spry, at eighty years or so. Tom Edison was going strong, in sere and yellow day—he toiled and moiled the whole night long, while young bucks hit the hay. We think also, and furthermore—we may be right, may not—a man must forty be before he knows a helva lot. And so it might not be so bad to keep the old has-beens, for better tunes are often had from ancient violins. Les Plettner.

TRACKING DOWN PAIN.

We have often heard the expression: "Things are not what they seem." Whenever we detect smoke we try to locate the flame and every fireman knows that fumes pouring out of a window high up in a building may not mean that the blaze is on that floor.

This is exemplified in the location of pain in the body. The starting point may be quite some distance from the seat of the symptom. This is because nerve connections may be more or less roundabout and pangs may be felt at points far distant from the source of irritation. For example, a twinge in the knee may be due to disease in the hip joints, or trouble complained of in the breast in women may come from the pelvic organs.

There are various regions which are called referred pain sites. Discomfort in the right shoulder and shoulder blade may point to infection of the gall bladder. Disturbance in the descending colon may manifest itself on the left side just below the margin of the ribs. Diagnosis of disease in the transverse colon is commonly aided through the presence of a dull ache or drawing feeling across the small of the back.

Head pains are important and headache which seems to localize in the forehead may, and frequently does, indicate some intestinal upset, particularly constipation or too much food. Distress in the back of the head may be caused by eyestrain, infected teeth, or inflammation of the kidneys. If it is directly on top of the cranium [the vertex] it may be associated with anemia and is often catalogued by women who have bladder ailments.

Pain that arises in or about the heart is often experienced beneath the breastbone, in the left shoulder, and downward along the left arm. In pneumonia the beginning annoyance of a complicating pleurisy may be felt in the abdomen. The girdle sensation—a tightness around the waistline—may denote some involvement of the spinal cord.

The area between the shoulder blades on the back is exceedingly sensitive in the presence of rheumatism, gastric ulcer, or any type of irritation of the stomach.

Now these connotations are not absolutely positive because many inconsequential factors may give rise to any of the symptoms noted. But these few examples will help us to understand that pain in the forehead is seldom brain or sinus disease. It may be, of course, but 99 times out of 100 it betokens some intestinal difficulty.

Whenever an infection exists there may occur a multitude of symptoms far removed from the pus pocket. Take teeth that are dead and bacteria laden. The roots themselves, although entirely painless, may be anchored literally in a sea of pus. As a result, rheumatic manifestations may affect the joints, and if each mouthful of food is bathed in foul material the digestive tract cannot escape for long.

Then, too, the nervous system may be implicated. Toxins from abscesses at the roots of the teeth [apical abscesses] may bring on neuritis or even a psychosis. Not long ago a physician friend with a very busy practice developed an inflammatory condition of the eyes [iritis]. Every possible focus of infection was investigated and only one tooth seemed to be under suspicion. On a chance that the fault lay in that locality the tooth was removed and a culture of virulent streptococci was grown from the pus pocket found at the tip. His eye derangement vanished promptly and in addition there has been a marked improvement in general health.

As may be inferred, therefore, the body functions as a whole. Nothing can happen to a remote part but that some far away organ may reflect the situation. It is obvious, also, that rubbing cologne on the forehead may be comforting momentarily, yet if the headache is of digestive origin, attention to the intestinal tube will be followed by permanent relief.

HAIR REMOVAL.

W. W. W. writes:

1. I want to know something about electrolysis for removal of hair. How is this done? Does the method leave scars?
2. Is there a permanent cure for perspiring feet?
3. Can a diabetes patient infect a friend through the mail he sends?
4. Are tangerines just as valuable as oranges?

REPLY.

1. There are several approved electrical methods for the permanent removal of hair. The first of these is the use of the galvanic current. It actually causes a chemical decomposition of the vital portion of the hair lying in the follicle and prevents regrowth. One or more needles may be used during the sitting, which requires one-half hour or so. No local anesthetic is needed. The method has been employed for many years and—in the hands of experts—has shown excellent results. There should be no scarring.
2. No, but potassium alum or aluminum chloride used as a dusting powder is helpful. Formaldehyde and menthol are also well known remedies. Be careful how you apply chemicals to the skin. You may be sensitive to one of them.
3. No! Diabetes is not an infectious disease.
4. Yes.

CANKER SORES.

Mrs. Z. writes: What causes canker sores in the mouth? I have had them off and on for a long time.

REPLY.

Canker sores, a form of stomatitis, may be caused by a fungus or by bacteria. The condition is frequently associated with food disturbance or an infection. A simple treatment is to cauterize the areas with a small piece of potassium alum, or to wash the mouth several times daily with some antiseptic mouth wash. Boric acid solution may be used. At times the sores are quite resistant and require cauterization with something stronger, for example, silver nitrate. The diet should consist of milk and soups for a few days while the ulcers are healing.

TEETH BRACES.

T. F. writes: My teeth are quite irregular and this defect holds me back in business. Can they be straightened? Is there such a thing as a brace to be worn only at night? I am 22 years old.

REPLY.

It will be difficult to straighten your teeth as they are permanently formed, but braces can be used to advantage. I doubt if devices worn only at night would be of any benefit. Consult a good dentist and he will advise you.

20 Years Ago Today

MARCH 24, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—At a momentous meeting of the cabinet President Wilson and his official advisers determined the policies which, in their judgment, should govern the United States in prosecuting war with Germany. It is not to be a full fledged war, but something akin to the "partial war" with France in 1798. America is to fight Germany from the safe side of the allies' land and sea barriers.

CHICAGO.—Where and how Chicago and this state stand in the nation's present crisis is to be heralded to the world shortly in what promises to be the biggest patriotic demonstration in the city's history. Its proponents expect it to turn out to be the most profound meeting of its kind in the history of the country.

LONDON.—Along the entire battle front between the Scarpe and the Aisne in France the allied and German troops came to grips. At some places the battle, waged by infantry, cavalry, and artillery, attained the biggest proportions of any engagement this year. Some observers here see in the developments of the last two days signs that Hindenburg intends to fight a decisive battle.

SPRINGFIELD.—Adjt. Gen. Dickson canceled furloughs for fourteen Illinois National Guard officers detailed to the annual convention of the National Guard association which opens March 27 in New York. Pointing out that it is general knowledge a call for troops may come at any moment, Gen. Dickson said steps were being taken to make all preparations with respect to mobilization camps.

NEW ALBANY, Ind. — Between twenty-five and fifty persons were killed and probably 100 injured by a storm that struck New Albany, demolishing scores of residences and several industrial plants. Twenty-five bodies have been taken from wrecked buildings, and it is feared many other bodies are hidden in the débris.

NEW YORK.—Several prominent Socialists met here and, after protesting the action of the party's executive committee in issuing a manifesto "purporting to express the party's position about the threatened war between the United States and Germany," passed resolutions indorsing President Wilson's course and pledging their support to the country.

WAR SUMMARY.—French troops push back Germans north of St. Quentin canal; take more ground northeast of Tergnier. British beat off German attacks and make further gains southeast of Arras. Russians regain trenches lost to Germans in vicinity of Lida.

Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

RIGHT TO INHERITANCE.

Chicago, March 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am writing in regard to some money left to me in a will made by a world war veteran who had $10,000 life insurance. There were others included in the will.

The executor of the will is a sister [1] who now wants all of us to let her have the remaining part which is left—about $500 from each of us.

2. Can she take it, or [3] break the will, if we are not all willing to give it to her? She got her share like all the rest, only more, as she was made executor of the will. C. W. M.

1. It is not clear whether you mean as compensation for her services or as a gift.
2. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the wording of the will, the facts as to her services and compensation and the basis on which she asks for the money.
3. In general the chances of breaking a will would depend on the proof as to lack of mental capacity or undue influence. If the will was set aside the sister's position would depend on whether there were other equally close relatives.

HE WELCOMES HIGHER PRICES.

Chicago, March 20.—I regard as a healthy sign the rising prices of necessities as well as luxuries.

We have lived too long in a 98 cent age, with cheap commodities of cheap quality, manufactured at a mile a minute with no regard for fit, durability or beauty beyond the purchasing stage. Things are manufactured by cheap labor, men and women whose wages do not permit them to buy even the trash they manufacture.

Who would not be willing to pay a few cents more for a commodity if, by so doing, some one was assured of a job or better wages and himself assured of better service?

Who would not be willing to pay one cent more for a street car ride if by so doing an additional man was put to work?

Trash is no bargain at any price, whether it be commodities, labor, or service.

High prices with high wages in proportion and prosperity are synonymous; the margin is greater and it is the margin that counts. EMSA.

PRO-BULL.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—THE TRIBUNE is hardly worthy to be called a publication of a so-called civilized nation when it deliberately encourages and lauds a sport outlawed in this country because of its extreme cruelty and brutality—the bullfight.

You continually publish pictures of this vicious sport and encourage American tourists to go to Mexico where they can satisfy their sadistic urge.

Only today you published a picture of a tortured bull goring a soldier. The bull had spears in him; men were twisting his tail; he was clearly and justly enraged. All of your sympathy apparently went to the injured man. All of my sympathy went to the injured and tortured bull, and I was more convinced than ever that man is the only devil.

LET'S.

Chicago, March 17.—This morning's TRIBUNE informs us that income tax collections to date are double those of last year, that they are substantially larger than in the so-called boom year of 1928. This is terrible. Something must be done right away to correct this intolerable situation. We can't wait for a constitutional amendment; it will take too long. Why, if things keep up this way we will be earning more than we can spend. Let's do something now. Let's put on fifty more Supreme court judges—no, make it a hundred—then Mr. Lewis can organize a Supreme Court Judges' C. I. O. union; let's plow up some more wheat and cotton; let's kill off ten million hogs; let's build some new dams; let's, let's, aw, let's all go on relief. A. W. M.

LEMON PIE IS NICE, TOO.

Chicago, March 19.—Well, the baseball teams are in training and the fans are all of a-twitter again with fond hopes and expectations of joys to come during the long summer.

The psychology of baseball encompasses almost the entire gamut of human emotions. Fear, hate, suspense, excitement, discouragement, joy, despair, gratitude, disgust are some of the reactions experienced by the rabid fan at every game.

The very sight of a white ball bounding over the greensward holds a fascination. Straining athletes speeding along base paths striving mightily to reach home and victory! The esthetic grace of a long bulletlike throw from deep outfield to prevent a hostile menace! The dramatic, headlong plunge of a human projectile in a supreme desperate effort to reach the haven! The lightning shot from catcher to second base to thwart an attempted steal! With the baseman and runner scrambled in a cloud of dust! Thrills piled upon thrills!

Where else will you find human drama better demonstrated than with two out in the home ninth, three runs needed to tie, four to win, the bases full, and old "Buck," the team's champion slugger, coming up to bat?

Dictators may rise, governments may fall, depressions may grip mankind. Who cares? Can good old Buck hit that next one!

The pitcher starts a slow, deliberate swing of right arm. He's winding up! Here it comes! Then the crack of bat against ball! Sweetest sound in all the world! The choking gasp of the multitude! A frenzy of unholy, shrieking rapture as burning eyes follow the long, long flight of that white pellet—on—on—over—over the fence! Four runs and the game! Life hath no greater joy!

If you never saw such a drama, you ain't seen nothin' yet! NAT WHARTON.

THE CAB DRIVER'S LOT.

Chicago, March 21.—Cab Driver's Wife says her husband makes only $13 a week.

Mine and several others of our acquaintance draw from $20 to $25 a week, with tips averaging $5 above all expenses, gas, food, cigarets.

True his hours are as long as twelve a day—but it is not hard manual labor.

Is the strike for 1 per cent more in commission [a man over two years' experience gets 39 per cent] worth being in debt for rent and other bills? I don't believe so.

As for vacations, my hubby had one week with pay last year and is entitled to two this year.

However, you forgot to consider that the cab driver is in the out of doors all day long and as a consequence, since I have been married to Friend Husband, he has not had a cold.

He gets sick benefits and insurance, $500 the first two years and $1,000 after that period, for 10 cents a week, and the privilege of borrowing money, $5 to $25, when necessary?

And as hubby says, "A cab driver's salary depends on himself. If he works he can make a good living wage and if he doesn't that's his lookout." ANOTHER CAB DRIVER'S WIFE.

HITLER DECLARES TRUCE IN FIGHT ON PROTESTANTS

Rebel Churchmen Reject It; Continue War.

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—The Nazi government declared a truce tonight in its quarrel with rebellious Protestants rather than engage in simultaneous conflict with both Catholic and Protestant churches.

Hans Kerrl.

Hans Kerrl, minister for church affairs, issued a decree reconstituting Evangelical church governments as they existed before Feb. 15, when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler ordered general synodical elections, and ordered maintenance of the status quo until the church elections, for which no date has been set.

The truce was declared, a spokesman for Kerrl's office explained, for the purpose of "ensuring freedom of faith and conscience as well as freedom of the election," which was announced as an opportunity for Protestants to choose the kind of government they want.

Aims to "Suspend Quarrel."

The object is to "suspend the quarrel over competence of existing church government bodies pending final regulation through a general synod" to which Protestants will elect representatives, the spokesman said.

Confessional [Evangelical synod] leaders, who viewed the election plan with skepticism, rejected the truce and said they would prefer to continue the fight to keep the government out of church affairs.

The Kerrl decree, coming on the heels of the encyclical letter from Pope Pius that accused Germany of violating the Vatican concordat, was characterized by synod leaders as an attempt to divide Protestants and Catholics in their struggle for separation of church and state.

Demand Release of Pastors.

They indicated the fight for religious independence would continue despite the truce. All disciplinary measures were suspended by the decree, but synod leaders said Kerrl's statement could not be supported until the government releases nine Luebeck pastors arrested for disobedience to official church regulations.

Nazi charges of unfairness against the pope's use of a letter, which was smuggled into Germany by airplane, to state his grievances were angrily rejected by a Catholic spokesman who said the pontiff took his step only as a last resort.

Various Vatican notes to Germany were unanswered, the spokesman said, and the Nazi government refused to receive Catholic bishops for a conference on church matters before the pope resorted to his message.

Government sources expressed regret over the pope's step, saying the pulpit and the foreign press were not the place to criticize a treaty partner.

BLUM WINS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN CLICHY CRISIS

PARIS, March 24 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The Popular Front government of Premier Leon Blum fought its way through a bitter all night debate on the deadly Clichy riots today to win a 362 to 215 vote of confidence from the French chamber of deputies.

The motion of support, demanded by Blum for his government's conduct throughout the tense aftermath of last Tuesday's street fighting in which five persons were slain and more than 300 wounded, expressed confidence the government would:

"Assure liberty for all and respect for the law so necessary to internal peace and the normal conduct of democratic institutions."

The Popular Front majority overrode its opposition and gave Blum a new lease on the premiership after he had declared his everlasting opposition to Fascism in France.

"The people's front will make useless all attempts to install Fascism in France—by force if necessary," Blum asserted.

HITLER TO TAKE OVER FARMS IF PRODUCTION LAGS

Goering Reveals Vast Plan to Increase Output.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 23.—Germany's farmers were warned today that if their agricultural achievements fail to measure up to the standard required by the government they will face punishment ranging from a warning to "the compulsory lease of their farms to a manager appointed by the court."

Addressing the farm population by radio, Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, commissar of the four year plan for self-sufficiency, issued "orders for the mobilization of all farming production and reserves as a part of the four year plan."

In return for the vast sum which the government will invest in farming schemes, he disclosed that farmers must accept a system of "farm cards," on which they shall inscribe their activities and achievements. These cards will be submitted to the control of government appointees.

Outlines Vast Program.

Goering outlined a vast agricultural program to make Germany "as self-sufficient as is humanly possible." He said he hoped to cut down the need for imports below the 17 per cent of the total food requirements for this year.

The campaign of the commissar of the four year plan to increase farm production will be carried out along five lines.

First, the government will finance huge reclamation and land improvement projects at a cost of $80,000,000 this year. It will invest $400,000,000 in the scheme by 1940. This, Goering contended, will increase arable land by 5,000,000 acres.

Second, he will concentrate on measures to increase farm output. For this purpose he will enforce drastic cuts in the price of manufactured fertilizers.

To Plant More Potatoes.

Third, Goering ordered an increase in the planting of potatoes and an increase in the price for potato flakes to be used as fodder. The potato flake industry will be subsidized by the government to enable it to sell the product at a small cost to the farmer.

An increase in the price of rye from 8 to 9 marks per hundredweight [about $3.20 to $3.60] also was ordered. To avoid an increase in the price of rye bread farmers will be paid this difference in the price of rye out of profits in the brewing of barley, which also will be increased in price.

Fourth, Goering called for credits to farmers—the credits to be extended not only by the owners of Nazi "hereditary farms" but to all farms which "operate efficiently."

Will Draft Farm Hands.

The fifth part of Goering's program calls for the mobilization of all persons who can be used as farm hands. He assured landholders that all measures will be taken to provide them with the help they need.

The government argues that the lack of proper homes for farm laborers is largely responsible for the "flight to the city." Goering promised an end to this practice.

"I shall consider a flight to a city as a flight from responsibilities towards the nation's welfare and treat it accordingly," he warned.

NAZIS TO REPLACE MEN IN WAR WITH CIVILIAN RESERVE

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 23.—All business enterprises and civil government authorities are being urged to create a civilian reserve force, which in case of war can immediately take the place of men called to the colors.

This advice is based on the consideration that in the next war, even more than in the last one, all men able to bear arms will be sent to the front irrespective of their positions or their "indispensability," thereby doing away with the reclamation system.

Government Counselor Dieckmann of the Potsdam military history archives says the reserve should be taken from men exempted from military service, from women, and from youths. He urges that "it is the duty of all business enterprises and government offices to take care of replacements in time, and to make preparations for them in peace time, because after the outbreak of war it will be too late."

Two More Die; Porto Rican Riot Toll Is Raised to 12

PONCE, Porto Rico, March 23.—(AP)—Two more Nationalists, wounded in riots Sunday as they attempted to parade to emphasize demands that Porto Rico be granted independence from the United States, died in hospitals today. The deaths brought the fatality list to twelve. Four others were not expected to recover. Police continued to patrol Ponce streets.

REPORTS CZECHS BUILD FORTS ON AUSTRIAN BORDER

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 23.—Large fortifications facing Austria are being erected in Czechoslovakia, according to the newspaper Der Angriff. These fortifications, mainly huge concrete earthworks, are being built along the Pressburg-Peterzalka-Berg-Lundenburg line. The entire district is being cut off by police and intelligence service officials. Workers engaged on the construction jobs are under oath to preserve the strictest secrecy, says Der Angriff. The newspaper points out that these fortifications are less than forty miles from the Austrian capital, which could be put under artillery fire from some Czech redoubts.

Crew Members of Yacht Sue Officers for Beating

New Orleans, La., March 23.—(AP)—Two members of the crew of the palatial yacht, Blue Water, owned by Miss Marian Huntington, San Francisco heiress, filed suit for $48,000 damages against their officers today, charging the officers beat them while at sea. The suit, filed in federal court, alleges the crew members were chastised while Miss Huntington, who is the daughter of the late H. E. Huntington, former official of the Southern Pacific railroad, was on a gulf cruise with friends. Miss Huntington is charged with "gross negligence, cruelty and brutality . . . through one or more of her servants."

COMMITTEE WILL DECIDE IF SALES TAX SHALL DROP

Joint Body Will Examine State's Finances.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Illinois senators this evening approved a plan, hatched earlier in the day in Gov. Henry Horner's office, which calls for the appointment of a joint legislative committee to consider whether the 3 cent sales tax should be permitted to revert to 2 per cent on May 1.

Five senators and five house members are charged, according to the resolution passed at the request of Senator James O. Monroe [D., Collinsville] with examining all facts concerning the financial condition of the state and with reporting back with recommendations for enactment this session.

Favored Adding 100 Sources.

Monroe's original idea, expanded before the governor and house and senate leaders this afternoon, called for permitting the sales tax to revert to 2 per cent on May 1 when the 3 per cent extension will expire. To make up for the loss in revenue, Monroe proposed that 100 occupations not covered by the present sales tax be levied upon.

Among the matters discussed at the conference, which was attended by Lieut. Gov. John Stelle and Speaker Louie E. Lewis, was the question of a constitutional convention for consideration of an amendment to the revenue section. The joint committee, if authorized by the house, would discuss that matter.

Parole Bill Passed.

Before adjourning until tomorrow, the senate passed one of the series of parole bills introduced by Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], providing that courts, in passing sentences upon convicted persons, shall fix a minimum term, which could not be cut by the parole board.

The senate also killed the legislative pension bill of Peter P. Kielminski [D., Chicago]. It obtained only 10 of the necessary 26 votes. Under the provisions of this measure, legislators would have been pensioned after twenty years' service with an amount equal to the pay they drew annually. This would have been $1,750 under the present system.

Wilmette to Get $144,000 WPA Funds for Lake Front

Wilmette's Washington park, located on its lake front, was assured an improvement program yesterday. The suburb was notified that its application for $144,000 of federal funds had been approved by the Works Progress administration. The money will be used to build a sea wall 1,500 feet long, an ampitheater to seat 4,000 persons, a wading pool, and to do considerable landscape work.

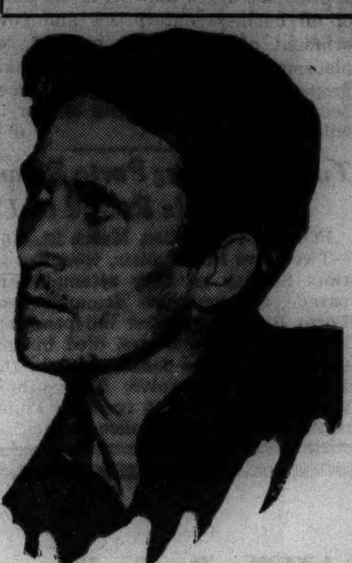
IN POISON PLOT



James Pace, who confessed at Lewistown, Ill., in poison pancake slaying of his brother, William Jr. His motive was love for Lillian Pace, 17, wife of another brother, Clarence.

[Associated Press Photos.]

Mrs. Lillian Pace with her husband, Clarence, and their son, Alfred Marion, who were made ill by the cakes poisoned by James Pace.

Lewistown, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Love for his young sister-in-law prompted James Pace, 28, a riverman, to poison pancake flour in an effort to get rid of her husband, her 2 year old son, and whoever else stood in their way, Sherif Wheeler said Pace confessed today.

Pace is held for the death of his brother, William, 32, who died Sunday after partaking of the breakfast on a houseboat on the Illinois river, near Liverpool, where the family lived. Clarence Pace and his baby escaped a similar fate because they ate very little of the poisoned food.

The sherif said James Pace told him he and Clarence's wife, Lillian, 17, had carried on a clandestine romance for some time, but that recently she had spurned him.

HOUSE MEMBERS CURTAIL HEARING ON CITY MANAGER

Listen to Only Few of Proponents.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—The house committee on municipalities gave an hour's hearing today to the proponents of bills to permit Illinois cities to adopt the council-manager form of government and then told them to come back next week.

The impression among observers was that the advocates of city managership will be given a gentle but extended pushing around before their measures advance very far and that the bills will be changed materially during the process. The indications were that there is certain to be an effort to exclude Chicago from the operation of the proposed plan and that such an amendment will be adopted before the bills get out of committee.

Only about one-tenth of the speakers that backers of the city manager idea had brought to Springfield for the occasion had an opportunity to address the committee. The attendance of members dwindled constantly until it became doubtful that a quorum was present. And the questions asked of the speakers manifested an unfriendly attitude that included the belief that the simplified government idea should not be applied to a city as large as Chicago.

FREED OF FORGERY CHARGE.

NEGRO WOMEN FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO LIVE IN RESTRICTED SUBURB

White Plains, N. Y., March 23.—[Special.]—Asserting that as an American citizen she is entitled to live in any residential section she chooses, regardless of her race or color, Mrs. Joshua Crockburn testified today in opposition to a neighbor's suit to oust her from a new $20,000 English home on Fort Hill road, Greensburgh, fashionable Westchester section.

Mrs. Cockburn, wife of a prosperous Harlem real estate operator, said she never denied that she has some "colored blood" and she "imagines" she is an octaroon.

A chief question before Supreme Court Justice Lee Parsons Davis, who reserved decision, is whether deed covenants against persons of Negro blood are in conflict with public policy and constitutional amendments.

AMERICAN ENVOY HONORS RED ARMY CHIEFS AT PARTY

MOSCOW, March 23.—(AP)—Marshal Klementi E. Voroshilov, commissar of war, in a speech at the American embassy tonight said the soviet army was ready symbolically to shed its uniforms for those of peace the moment it becomes certain that uniforms no longer are necessary.

The war commissar was one of thirty-six guests, high ranking leaders of the Red army and their wives, at a farwell dinner given by Joseph E. Davies, American ambassador, and Mrs. Davies, who will leave Saturday for a three weeks' trip to the United States.

Voroshilov's declaration was made in reply to a brief speech in which Ambassador Davies said the dinner was given to honor the Red army as "an army of the citizenry devoted to peace."

Fried Rabbit and our Family's Whiskey!

Maybe you think Jessie don't look to be a dog built exactly right for stirring up rabbits, but I wouldn't trade her for any hound nor coon dog in the whole valley. She sure scared up plenty the day we took this snapshot here. And maybe that fried rabbit and our Family's Whiskey didn't taste good!

Mild and Tasty and Slick as Velvet —our own Family's Recipe!

It fits in with an outdoor snack like nothing else!

Just like there's something to the tastiness of things cooked the good old fashioned way in a bubbling skillet over the coals, there's a tastiness to our own Family's Whiskey made according to our personal recipe that nothing else can touch. And a special mildness too, that feels just lovely on your throat these raw March days.

I've heard of folks that really like a fairly strong taste to their whiskey. But us distillers enjoy a real mildness to ours when we have a little drink amongst ourselves. And that's what the Wilken Family has always been aiming at —putting up a whiskey that beats all others hollow when it comes to being tasty and mild. We've been picking up all the ins and outs of good whiskey making ever since Grandpa Wilken's time.

And this is our own Family's Whiskey—every bottle of it being made according to the personal recipe of us Wilkens. I wouldn't wonder if after trying it you'd say like most everybody else—you've finally got the good old fashioned tastiness you've been missing all this while!

MARRIAGE BILL IS REPORTED OUT IN VENEREAL FIGHT

Only One Dissenting Vote Is Recorded.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—With only one dissenting vote cast, the health committee of the house of representatives today recommended passage of the Saltiel bill which would require all persons intending marriage to produce a physician's certificate showing them free from venereal disease before a license could be issued.

Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago], sponsor of the measure, had no difficulty in convincing nine of the ten members of the committee that examinations for syphilis and gonorrhea should be made before county clerks issue the license.

Objects to $2 Fee.

The dissenting representative was Richard A. Harewood, colored Republican from Chicago, who objected to the $2 physician's fee for such examination, as stipulated in the bill.

"If $2 can stop a couple from getting married they shouldn't even consider marriage," replied Joseph N. Degrazio [R., Chicago].

In his argument before the committee Representative Saltiel reminded the legislators that 20 per cent of the children in state institutions are syphilitic because their mothers were infected and transmitted the disease to them from birth. The care of these children cost the state $1,000,000 annually, he said.

Many in Insane Asylums.

Saltiel also read from an interview with A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, who was quoted as saying that 18 per cent of the insane in Illinois institutions suffer from syphilis. "Every syphilitic is potentially an insane person;" this interview quoted Director Bowen.

Saltiel brought out that Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, the celebrated Chicago surgeon and head of Mayor Kelly's citizens' committee for the abolition of syphilis, is supporting the bill, as are Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health.

Dr. Schmidt, with whom Saltiel has had several conferences on his measure, may propose an amendment or two when the bill is on second reading, the sponsor said.

VOTE TO INDICT TWO AS SLAYERS OF RELATIVES

A man and a woman were reported named by the grand jury yesterday in true bills charging them with the murder of relatives.

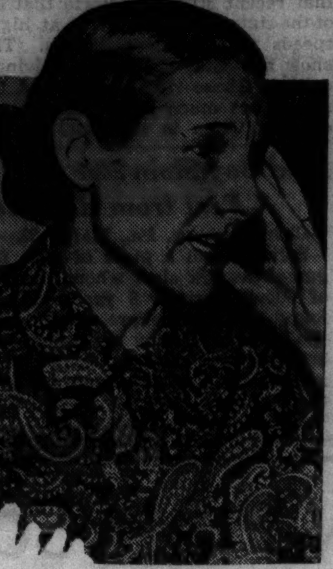
One is Mrs. Stella Maddox, 26 years old, 1951 West 21st street, who shot her husband, Daniel, 32 years old, to death in their home a week ago, apparently during a struggle for a pistol with which she was trying to kill herself. Her daughter, Dorothy, 10 years old, told the jurors that her mother threatened Maddox.

The other is Frank Uher, 60 years old, 6431 South Bishop street, who during a quarrel in his home on March 17 fatally stabbed his wife, Marie, 60 years old, and their son, John, 26.

$10,000 BAIL IN PURSE THEFTS.

Identified as a purse snatcher by two women, Jesse Chapman, colored, 37 years old, 3508 Prairie avenue, was held to the grand jury in bonds totaling $10,000 in the Felony court yesterday on two charges of robbery.

Recovering Mind



MRS. NETTIE MARCUS.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

A woman found wandering at La Salle and Van Buren streets early yesterday recovered her memory after a rest and identified herself as Mrs. Nettie Marcus, 36 years old, of Robinson, Ill. She said that she arrived here from Robinson late Monday to join her husband, Richard, a salesman, in the Grant hotel at 6 North Dearborn street. She went for a walk, during which her mind became a blank, she said.

Clears Divinity Student Who Caused Professor's Death

New Haven, Conn., March 23.—(AP)—John E. Lantz of Kokomo, Ind., Yale divinity school student, was cleared today of criminal responsibility in connection with the death of Prof. Edward S. Robinson whom he struck with his bicycle. Coroner James J. Corrigan said the Yale professor, who was near sighted, was attempting to walk across York street when an oncoming automobile forced him to step back directly in the path of Lantz's bicycle.

COURTNEY TELLS OF INQUIRY ON PARKING LOTS

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said yesterday that his office is investigating complaints made by some parking lot owners against the treatment they say they are receiving in the city hall. The complaints were made six weeks ago, the prosecutor said, before he started his West Indies tour, and were referred to Eugene O'Connor, blue sky division investigator.

"I cannot divulge now the nature of the complaints or who made them," said Courtney. "I do not know what if any progress O'Connor has made because I have not had a chance to talk to him since my return."

Ald. Thomas P. Keane, chairman of the license committee of the city council, said O'Connor had talked to him and has asked for a list of committee members. Keane said his committee has nothing to fear regarding the complaints, which, according to reports are based on the fact that the committee recommended and the council adopted an upward scale of licensing fees for parking lots.

2 ROBBERS MAKE $1,192 HAUL IN TAVERN HOLDUP

Two robbers, one carrying a sawed-off shotgun and the other a pistol, invaded a tavern at 2149 South Halsted street late last night and found $1,192 in a cash drawer. Apparently dazed by so much money, the bandit with a pistol cried out to his companion, "Let's take a duck." He left his pistol lying on the floor and fled with his companion.

The robbers made no attempt to search Edward Kaufman, owner of the place, or a dozen customers and employés, whom they forced to line up along the bar. Kaufman told police he had the money to cash pay roll checks.

Ill on Day He Planned 4th Wedding, Farmer Dies

English, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—John W. Sturgeon, 67 years old, a farmer, died of pneumonia he contracted on the day he was to have married for the fourth time. He was divorced from his third wife last month. He leaves three sons, 12 to 17, by his second wife, who died a few years ago. His first wife died in 1918. Sturgeon's fiancée, Mrs. Isabelle Hughes of English cared for him in his last illness.

It's only a Burglar, Woman Finds, Investigating Noise

Mrs. O. P. Smith, 812 Lathrop avenue, River Forest, widow of an inventor, heard a noise in the house last night. Thinking it was her son, Owen, she called, "What are you doing?" A strange voice answered, "Getting some clothes." Then a burglar ran out of the next room, pushed Mrs. Smith back into bed, and escaped with an armful of clothing and furs.

This spring and summer, drive the BELLWETHER car!

You say you're looking for a live one that lives up to its stunning looks—all right, feast your eyes on this handsome Buick and end your hunt!

What you see is the leader of the 1937 flock — a sleek, fleet, sinewy, stout-hearted traveler that'll do all you ask — and still be ready for more!

Something happens to you when you take your comfortable place behind the wheel of this glorious car and command its flashing action.

Cares fade, worry drops behind, you're young again, gay again as you tingle to the lifting surge of its valve-in-head power and sense the solid steadiness of every thrilling mile.

You find a new meaning to easy handling as you finger these sure controls — you never knew a car could be so smooth, easy, quick in its perfect obedience to your every wish.

Fact is you're driving the standout car of the times — and the longer you drive it the greater will be your glad pride in it.

Why not make sure now that you'll have one in time for summer driving? Why not—for your money—get the unmatched smoothness of a valve-in-head straight eight—the surety and steadiness of a car that's big enough for comfort — the stout and stalwart brawn that Buick builds!

Sure you can afford it! It's priced as you'd expect a six to be, and sold on terms that your budget can easily cover. Go see the Buick dealer in your neighborhood—get your order in before the heavy driving season is here!

NOTE—NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE gives more power per unit of fuel than any other type of engine of equal displacement and compression

ANOLITE PISTONS, durable, long-lasting, 50% lighter, increase bearing life 150%

AEROBAT CARBURETOR—works like carburetors used in aerial acrobatics. No stop, start or swing is swift enough to affect its even feed of fuel

SEALED CHASSIS keeps dirt and water from all moving parts, protects from wear and erosion

TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE, for steadier, more stable roadability

PLAN CHANGES IN DRIVERS' LICENSE TO WIN SUPPORT

Draft Amendments to End Objections.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Advocates of an automobile drivers' license law this afternoon were drafting amendments designed to win further support for this bill. A need for more friends of the measure to assure its passage was indicated earlier in the day during a heated house debate in which Gov. Horner was accused of fathering the license law to gain more patronage.

The debate was on a roll call for passage of a bill that some feared and others pretended to fear would be considered as a substitute for a drivers' license. This bill, introduced by Representative F. W. Lewis [D., Robinson] would authorize a court to deprive a defendant of the driving privilege for a year after a conviction for any of the more serious trafic offenses.

Emergency Clause Stricken.

The Lewis bill received 82 votes, supported by the Republican minority and a few downstate Democrats. Most of the Democrats, as instructed by Horner's floor leader, Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago], remained silent. Adamowski argued that to pass this measure would jeopardize passage of a drivers' license law.

The 82 yeas on the Lewis bill were not enough to pass with its emergency measure but they exceeded a simple majority by five votes. On motion of Representative Lewis, the emergency clause was stricken, making the effective date July 1, and as amended the bill will be submitted to another roll call for passage tomorrow.

After hearing objections to the drivers' license, A. B. Lager [D., Carlyle] announced that tomorrow he will introduce three amendments to the bill. Lager is chairman of the roads and bridges committee that tomorrow afternoon is to vote on whether to recommend passage of the administration measure.

Provisions of Amendments.

One amendment will remove a provision authorizing the superintendent of highways, at his discretion and without a court conviction, to suspend a driver's license for as much as six months for any of several comparatively minor trafic offenses, such as failing to note and to obey a stop sign.

The second amendment, Lager said, will remove as grounds for such a suspension a justice of peace conviction for one of the minor offenses in another state.

The third Lager amendment, he said, will permit a driver's license card to be used as bail bond on all but the most serious trafic charges. The arresting officer would give the accused driver a receipt for the license card permitting the owner to continue to operate an automobile only until the trial date. To get his license back, the driver would have to appear in court.

Senate Votes 4 Millions to Extend U. S. Capitol

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The senate passed a $4,000,000 bill today to authorize "completion" of the capitol by extending the central portion of the building eastward 12 or 32 feet. It was said the extension idea had been approved by a succession of architects since the dome and two wings were completed in civil war days. A new commission would decide on the extension.

MOTORIST KILLED BY AUTO AFTER OWN CAR STALLS

Run down by a hit and run driver, Gottlieb Gefrois, 72 years old, 189 Main street, Elmhurst, a retired tinsmith, was found dead yesterday near his stalled car in Hager road near York road in Du Page county, a quarter mile south of Elmhurst. Investigators believe that Gefrois was struck down while walking to get aid.

John Alexander, 58 years old, 11865 South Michigan avenue, a laborer, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Jan. 28. Alexander was walking at 119th street and Michigan avenue when he was struck by a car driven by Nicholas Angelos, 56 years old, 11244 St. Lawrence avenue.

Cook county trafic accidents cost 236 lives from Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday, the coroner's office reported. The toll in the Chicago city limits for that period was 190 deaths and 4,412 injuries.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, said yesterday that recent studies indicate that out-of-the-state motorists drive at higher speeds than resident drivers. They show also that the fastest driving is done by those riding alone and that speeds are much higher in the middle west than in the east.

Find Boy Slain 200 Feet from His Home

Chambersburg, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—Police found a piece of rope in a garage near a shed where the body of Floyd Shriver, 8 years old, was found today and expressed the belief the child had been strangled. The boy's bruised body was found behind a fence about 200 feet from his home. Chief of Police H. S. Byers said it was "apparently a murder case."

2 DRUNK DRIVERS GET 20 DAYS' JAIL AFTER CLASHES

Two drunken drivers were given 20 day jail terms by Chicago judges yesterday. Paul Ochodincky, 20 years old, 923 West Cullerton street, was sentenced by Judge J. M. Braude in the Boys' court. Arrested after an accident at 30th street and Rhodes avenue on Sunday, Ochodincky said he was driving the automobile because the owner, Charles Paljug, 20 years old, 1112 West 19th street, was "too drunk." Paljug was fined $10 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The other 20-day driver is Granville Webb, 21 years old, 3020 East 92d street, jailed by Judge George B. Weiss of the Safety court because of a crash on Monday at 93d street and Escanaba avenue.

Paris Says "Birds"*

You may have your birds perched on the crown of your hat as though they had just interrupted their flight for a moment—you may have them pursuing each other around the brim—you may have one independently clinging to your veil, if you like. Have your birds almost any way you choose—but birds you must have—Paris says so! The two hats shown are Carson reproductions of originals by the famous Suzy—one of the leading bird fanciers among the French designers. The sailor is priced at $25. The small veiled turban is priced at $18.50.

There's "Sheer" Smartness in Jackets, Capes, and Coat Effects on Dresses

Tucked chiffon, veiling a bright print, is slashed like a redingote to reveal the colorful design beneath. There's flattery in the shoulder-fullness and nice contrast in the gleaming patent belt. Black and navy, sizes 16½ to 24½. Priced at $35

Sheer and print are used deftly in this "dawn to dark" frock. The striped flower print of the dress top lines the cape which fastens through the belt to give a smooth waistcoat effect in front. It comes in black and navy, sizes 36 to 44. Priced at $39.75

The dressiness of lace contrasts cleverly with the casual grosgrain rickrack which trims the neck and sleeves of this suit frock. The short jacket snugs in at the waist; the crisp white flower is a sure index of Spring. In black and navy, sizes 16½ to 24½. $35

HUNT ANXIOUSLY FOR CHILD NIPPED BY A RABID DOG

Police and Parents Quiz North Side Youngsters.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of Southport and Cornelia avenues lives a small boy whose life is in danger. Probably the boy's parents do not know that the slight injury he suffered last Sunday morning was from the bite of a dog. Certainly they do not know that the dog was mad.

The boy's identity is unknown to the authorities, but with only slight clues to follow they were making every effort last night to find him and to save him from a terrible death from rabies. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, asked parents in that vicinity to question their children closely to learn whether they had been bitten. Town Hall police are helping in the search.

Larger Child Tells of Incident.

About the only clews they have came from John Driscoll, 10 years old, 1253 Eddy street. Last Sunday, John saw a boy about six years old crying in Cornelia avenue just east of Southport. There was a group of children there and one of them said the crying boy had just been bitten by a dog.

The dog was described as a big, shaggy setter, gray with large black spots. Later it was seen in the yard of an apartment building at 3517 Herndon street. Mrs. Harry A. Newlin of that address noticed something strange about the dog and called the Anti-Cruelty society, which took him away. Tests at the board of health yesterday showed that the dog had rabies.

Seen Trailing a Newsboy.

Police feel sure the injured boy lives in the general neighborhood. He was trailing a newsboy on his Sunday route, apparently aiding an older brother or a friend.

The health department is looking also for other possible victims of the dog. The doctors there have started giving treatments to Thomas Stanton, 3517 Herndon street, who patted the dog.

TOKIO DEMANDS CHINA PREVENT INSULTS TO JAPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 23.—Another Japanese demand lodged with Chinese authorities in north China today foreshadowed Japanese pressure to compel the evacuation of Chinese troops from Tungchow. That city is the capital of the so-called East Hopei autonomous area, which embraces the northern third of Hopei province fronting on the great wall.

The Japanese protested against alleged affronts to Japanese passengers at the Nankow station of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway by a Chinese soldier. The soldier, it is claimed, is a member of the army of Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, head of the Hopei autonomous council with headquarters at Peiping.

The Japanese allege the soldier suspected, Toru Hagiwara, an employé of the Japanese consulate at Tientsin, of being a smuggler in narcotics and rifled his baggage, compelled Lieut. Col. Shiro Omoto, Japanese officer at Kalgan, to produce his credentials at the point of a revolver, and struck a Japanese contractor with a rifle butt.

The Japanese demanded punishment of the soldier, an apology from Chinese authorities, and guarantees against a recurrence of such acts. A further withdrawal from Gen. Suig's 29th army from Tunchow is expected.

JAPAN SEEKS TO SETTLE ISSUES OF EXCLUSION ACT

TOKIO, March 23.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Naotake Sato told the house of representatives today that Japan will make every effort for an amicable settlement of issues arising from the Asiatic exclusion act of the United States government.

Answering interpellations concerning that act and alleged racial discrimination in the United States against Japanese, Sato said a favorable opinion now reportedly prevails there for such a settlement.

[The 1924 exclusion act forbade immigration of aliens not eligible for naturalization and earlier legislation made Asiatics ineligible.]

MAC MONNIES, NOTED SCULPTOR, IS DEAD IN EAST

med for Marne Group, Nathan Hale.

New York, March 23.—[Special.—Frederick William MacMonnies, American sculptor, died of pneumonia last night in the Doctors' hospital. He was 73 years old.

Mr. MacMonnies had won honors in many foreign capitals and his works are in leading art museums of Europe and America while his monuments stand on battle fields and in public places at home and abroad.

Perhaps his most ambitious undertaking was the Marne memorial monument erected at Meaux, France, as the gift of the American people. That group is 75 feet high.

Statue of Nathan Hale.

Mr. MacMonnies will be remembered also for his heroic horse groups at the entrance of Prospect park in Brooklyn and for the monument he designed to commemorate the battle of Princeton. Better known, perhaps, than all these is his statue of Nathan Hale in City Hall park. This work, designed in 1891, has become known to the American people largely through photographs in history textbooks.

Another of Mr. MacMonnies' works that stood in City Hall park for thirteen years was the heroic marble group, "Civic Virtue," popularly nicknamed "The Rough Guy." Criticism of this work led to its removal to Foley square. He did a famous fountain at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.

Shows Early Talent.

The sculptor was born in Brooklyn, the son of William and Juliana [West] MacMonnies. At the age of 5 he modeled his first group, and a very ambitious effort it was, the plastic medium employed being chewing gum. The subject was Gen. Washington on horseback. At about the same time he used to beg for pieces of dough with which he fashioned figures of remarkable cleverness. After his first attendance at the circus he returned home in great excitement and feverishly began to model strange animals he had seen.

One of Mr. MacMonnies' childhood playmates was Charles Dana Gibson. Gibson would take a pair of scissors and a piece of paper and cut silhouettes while McMonnies would model the same figures in chewing gum or dough, and the two boys then would compare results.

Wins Medal at 20.

Frederick was permitted to attend classes at Cooper union. He made progress and joined the Art Students league. At the age of 20 he won his first medal at the Academy of Design. Then he studied under Saint-Gaudens for four years.

Mr. MacMonnies completed his studies at Munich and at the Atelier of Falguiere in l'Ecole des Beaux Arts. Mr. MacMonnies received the first prize of the National Academy of Design in 1884, and the Prix d'Atelier, the highest prize open to foreigners, at l'Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, in 1886 with his "Pegasus."

He established his own studio in Paris in 1887 and won honorable mention for his "Diana" in the Paris salon in 1889. He received the second gold medal of the salon in 1891 for his "Nathan Hale," and was the first American to receive the award.

After spending a quarter of a century abroad, Mr. MacMonnies returned to New York in 1915. When he announced his decision he explained that he had always felt that "an American belongs to his own country and ought to have no other home."

Mrs. Charles Humiston's Father Dies Down South

Mrs. Charles E. Humiston, wife of the Chicago surgeon, received word of the death in Tecumseh, Okla., yesterday of her father, Robert Wheeler, 91 years old, a pioneer Rock Island county farmer. Mr. Wheeler, born in Pennsylvania, served in the civil war and was a government agent during the reconstruction period. After several years in Rock Island county he moved to Nebraska, studied law, and was admitted to the bar. He served one term as a judge of the Fifth Nebraska district.

Henry W. Roth Will Leaves $5,000 for Bishop Stewart

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, was left $5,000 and St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral in Evanston received a $3,000 bequest, under the terms of the will of Henry W. Roth, according to an eastern dispatch yesterday. Mr. Roth was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Stewart. He lived at St. David's, Pa. He died in Peru a month ago on a South American trip. He visited often in Chicago and contributed liberally to St. Luke's church.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL McCALMONT, 69 years ld, attorney and long a resident of hiteside county, died after a six eeks' illness at Morrison, Ill.

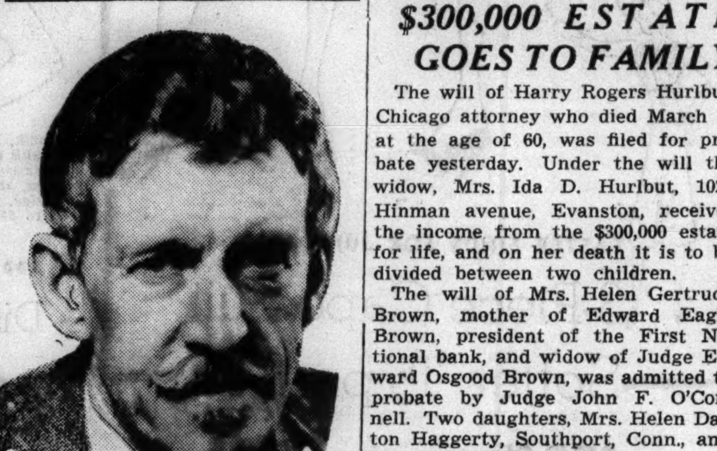
His Art Lives On



Frederick MacMonnies, age 73, American sculptor who created the colossal fountain for the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago in 1893, died yesterday of pneumonia.

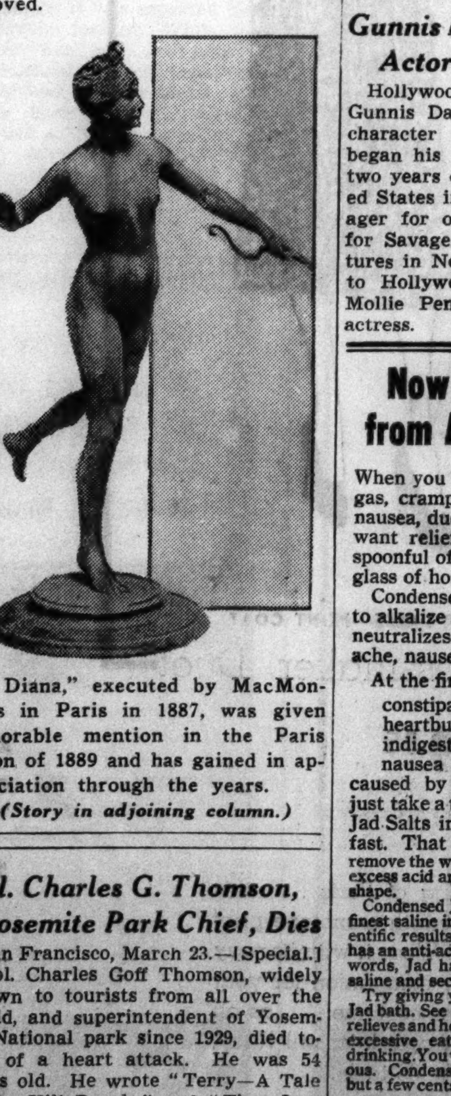
MacMonnies' heroic marble group "Civic Virtue" stood in New York's City Hall park for 13 years. A nickname "The Rough Guy" and public ridicule caused it to be removed.



"Diana," executed by MacMonnies in Paris in 1887, was given honorable mention in the Paris salon of 1889 and has gained in appreciation through the years.

The will of Harry Rogers Hurlbut, Chicago attorney who died March 18 at the age of 60, was filed for probate yesterday. Under the will the widow, Mrs. Ida D. Hurlbut, 1028 Hinman avenue, Evanston, receives the income from the $300,000 estate for life, and on her death it is to be divided between two children.

The will of Mrs. Helen Gertrude Brown, mother of Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National bank, and widow of Judge Edward Osgood Brown, was admitted to probate by Judge John F. O'Connell. Two daughters, Mrs. Helen Dalton Haggerty, Southport, Conn., and Mrs. Mary Wilmarth Brown Brown, 1186 Spruce street, Winnetka, are to share the $105,000 estate after payment of bequests of $11,500.

Judge O'Connell issued letters of administration for the estate of Mrs. Frances A. Redington, widow of William H. Redington, president of the Sanford Ink company. Mrs. Redington died March 12, at the age of 83. The estate, worth $220,000, will go to a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Griswold, 1232 Ridge avenue, Evanston.

Now Prompt Relief from Acid Indigestion

When you have nervous indigestion, gas, cramps or colic, heartburn or nausea, due to acid stomach, and you want relief in a hurry, take a teaspoonful of Condensed Jad Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Condensed Jad Salts acts quickly to alkalize the stomach contents. It neutralizes the acids that cause headache, nausea and indigestion pain.

At the first sign of—
heartburn indigestion
nausea
sour stomach
gas
loss of appetite upset stomach
caused by excess stomach acidity, just take a teaspoonful of Condensed Jad Salts in hot water before breakfast. That is all you have to do to remove the waste matter and neutralize the excess acid and put your stomach into good shape.

Condensed Jad Salts not only contains the finest saline ingredients to give the most scientific results for their purpose, but it also has an anti-acid or alkalizing effect. In other words, Jad has a double action—first, as a saline and second as an anti-acid.

Try giving your stomach a hot Condensed Jad bath. See for yourself how it relieves and helps you—following excessive eating, smoking and drinking. You will say it is marvelous. Condensed Jad Salts costs but a few cents at any drug store.

MRS. BARNETT ACTS AS OWN ATTORNEY IN FIGHTING FOR ESTATE

Muskogee, Okla., March 23.—(AP)—Acting as her own attorney, Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett today defended her claim to the estate of the late Jackson Barnett, known as the "world's richest Indian."

Mrs. Anna Barnett.

Seven hundred other claimants were represented at the federal court hearing before Judge Robert L. Williams. Barnett's estate at one time was estimated at $2,000,000.

Mrs. Barnett, whose elopement marriage to the aged Creek in 1920 was annulled shortly before his death in California, cross-examined Bertha Barnett, Negro housemaid, who claims she married Barnett in 1880.

Barnett, an incompetent ward of the government, spent his last years in Los Angeles. He died there in 1934 at the age of 92. The United States Supreme court last October denied Mrs. Barnett a review of the lower court decision annulling her marriage.

HOW I longed TO WEAR AN EVENING DRESS but couldn't because of . . .
PSORIASIS
BLEMISHES!
You would be amazed at the number of women who have written us just such words—and at their enthusiastic expressions of gratitude for what Siroil has done for them. They tell us what happiness Siroil has brought to them and the joy that is theirs in wearing evening gowns and sheer hose.

SIROIL removes the crusts and scales of PSORIASIS—and relieves other of its discomforts. Thousands of men and women in every walk of life who have suffered untold embarrassment—who have shunned society because of disfiguring psoriasis blemishes—bear witness to the efficacy of Siroil in removing psoriasis lesions and in brightening their entire picture. And Siroil is so easy to use. It is applied externally—does not stain clothing or bed linen—and is offered on a two-weeks' satisfaction-or-money-back guarantee, with you the sole judge of results.

BRITISH EMPIRE FACES CRISIS AS 2 LINKS WEAKEN

Irish and South Africans Clamor for "Rights."

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—Two constitutional questions affecting the British empire will provide delicate tasks for statesmen of the British commonwealth of nations who will assemble in London for an imperial conference just after the coronation on May 12 of King George VI.

Some diplomatic observers pointed out today that the spirit of conciliation and the science of compromise will likely be put to a test to insure that modification of the Statute of Westminster, which will be before the conference, does not weaken the bonds of the empire.

Statute Meets Difficulties.

This statute, which was formulated in 1926 and codified in 1935, puts all the dominions on an equal basis with the mother country, and makes the monarch the only link in the commonwealth system.

But since the statute was made effective many vexing problems in its operation have arisen. The most recent was in connection with the abdication of King Edward VIII. As a result of the abdication the Irish Free State made an effort to secure an even greater measure of detachment from England than it previously had. The Union of South Africa is following the Free State's example.

President Eamon de Valera of the Free State did away with the office of governor general [which had been filled by appointment in London]. He now uses the phrase, "exterior association," to describe the extent of the Irish connection with Great Britain, and he has not yet decided whether the Free State will be represented at the coronation.

Abolish Oath to King.

The provisions and clauses of the statute of Westminster as an empire charter also have been rendered out of date by other dominion actions. The Irish senate, in 1935, just before it was abolished, voted abolition of the oath of allegiance of Irish citizens to the king. Later it was established, upon an interpretation of the statute of Westminster, that Irish citizens are not British citizens. Then came the abolition of the governor generalship and the practical transformation of Ireland into a sort of independent republic within the empire, all without consultation with other members of the British commonwealth.

Another thorny question is the attitude of the Union of South Africa, whose recalcitrancy has been vexing for some time.

So far Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog has refused to introduce legislative measures to accomplish independence, but he advised the South African legislature that, under the South Africa act of 1909, King George VI. will be asked, when he has been crowned, to take a distinct and separate oath for the Union of South Africa.

26 WHO VOTED AGAINST WAR IN '17 TO DINE

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Twenty-six survivors of the 56 men who, as members of congress, voted against declaration of war by the United States will dine together here April 6 to mark the twentieth anniversary of their historic ballots. Under present plans the dinner will be private.

There are now in congress only three of this little band. They are Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota, who was a member of the house in 1917, and Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota.

Branded by such terms as "traitors," "pro-Germans" and other epithets in the hysteria of the days after the declaration of war, those of them who have lived have seen their position largely justified, Mr. Knutson said today, and have heard many of their arguments repeated in the debate of the last two years over neutrality legislation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—The coronation colors—red, white and blue—were put to another use today. Mayfair beauty shops introduced a multicolored nail enamel and, to show their loyalty to the monarchy, fashionable British society women from now on will paint their fingernails red, white and blue.

It also is becoming popular for one to decorate his or her Pekinese dog or Siamese cat in the coronation colors. Velvet slippers of expensive make with red, white and blue butterflies on the toes also are reported to be "tremendously popular" in shops in London's West End.

Peeresses and others who will wear coronets at the crowning of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, May 12, and at parties accompanying the coronation are also setting a new style in hairdressing, which probably will be adopted by all hairdressers in London for the customers who want to "do what is done."

Peeresses will part their hair in the middle, for it seems that the coronet will not fit on a modernly coiffed woman's head, while the center parting makes the coronet set more comfortably and also gives a better display to diamonds and other jewelry.

In the Edwardian era curls were piled high around the head and formed a natural rest for a coronet. With the present tendency to cut the hair short, a coronet is liable to slip down over the ears like a large sized derby. The duchess of Kent, sister-in-law of King George VI., set the new style.

New German Envoy Slated to Take Luther's Job in U.S.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 23.—Dr. Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, undersecretary in the foreign office, will succeed Dr. Hans Luther as ambassador to the United States, it was reported in diplomatic circles tonight. While the appointment has not yet been announced officially, it was learned that the American government's agreement has been received. Dieckhoff, who is one of the younger but outstanding career men in the German diplomatic service, was counselor to the Washington embassy from 1922 to 1926 and served in the same capacity in London from 1926 to 1930.

OLD WORLD VIVID WITH PAGEANTRY FOR EASTERTIDE

Poland's Ritual Blends Devotion and Humor.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Americans who have remained at home for the fashion parades and religious ceremonies of Eastertide this year will miss the picturesque rites held throughout Europe, as well as Latin-America, to mark the Crucifixion and the Resurrection. The celebrations there annually attract thousands of visitors from this country.

Perhaps nowhere else are the customs as vivid as in Poland. On Palm Sunday there the country folk stage a literal representation of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. Through the streets of each peasant village singing men, women, and children march beside a donkey upon which rides an effigy of the Saviour. But there are no palms in that northern land; so the marchers wave pussy willows instead.

Punish the Herring.

Today—Shrove Wednesday—the peasantry will wreak vengeance on the herring, which has been their staple food for nearly forty days, to show their relief that the Lenten days of fish eating are nearly over. They will attach a string to the tail of a fish and, with great outcries, drag it through the streets, while noisy youngsters strike it with whips.

On this day the people also will hang Judas. The betrayer is represented by a straw effigy, which, after the execution, is flung from the belfry of a church to the crowds below. There it is torn to shreds by the children.

On Good Friday the devout of Poland will eat little more than bread and water. At sunset on Holy Saturday they will extinguish all fires in harth and stove and then relight them with a candle, thus symbolizing the Death and Resurrection.

Hurry Home to Feast.

On Easter morning the masses, read by priests in vestments of gold, are followed by the "kiss of peace" which the people give each other as an avowal of good will. Then the natives hurry home for the big banquet of the year. The feast includes boiled pig's head garnished with flowers, sausages full of garlic, and butter molded in the form of the Paschal lamb.

In Norway nearly everybody deserts the cities at Easter time to celebrate the passing of winter with a final week of skiing. Schools and offices are closed as whole families journey to the mountainsides.

In England the celebrations range from the distribution of 169 loaves of bread at Ufton court, Berkshire, to the dispensing of Maundy money at Westminister abbey and the hanging of the hot cross bun at the Widow's Son inn in London.

The Ufton court custom dates from 1583. The bread goes to the poor, and five yards of flannel and eleven yards of calico are given to each of nine persons.

On Maundy Thursday.

Maundy Thursday is observed with acts of humility, in memory of Christ's washing the feet of His disciples. In the early days the king would summon as many poor as he was years old, wash their feet, and then present them with money and clothing. Queen Elizabeth followed the practice so far as the gifts were concerned, but the foot washing was done by two members of her court. After the reign of James II. the foot washing was discontinued, but the money is still distributed. Last year Edward VIII. presented the gifts.

Tomorrow—if George VI. so decrees—the clergy and choir of Westminster abbey will pass in solemn procession while a yeoman of the guard, recruited from London tower and dressed in scarlet and gold, will bring in the dole. This dole consists of little purses, tied with red and white strings and carried in a large gilt dish. Minted in silver, the coins are prized by collectors.

On Good Friday the Widow's Son inn will display a single hot cross bun. The custom started in 1823, when the hostess of the inn, expecting her son home from the sea, baked some buns for him. He did not return that Good Friday, or thereafter. Each year she set out a bun to show that she still hoped for his safety.

Typical of celebrations in the hinterland of Latin America is that at Antigua, 25 miles from Guatemala City. There giant images of Judas are fashioned from straw, dressed in a fantastic combination of ancient and modern clothing and carried through the streets amid mocking and scoffing. On Good Friday the images are tortured and finally burned.

Statues Parade.

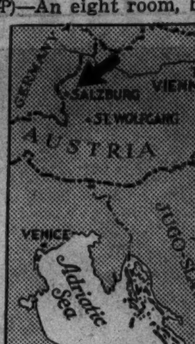
Both the white people and the Indians take part. The Indians turn out in their Sunday best—the women in huipils, skirts, and headdresses denoting the tribes to which they belong, and the men either in striped gowns resembling monks' robes or in shirts and shorts.

Statues associated with the Crucifixion are taken from the cathedral and borne on litters by chosen carriers. Men in black, with heads bowed low, bear the image of the Cristo, and women veiled in long black mantas carry the velvet clad figure of the Mother Mary. In their wake are long lines of worshipers mumbling prayers.

But while this doleful procession is winding its way through the streets, the marimberos are playing gay melodies, children are dancing in the parks, and lottery ticket sellers are crying their wares.

DUKE OF WINDSOR TO STAY FOR MONTH AT FARMHOUSE IN TYROL

SAINT WOLFGANG, Austria, March 23.—(AP)—An eight room, brick Tyrolian farm house, the Appesbach, in the picturesque Salzkammergut region near Salzburg, was being polished up today for the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of England. Unless the duke changes his mind, he will arrive here on Monday for a month's stay.



In an isolated section, the Appesbach, with its second story fitted out like a modern hotel, has its own tennis court near a golf course. It stands at the water's edge, where there is a dock for motorboats.

There are villages along the six mile stretch of Saint Wolfgang lake, hemmed in by cliffs and stately mountains.

Flying Hasenpfeffer Wins Divorce for Printer's Wife

Mrs. Isabelle Parsons Gaude, 34 years old, 2856 Cermak road, yesterday told Judge John C. Lewe in Superior court that her husband threw a rabbit at her. "A live rabbit?" asked the court. "No, hasenpfeffer," interpolated Mrs. Gaude's counsel, Norman Becker. Judge Lewe then granted her a divorce from Arthur Gaude, a printer. She waived alimony.

$50,000 VERDICT AGAINST ESTATE OF SIDNEY SMITH

Wendell Martin, 35 years old, of Watseka, was awarded $50,000 damages last night for injuries he suffered in the auto accident in which Robert Sidney Smith, newspaper cartonist, was killed on Oct. 20, 1935, near Harvard, in McHenry county.

The verdict was returned against executors of Smith's estate by a jury in the court of Judge John T. Cummings of Kewanee, sitting in Circuit court here. The award was for the exact amount asked by Martin in his suit.

Martin, driver of the car which collided with Smith's while both were going at high speed, incurred a broken jaw and broken hip in the crash. He testified that the accident was due to Smith's negligence.

'Average' Home Pays Dividends

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 23.—[Special.]—Herbert E. Pelton is an official of an auto agency in Los Angeles. Mr. Pelton lives at 844 Fifth avenue. His home was chosen at a rental of $100 for a day's shooting as the typical middle class home of America in the first of "The Jones Family" series of homey movie comedies by Twentieth Century Fox studio.

That first "Jones" picture proved so profitable that Fox studio never stopped making successors to it and never permitted members of the original cast headed by Jed Prouty and Spring Byington to take jobs at any other studio.

Nor did the studio feel it could vary its successful recipe and use any other American home because the Pelton place had "registered" so firmly with movie theater fans everywhere. So the studio has been paying the Peltons $100 a day on innumerable days ever since.

More than that, the studio always is bringing in pieces of new furniture, a rug or an icebox or something and installing them in the house where they then stay. The studio washes Pelton's windows, hangs new drapes, paints his walls, fixes his roof, puts in new sinks, heaters, and waxes his floors.

Studio gardeners put in hedges, shrubs, and flower beds which stay. Mr. Pelton laughs and says he guesses he will have to let the studio impose its contract on him to do all this.

The reader will doubtless say: Why doesn't Sol Wurtzel, the studio producer of "The Jones Family" films, buy this home instead of continuing the expense of renting it at $100 a day for numerous days?

Well, the Peltons are no dumber than the Joneses—they simply won't sell it.

Child Deserves His Share of Space in Home

Needs Playroom and Place to Put Toys.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Here we are again on the subject of letting our children enjoy the home in which they live. That they should do so, as much as any member of the family, is our contention. And that they can do so, without wrecking the place, was the statement with which we concluded yesterday's article.

This is all quite true. I have proved it myself. The most practical woman of my acquaintance announced the other day, "I'm not going to have that early Victorian sofa of mine done over until Son is older. It's his favorite roosting place."

It is unreasonable, if your children are very litlte, to have fragile ornaments on your lamp or coffee tables. Light rugs that spot easily don't belong in the room that gets most of the wear and tear. Upholstered furniture presents more of a problem than most things, because it is almost impossible to clean [in spite of claims to the contrary], and expensive to replace. So either we have to select attractive, yet sturdy, not too light coverings for sofas and chairs or always keep slip covers on them.

In addition, we should provide storage spaces for the children to keep their toys and clothes and velocipedes and kiddie cars and baseballs and doll carriages. We should provide, also, a place where they can draw and paint, or hammer and saw. If we can't, then we must be willing to have them do these things in the kitchen or on the porch and get their coöperation in cleaning up the mess.

It sounds like a lot of work! It isn't so much. But if it were, it would pay in the long run, because this is the sort of home in which a child loves to be. Having it makes him more intelligent, more contented, more independent.

Quest Gallery Shows Latest in Surrealism

Critic Says to Leave Your Mind at Home.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is nothing like variety to add spice to any subject and those who want to know the latest fad in painting that is sweeping the world may see in the Quest Art galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue, incredible examples of surrealism, the last word in modernism. The exhibit has just opened and will continue to April 15.

Many are the conundrums in paint which face us there. It is best to leave the intelligence at home, to park your brains with your car, and saunter through the show with a mind so open that anything and everything can slip in and out. For these pictures are like the wash of a sea, they swim at you and recede and come again and scarcely ever do they leave an imprint or impression except that somebody must be having a joke with some one [perhaps the world] and you hate to be left on the outside.

But according to Mr. Quest there are those who come to see the paintings who are in the know as to what all these grotesqueries portend. A certain pattern, which is cut out of a board and presents nothing except its obvious unimportant self to the spectator, has, according to Mr. Quest, been the recipient of amazing attention on the part of some of our art lovers. They stand open-mouthed looking at it. It seems to me there must be something of the goldfish in such persons, but I am probably wrong.

Then there is "Love," by Joan Miro, in which two impossible worms perform a chaste embrace, and there is a dark landscape by Max Ernst [one of THE names in surrealism] over which hangs a baseball, and there is an abstraction by Kotchar which reminds one of a sublimated cocktail, a horse's neck, if you can imagine the portrait of one.

Survage is present with an abstraction of which the recognizable portion is a girl in a mad rush. Hans Arp guards his meaning better and no one can tell what his production signifies. Dali is simple beside some of these other geniuses. His long spoon, with a handle going into infinity and the bowl of it sleekly bearing a tiny gold watch, is meticulously painted. But if you congratulate yourself on understanding this, he has another puzzler on the opposite wall, bathers that are ecstatically incomprehensible.

Dufy shows a blue house done in swing time. It is remarkably up to the minute; Lurcat inveigles gold fish into a bowl and leaves them stranded among extraneous matter; Marcoussis deals a hand of cards, but the pack was stacked. A few primitive paintings [the Bombois is really attractive] and one or two well handled still lifes of fruit [one by Gondouin and the other, "Peaches," by Tchelitchew] sober the exhibit down a bit. Except for them it is off on a rare, wild dream-dance and good painting as such might never have been attempted.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burnette of Evanston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marion, to Ralph Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Mack of 8030 Justine street. The wedding will take place in June following Mr. Mack's graduation from Northwestern university. Miss Burnette is a graduate of Roycemore and of Northwestern university.

Mrs. Pleda Hirst Jackson of 629 Waveland avenue has announced the engagement of her daughter, Joan Mary, to Claude Leland Cotharin Jr., son of Mrs. Helen Otto Cotharin of 4611 North Hermitage avenue. Miss Jackson is the granddaughter of the late John W. Hirst.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

REBIDS.

Chasing the Zone.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The general bidding situations which determine the proper zone of bidding and the opener's choice of rebids are as follows:

1. Minimum [part-score] zone.

Situation: The response were one no trump, a single raise, or a preemptive suit take-out. The opener has a minimum or near-minimum hand. This means that he could not remove an honor trick, or a card of the trump suit, from his hand and still have an opening bid.

Object: If the response were a single raise, pass, since the contract is a safe one. If the response were one no trump, pass with a balanced hand and no six card or longer suit. With a six card trump suit, rebid the suit. with an unbalanced hand show a second biddable suit if lower ranking than the first, or rebid a rebiddable suit; otherwise, pass. A preëmptive suit take-out always can be safely passed.

TODAY'S HAND.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: North and South, usually a fairly formidable team, failed to get together on this hand and a question of inferences arose.

North, dealer.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 clubs	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
Pass	Pass

"The result, which was a set of two tricks, is unimportant. North contends that the spade assistance should have been shown immediately, rather than the club void or ace, or after the three no trump bid South should realize the weakness of opening bid and bid four spades and quit fooling around, if South wanted a game bid in that suit.

"South stoutly maintains that his overcall of an opponent's bid after partner has opened is in reality two bids in one, carrying a strong inference of good support in partner's suit, as well as informing partner of his holding in opponent's bid suit, and is unconditionally forcing to a game contract. North suggests that game responsibility ceased at his three no trump bid. South maintains otherwise, and condemns North for passing his four diamond bid with a singleton four. General comment invited, but above all please advise us whether or not the immediate overcall of opponent's bid suit, following partner's opening bid, carries with it the inference of a fit in partner's suit, and ordinarily a safe refuge at game in that suit.

"Yours very truly, J. L. I."

In so far as bidding conventions go, South was absolutely right and North correspondingly wrong. South's overcall in the opponent's suit, after North had opened the bidding, would be an asking bid if North-South were using the asking bid system. Since they obviously were not doing so, the three club bid by South was a cue-bid showing, as South himself maintained, first round control, and at the same time strongly implying a good fit with the opening bid. Also [and here is the crux] the three club bid demanded that the bidding be kept open until a game was reached!

North's contention that he had followed orders and had kept the bidding open until game was reached in no trump is a childish quibble with the super-obvious intention of the convention. The fact that game had been reached at three no trump is unimportant. The four diamond bid that followed brought the auction back to a less-than-game level. Logically, it thereupon devolved upon North to keep the bidding open again until game had been finally reached!

As to the merits of South's three club bid, that is another question. He did not have the honor trick value for such a strong bid, and should have contented himself with a direct raise of spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Interest High in Badminton Tourney Here

Out of Town Visitors to See Matches.

BY JUDITH CASS.

REQUESTS for boxes for the first national badminton tournament to be held here next week have indicated that the tournament will be national even in regard to the spectators, many of whom, including Leander McCormick-Goodhart and Walter Rysam Jones, will come from other parts of the country.

Interest in the benefit planned by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society for April 30 at the Lake Shore Athletic club has increased with the announcement that Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, will give an exhibition boxing match at the party. An opponent has not been selected.

The boxing match will be held late in the afternoon so that business men may leave their offices only a few minutes earlier than usual and attend the bout.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., chairman for the party, and her committee have emphasized entertainment for men in planning the party.

The presence of Mr. McCormick-Goodhart and Mr. Jones on the final night of the badminton tournament scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday next week at the Naval Reserve armory in Grant Park is of especial interest, for each will bring a silver cup to be awarded that night.

Mr. McCormick-Goodhart's cup will go to the winners of the men's doubles championships, and that of Mr. Jones will be given the winner of the men's singles event. Mr. McCormick-Goodhart, who is connected with the British embassy in Washington, D. C., will be welcomed by all of the large McCormick clan, most of whom have not seen him since the wedding of Janet Ayer to Ross J. Beatty Jr. last September, at which his niece, Mrs. James McMillan Gibson [Patsy McCormick-Goodhart] was a bridesmaid.

Mr. Jones' cup will be given in memory of Bayard Clarke and E. Langdon Wilks, founders of the New York Badminton club, which is the oldest such club in the world, dating from 1877. On its membership rolls are the names of many distinguished New York families.

Also coming from out of town for the matches are Robert J. Elder of Dayton, O., and J. W. McIllwraith of Newcastle, Pa. Also listed among the boxholders for the night of April 3 are Gen. Charles G. Dawes, James Lawrence Houghteling, Ernest S. Ballard, George B. Dryden, W. Burton Ellis, whose wife is chairman of the affair; Robert C. Fenner, and Arlington C. Harvey.

French Ambassador to Speak at Dinner.

The France-America Society of Chicago has issued invitations to a dinner at 8 o'clock on April 7 at the Blackstone hotel for Georges Bonnet, ambassador of France to the United States and the Robert Cavelier de La Salle mission.

Tentative plans for the evening include a talk by Mayor Kelly, welcoming the ambassador and the members of the mission, and by André Chevrillon, president of the mission. Gov. Horner will speak on "La Salle, the Discoverer," and M. Bonnet will conclude the program. The mission will visit the central states next month in commemoration of the 250th anniversary of the death of La Salle.

Eastertime—Pun—O'Berlin—Note.

A MAN-SIZE pale yellow Easter rabbit strolled about the toy section; in the record department some one was playing Bach's "Passion According to St. Mathew," and behind the scenes on the sixth floor several dozen pretty fashion models were donning the latest imports and copies for the spring fashion show. Molyneux's black silk taffeta coat over a black wool dress . . . Alix's bracelet dress of prune colored silk jersey with bracelets on rubber bands that pushed up over the shoulders . . . La Chasse of London's handsome plaid wool jacket, scarlet, green, and purple over a tweed skirt flecked with the same colors . . . Rochas' striped chiffon evening dress, as multicolored as confetti . . . and with a jeweled belt.

"Ready, girls?" called the blonde, pretty and authoritative young woman in charge of the show. "Now don't forget who you are. As you pass by the table say what you're wearing; say it quietly and informally. Does every girl here know who she is and what the material is?"

"I can't remember my first name, Mrs. Ashby," called a blonde girl, puckering her brow in the effort to remember it.

"Digby," answered Mrs. Ashby. "You're a Digby Morton. Now please carry the accessories picked out for your costumes. All right, girls, the show is on."

AS they jauntily passed through the opened doors your scribe hastily noted the current nonsense . . . Schiaparelli's umbrella dress, the jacket buttoned with little closed umbrellas, colored umbrellas on the print of the blouse. . . . The same designer's "gamekeeper's" bag of black lether, strapped over the shoulder . . . Rochas' white organdy tea gown, looking like something out of "Camille"—"nuptial white organdy" the tag read . . . Schiaparelli's dinner dresses ten inches from the floor, one black taffeta, one in printed piqué, gay and casual as a beach dress . . . Molyneux's enveloping satin dominoes for evening wraps. I'm surprised some American designer hasn't turned out a little Supreme court robe in black for a 1937 evening wrap style.

Good Morning!

He was a district attorney
Who rebelled at chican-er-y.
In anger he threw up his job and
A down and out bum became he.
But just for awhile. He changed tactics
And engaged in crim-i-nal law
Became an underworld lawyer
Defended deeds rough, tough and raw
TILL—the love of a good little woman
And a wrong to a boy whom he knew
Brought the moolvee [look it up—it's a good ol' Mohammedan word] back to his senses
And set him a-re-penting, too.
And those he'd so ably defended
While they pursued ne-far-i-ous bents
Awakened to find their adviser
On the opposite side of the fence. . .
And great was the crooks' consternation
Great the joy of Vic's sweet little spouse
For it's nice when a woman's husband
Proves a man instead of a louse.
The auto thievery racket
Is dealt with in this release
Which is peopled with knavish gunmen,
Their foils and, of course, the p'lice.
The acting is all convincing
The story's punch strikes home.

Stamps Picturing Confederate Heroes Are Placed on Sale

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Yankees and Johnny Rebs vied with each other today to buy portraits of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Lee's picture cost 4 cents—that being the denomination of a new army commemorative stamp on sale here today for the first time. Another southern hero, Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson, also was depicted on the army stamp.

An issue honoring naval heroes portrayed Admirals George Dewey, "hero of Manila Bay," William T. Sampson and William S. Schley. Sampson and Schley participated in the battle of Santiago.

The stamps will go on sale elsewhere in the country tomorrow. Lee and Jackson are pictured in their confederate uniforms.

Georgia and South Carolina legislatures recently protested sale of 3 cent stamps commemorating Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, but Roy M. North, deputy third assistant postmaster general, said tonight nobody had protested sale of the Lee-Jackson stamps. The sale here was reported "heavy."

Sturdy German Music Pleases Symphony Fans

Bach, Beethoven, Wagner Fill Program.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Let us pause this morning to drop a tear or two over the fate of any one cold to German art who was so ill advised as to drop in at yesterday afternoon's concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Bach, Beethoven and Wagner filled the program, and the entire performance deepened the suspicion that this orchestra is nearer the German ideal than almost any group to be found within the boundaries of the Reich itself.

On the conductor's stand was Hans Lange, certainly no stranger to Teutonic musical traditions and one of the last men who could justly be called a frantic colorist.

In a Bach sinfonia, Beethoven's "Eroica," and the prefaces to Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," "Lohengrin" and "Tannhäuser," there were apparent the simplicity, sturdiness, roundness and power characteristic of the German type orchestra at its best. Apparent, too [and this is where the tears for our hypothetical visitor come in], a love for a rousing forte and for plain, staple colors together with a complementary distrust of oversubtlety.

After calling for tears, the writer is compelled to admit that he cannot squeeze out a single one. The reason may be that he is subject to fainting fits at the determination of some directors to go dredging deep in the score for some incidental utterance. Then to bring it to the surface, highlight it, and ask an audience to believe that no one before them was divining enough to surprise the composer's real intention.

Healthy directness is better than such goings on, and yesterday's healthy directness was as apparent in the treatment of tempo and rhythm as of color. The epic line typical of Bach, Beethoven and Wagner at their greatest was not compromised by any unauthorized stoppings and startings. When an authorized change of pace came along [just before the "Eroica's" coda, for instance] the effect was overwhelmingly beautiful.

This just about finishes up the Tuesday series. The final concert is scheduled for April 13, with Albert Spalding as violin soloist.

Under the auspices of the Aid to Spanish Democracy, a recital will be given at the Steuben club next Saturday evening by Allan Grant and Bertha Ostrar, pianists, and Jerome Beryl Wechsler, bass. The program starts at 9 .

Here's Smart Outfit for Spring Wear

From a Chicago shop. One of the newest daytime dresses for early spring. Worn now under a dark wool coat and later with crisp white accessories it makes one of the smartest spring outfits. This model is made of brown and white huge plaided silk taffeta, with short sleeves and a flared skirt, and is trimmed with covered buttons at the front. The black straw hat has the large poppies perched at the tiptop; they are of gold silk with dark centers to harmonize with the brown and white of the silk.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Viewing the little fashion show flown out by American Air Lines and presented to the press at the Blackstone hotel, the smart models posturing in the lovely clothes the New York women indorsed as high fashion all wore a makeup described as "dewy." It's tremendously attractive because, to our conservative eyes, it's naturalness glorified to just the well-bred degree. Too much glorification in the cold daylight always seems to us to miss its own mark.

The makeup base that encourages that precious dewy effect is a creamy lotion, milky and cucumber scented. It feels delightfully fresh and cool on the skin; it also makes the skin itself feel moist beneath the makeup. It's a simple base to use; you don't have to be expert to apply it properly. Powder clings beautifully over it, but not in a masklike coat.

The makers of this unusual foundation lotion have an exquisite face powder, in a range of six shades, that is used in conjunction with it. The base enhances the beauty of the powder tints—which are so handsome anyway they hardly need enhancement—and permits the powders to film the skin in the most flattering fashion.

The stand-out of the "dewy" makeups was one in tropical tones, which was perfectly thrilling worn by a brunette in a costume of copper and brown colors. We dislike the dark makeup that's obviously phony, but this was not. The tropical shade of powder was perfect—and the lipstick and rouge didn't wander too far afield from the natural tones of red.

You'll find this creamy makeup base and the powders all over town; if we remember correctly you'll find them specially boxed and priced this month. And they're not expensive; you can try them out to get the best effect for your spring face.

Prints, Plaids Make Season a Bright One

Newest Housecoats Join Blossom Parade.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Record breaking sales of prints and plaids will make fashion history this spring. Printed silk dresses are staging riotous appearances with or without a dull wool coat, and in redingote ensembles. Printed blouses in linen, challis, silks and cottons are here for slim street suits. Printed housecoats, ablaze with blossoms in all kinds of colors and green leaves, are the newest finds for indoor lounging. And even the newest springtime bedjackets are made of rose patterned soft wool challis with a quilted lining.

Nothing can equal this printed challis for good looking spring clothes. The rosy red blossoms, whether small or large, are devastating against creamy white or black backgrounds. The dresses for evening wear are especially attractive but the long house coats, either full of skirt or in the long slinky models with the front zipper, are super siren stuff for an early spring morning.

The house coats in plaids come in shiny chintz and other cool cottons. The black and dark backgrounds are the smartest with gay color contrast. They're crisp, refreshingly different, after silks and satins. Short sleeves, and small neat waistlines accent quaintly full fashioned skirts.

Circular cut skirts in flowered silk crêpe make other appealing new spring negligees, and flutter with long velvet ribbon sash belts and dozens of bows in contrasting color. Taffeta house coats in both floral prints and plaids, are peak attractions these days, with amazingly low price tags for such fresh spring beauty.

Fashion photograph . . . outside plaid silk taffeta in brown and white or in red and white. Nothing is added to spoil the huge pattern and the stunning color contrast. Covered buttons march down the front of the blouse while the unusual pointed collar can be worn high or low. The flare in the very brief sleeves is repeated in the simply cut skirt. A tiny black straw hat is trimmed with golden silk poppies to contrast with the brown tone in the plaid silk of the dress. The entire costume is available in a Chicago shop.

TRUTH TO TELL

By Alice Grant Rosman

[Copyright: 1937: By Alice Grant Rosman.]

SYNOPSIS.

Malcolm and Susan Dubenny's parents died in a flu epidemic during the war. Susan was taken by her mother's parents, the Somervilles. Mrs. Somerville refused the boy in hatred of his father, who had eloped with her daughter. Malcolm went to live with his Aunt Lorna and Uncle Hugh Lowell, his father's half-brother. Now 15, Malcolm has not seen his little sister for nine years and longs to meet her. He sets off on his bike on a secret mission to Crofter's End, the Somerville estate. In the woods of the estate the children meet. Susan denies she has a brother. Deeply hurt Malcolm leaves.

INSTALMENT IX.

A VISITOR.

The circle of the little girl at Crofter's End was necessarily limited, though she did not know it, having few standards of comparison. Mrs. Somerville's complacent picture of Sue in her mother's place as a daughter of the house omitted two important factors—time and change.

Depression had driven most of the old families out of the district; their estates had been sold to the new rich, cut up into building lots or turned into boarding schools. Isabel's generation had married or gone away to live gayer though possibly harder lives, to bring up modern families who had to be sent to boarding school and prepared for careers. Few of them had any touch now with Crofter's End. Such as returned to visit parents in the neighborhood and encountered Isabel's daughter were frankly sorry for her.

"I don't see that Mrs. Somerville made such a success of bringing up a daughter that she should want to repeat the experiment," they would remark caustically when the reason for the child's name was whispered to them, "and they will have to tell her she is Sue Dubenny eventually. I can see no point in it, to say nothing of the reflection on Isabel. Any one would suppose she wasn't married to the man."

"Hush, darling," the elders would explain, deploring the looseness of modern conversation. "And, besides, it is no business of ours. The Somervilles no doubt have their reasons."

Sometimes the visitor would end by inviting Isabel's daughter to come and stay with her own Shirley or George, or whoever it might be, but these suggestions never came to anything.

Sue must be kept at her lessons. Education was so important, or, if it chanced to be holiday time, her granny could not spare her.

Sue moved for the most part confidently through the world and with nothing to tell her that she saw it nearly always out of focus.

The Somervilles no longer had a house in town, but lived quietly, entertaining little. Servants came and went, not faithfully permanent as of old, and fewer in number. It was, no doubt, partly due to this isolation that so far Sue had never heard the name Dubenny or been given any surreptitious hint other than the boy Malcolm's that Somerville was not her name.

Yet, after the manner of orphans, whose very condition sets them apart as peculiar among their fellows, she was curious about her parents, and, because of the complete silence on the subject, there had grown up at the back of her mind a vague disquiet which at odd moments pierced the shell of her self-confidence.

The careless questions of occasional playfellows had begun it perhaps: "Did your mother die when you were born, Sue? What was your father's name? Was he killed in the war?" Sue had very soon learned that ignorance of these matters was too odd to be admitted, and, finding no one willing to enlighten her [for granny merely wept], was drawn to counter them with invention or a brusque change of subject. Invention might have won the day but for her maiden effort at 9 years old.

Sue had decided that her mother had died long before she was born. This seemed not only satisfactorily important but reasonable, as nobody had ever seen her that she could find out, and she had tried the story on her governess, a serious young woman who forthwith gave her an elementary lesson in biology.

The almost instant dismissal of the governess had been less due to her up to date views than her request to Mrs. Somerville for information about Sue's parents in order that she might answer any further questions intelligently.

This kind of intelligence was by no means what was required of her, and her successors were informed that their pupil's parents were dead and conversation on the subject to be strictly discouraged.

"I am sure you will agree with us, my dear," she would say to the governess of the moment with her most charming smile, creating the instant impression that she was an enlightened grandmother.

So Sue gave up inventing stories about her mother, for public consumption at least, and locked the subject away, becoming the more vulnerable, therefore, to the revelation which must inevitably come.

. . . .

That winter there came to Crofter's End and briefly into the little girl's life a new acquaintance, her great-aunt, Alison Loftus.

Admiral Loftus had, since his retirement from the navy soon after the war, been governor of one or other of the colonial islands, and only in England once on leave. The news that he and Mrs. Loftus would reach home a few days after Christmas determined Jonathan Somerville to go to town to meet them, his wife's arguments notwithstanding. Alison was his only sister, and he was much attached to her.

Sue, judging her by grandfather, felt little interest in this unknown great-aunt, and granny's vivacious reference to her confirmed the impression that she must be a very dull old lady, to say the least of it.

"Poor Alison, she has been buried alive in these outlandish places for years; it will be quite a change for her to return to civilization," said granny. "She was as thin as a lathe last time she came home, I remember, and a most unhealthy color. As yellow as mustard, poor creature. And, of course, she is getting on in years."

Sue, glad that this strange individual did not live at Crofter's End, set herself to enjoy the preparations for the village Christmas treat.

When, however, a note from her grandfather announced that his sister would come with him on a visit to Crofter's End Sue was utterly dismayed. The presence of this yellow faced old lady would simply mean that she would never have granny to herself for the rest of the holidays.

Granny was not pleased about it either. How was it, she asked plaintively, that menfolk were so thoughtless about household matters? Did Susan's grandfather suppose that she was not already worn out by all the worry and preparation for Christmas without having to entertain a visitor at a moment's notice?

"Couldn't you write and ask him not to bring her, granny?" suggested Sue eagerly.

"Certainly not, child. It is a wife's duty to do as her husband desires at whatever cost to her own feelings."

This was an entirely new idea to Sue. It struck her as a most unfair arrangement and did not increase her affection for her grandfather.

The household was soon in a state of excitement, preparing, one would have supposed, for an invasion rather than a solitary guest just returned from savage regions. As soon as Ella and the maids had been given orders and counterorders until they were thoroughly imbued with the importance of the occasion and beginning to rush in all directions, Sue was called to help Mrs. Somerville inspect her wardrobe.

Mrs. Somerville permitted her discerning young granddaughter to choose the gowns she should wear to impress Aunt Alison, saying that she had excellent taste.

"You get it from me, Sue, undoubtedly. I have always known what to wear, and every woman, my dear, should be careful in these matters whether she be young or old. Take pattern by granny, darling, and you will not go far wrong."

It is to be feared that Sue believed her.

War Veteran Writes Short Novel Without Use of Letter "E"

Los Angeles, March 23.—(AP)—A man at the National Military home has written a short novel, 50,110 words, without using a single "e," the most-used letter in English. He tied down the "e" bar on his typewriter.

The author is sharp-eyed Ernest Vincent Wright, 66, a musician in the world war, and a Massachusetts Institute of Technology graduate of '89.

Wright is a white-whiskered Bostonian. He said he wrote the story in five months, after reading that the letter "e" occurs five times more than any other.

Another Wednesday brings around our weekly consideration of the busy woman in business and her evening meal at home. This, by the way, will be the last meatless Wednesday menu for quite some time, since the period of Lent is almost over.

I shall welcome any suggestions from readers about how to make this column more useful and usable to the working woman who prepares her own dinners. Any comments, one way or another, will be appreciated.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S MENU
Orange and Pineapple Juice Cocktail
Baked Macaroni and Cheese
Stewed Tomatoes
Cabbage-Carrot-Green Pepper Slaw
Cornmeal Muffins [Prepared Mix]
Jam
Strawberries and Cream
Coffee

Strawberries and cream may be a too expensive dessert if the business woman's family numbers more than three. In that case I would substitute any convenient fruit sauce, fresh or canned. A dried fruit compote would be appetizing. In case dried fruit is used it should be started to cook as soon as you arrive home from the office, for it will require about 40 minutes of slow cooking in water. No longer is it thought necessary or even advisable to soak dried fruit for a long period before it is cooked.

The manufacturer of a good prepared cornmeal muffin mix also has a good bran mix and a spiced muffin mix. It is necessary only to add milk [and an egg, if you like] to the mixture before it goes into the muffin tins. This product is a good bet for the emergency shelf.

A well known cheesemaker is advertising packaged macaroni and cheese which takes only a few minutes to prepare for the table. But macaroni and cheese is not a difficult dish to prepare starting from the beginning. The macaroni will require about 20 minutes of boiling to reach the tender stage and, after that, 15 minutes in the oven with the cheese and sauce will make the dish ready for the table.

Macaroni and Cheese.

[Casserole Dish.]

1 cup broken macaroni
1½ quarts water
1 tablespoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1⅓ cups milk
¾ cup grated cheese

Cook the macaroni until tender in the water to which the tablespoon of salt has been added. Drain and pour over it the cheese sauce made from the rest of the ingredients. To make the sauce, blend the butter and flour, add seasonings, and add the milk gradually, over a low burner. Cook the sauce until smooth and thickened. Add the cheese last. Place the mixture in a buttered casserole, sprinkle more cheese or buttered crums over the top, and brown for 15 minutes in a hot oven [425 degrees].

Golden Wedding.

Logansport, Ind., March 23.—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Steely, 73 and 71 years old, respectively, observed their golden wedding at their farm home near here today.

The Clean, Gentle Way to clear mucus from STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS

Which is the more pleasant way to clear up the accumulated mucus in your nostrils? To keep on blowing into your handkerchief until your nose is sore? Or to insert a pleasant, soothing ointment that gently breaks up the obstructing mucus?

Surely you prefer the latter, and that is why you should always use Mentholatum. It not only breaks up the mucus and enables you to breathe more freely, but also soothes the irritated membranes.

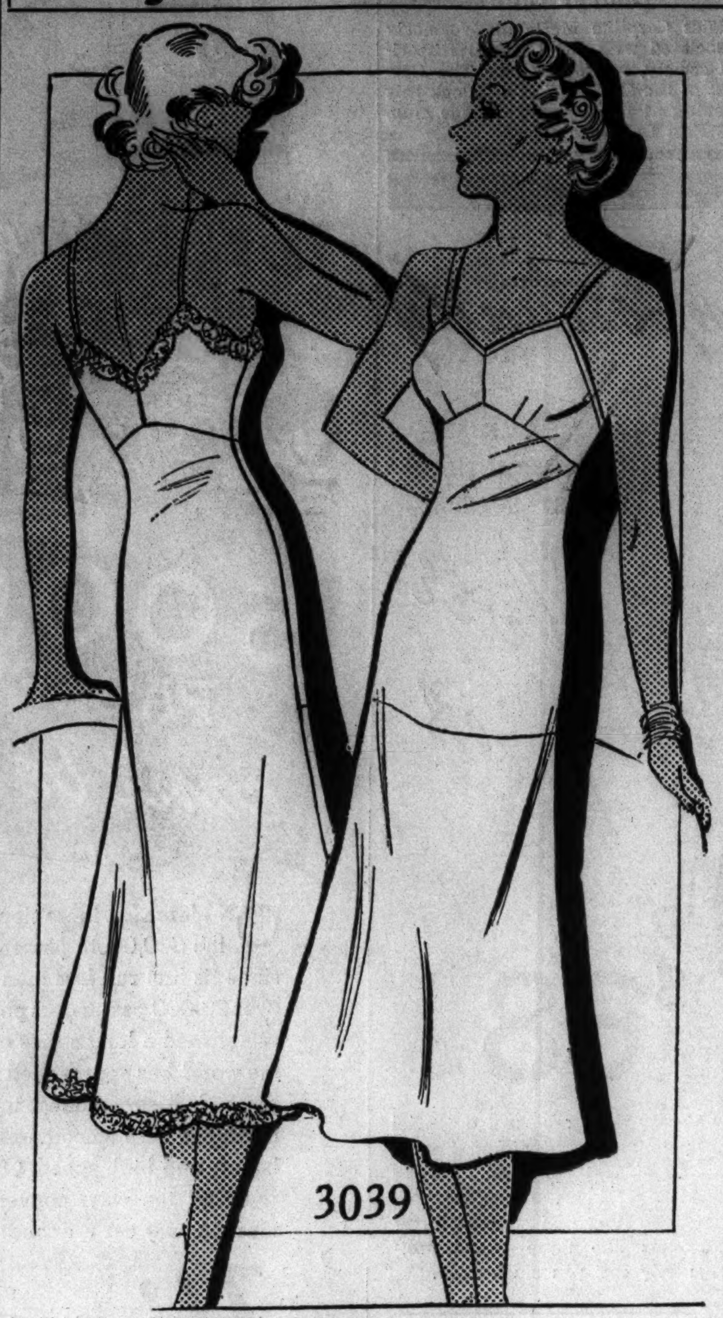
Lingerie for Fitted Frocks



MISS' PRINCESS SLIP.

Your new and flared silhouette frocks offer a special problem in lingerie. The slips you wear with these dresses must have slim and fitted lines and yet be designed for comfort and long wear. We think the one-piece slip illustrated today is "just the ticket." From the waist to below the hips the garment is fitted snugly, but the pattern provides ample width below the knee. The fitted brassiere top is "uplift" in its lines, thus preserving the contour of the silhouette for current fashion prescriptions. The garment has a shadow panel, too, a factor which is decidedly important.

The slip may be extremely tailored or be decked out in lace edging in the truly feminine manner. This garment is not difficult to make, nor is it expensive. You should be able to afford several. All lingerie silks and cottons are suitable. The shoulder straps may be of self-material or of lingerie ribbon. Don't forget the values offered by the remnant counters.

Style No. 3039 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with 1½ yards of binding for the top of the slip, in case you select the tailored version.

The Incessant Talker Ruins Her Chances to Be a Real Charmer

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A discussion on charm, as it is being so widely discussed today, brought forth this response.

"The trouble with women is that they talk too much. I speak more of the single women. The married ones have been trained in keeping quiet while their husbands hold the floor. But single women with no one to curb them should be forced into marriage for no other reason than to make them listen once in a while!"

Are single women greater talkers than the married onces? You answer it from your own experience. My opinion is that we women are equally inclined to let the tongue overexercise. Perhaps a man around every minute would be the only antidote.

What really was meant by the single woman is the so-called "career" type who narrows her social contact so that when she does get a chance to talk to some one, she overdoes it.

Do you think that the woman who lives alone is more a victim of her ceaseless chattering than are other types? It has been said that she is. But the answer to that is neither here nor there. Plainly, it is not a charming thing in women to talk a blue streak and keep on talking.

In the lives of certain women today there is a reflection of their high-tension living in this excess talking habit. The remedy is to cultivate calm. This can be done only by checking ourselves over every now and then to see what nervous habit or habits we are acquiring. The excess chattering definitly is a nervous habit. It's a nervous habit that presently becomes a grownup vice. Like another well advertised objection, no one will tell the victim of her sin. She has to find it out for herself, unless she recognizes, in her social ostracism, a cue to the trouble.

But calm, an enforced calm, if need be, will keep one from becoming the conversational blue streak who, obviously is not on men's lists of charming women.

Two Programs of Note on Air Next Summer

W-G-N-Mutual Shows Start in April.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

In other years spring has been the time when radio shows fold up for the summer. This season things are different. W-G-N—Mutual yesterday announced plans for two pretentious new sponsored programs to be launched on Sunday, April 18 and April 25 respectively. The first, to be heard from 5:30 to 6 p. m., will feature Tim Ryan and Irene Noblette, Bunny Berrigan, trumpeter and bandmaster, and Del Sharbutt as master of ceremonies in a streamlined variety show entitled "Fun in Swingtime." Tim and Irene last summer took over Jack Benny's program while he vacationed. This show will be aired over the coast to coast facilities of Mutual.

The second new Sunday show will be entitled "Your Parlor Playhouse." A musical-dramatic variety hour, it is patterned a bit after a vaudeville bill, with an overture, news reel, comedy, music, songs, and drama. Show is to be aired from 8:45 to 9:15 p. m., possibly before a W-G-N studio audience

Musical talent will include Rowena Williams, soprano; Irving Margraff and orchestra; Helen Morton and Alice Musmanno, double piano team, and the Lovely Lady Serenaders, a male quartet. The dramatic lineup includes H. Lester Tremayne, Forrest Lewis, Jeane Juvelier, and Jeannne DeLee, with Harlow Wilcox as master of ceremonies.

"Bet Your Life," a new comedy by Fritz Blocki, Chicago radio writer, and Willie Howard is to have its première next week on Broadway with Lulu McConnell and Lew Hearn, comedians who have been heard on the air from time to time, as the headliners. Willie and Eugene Howard, by the way, will be back on the air this spring on Broadway Merry Go Round when Beatrice Lillie leaves the program.

NBC is giving Paul Whiteman a radio birthday party tonight—or rather Whiteman is giving radio listeners a half hour concert on his birthday. The dean of modern music will direct his own orchestra in combination with the NBC Symphony from 8:30 to 9 p. m. over WENR. On April 9 Whiteman's crew opens at the Drake and over W-G-N-Mutual.

Radio listeners in Chicagoland appear to oppose President Roosevelt's plans to reorganize the judiciary by a ratio of 3 to 1. WJJD has been polling its listeners and to date has 796 replies favoring the plan and 2,184 against it. In Chicago, however, the ratio was only 5 to 3 against the plan.

Maurie Sherman's orchestra has supplanted Charlie Agnew on one bandstand at the Casino Parisienne. Lou Breese continues on the other and both are aired via NBC.

Betty Jaynes, Chicago opera starlet, is to appear on the Bing Crosby show tomorrow night. Other concert artists will take part later—Ernest Schelling, Kathryn Meisle, Percy Grainger, Rose Bampton, and Grete Stueckgold.

3 GREAT HAM DEVELOPMENTS
✓ Wilson's original Tender Made Ham. Bone in—ready to serve or just heat and eat.
✓ Wilson's Tender Made Ham Boneless in tins, cooked and ready to eat.
✓ Wilson's Tender Extra Mild Certified Smoked Ham. Must be cooked before serving.

WE SUGGEST THIS RECIPE
Place a whole Wilson's Tender Extra Mild Ham in roaster, fat side up; add one cup of water. Bake for 16 minutes to the pound in oven 350° F. Take Ham from oven, score fat with knife; sprinkle with cup of sugar; dot with cloves. Return to hot oven, about 400° F. to brown. You may use fruit garnish in place of cloves if you prefer. Allow three minutes to the pound longer when cooking a half Ham.

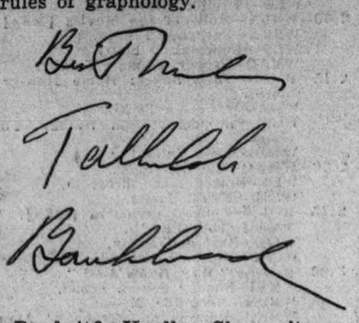
Miss Bankhead Discloses Tact in Handwriting

Swift Mentality Seen in Fast Penmanship.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Tallulah Bankhead does credit to her glamorous name, according to the rules of graphology.



Read it? Hardly. She writes so fast and so illegibly that it is almost impossible to distinguish anything but the capitals. As you know, this is an indication of a swift mentality.

Those sweeping, high capitals reveal self-confidence and ambition. Notice the connecting link in "Best Wishes." The sign of stubbornness and executive ability.

The many indications of diplomacy in this handwriting are especially noteworthy. If Miss Bankhead were a boy instead of a girl she would undoubtedly follow in her father's footsteps with great success, probably becoming an official diplomat instead of the charming unofficial one that she really is, according to her success abroad.

For diplomacy notice the word "Wishes." The end of the word dwindles away into nothing at all. It is practically impossible to know what such a writer is thinking and meaning. Imagination and suavity and tact throw a smoke-screen around the true inward personality. Sometimes an exceedingly attractive maneuver, as in the case of Tallulah Bankhead!

The u-shaped n once again emphasizes the charm and cleverness of an interesting sample of handwriting. It is another indication of suavity and tact or, in other words, "diplomacy."

The very spontaneous slant of Miss Bankhead's writing, combined with her extra tall capitals, makes me wonder if this "diplomatic smoke-screen" isn't a defense mechanism to guard her ultrasensitiveness. Does it surprise you that underneath all her glamor Miss Bankhead's feelings can be very easily hurt? Clever writers are so often contradictory in their tendencies. So, in fact, are most of us. It helps us to keep our balance.

Paducah Peony.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Paducah Peony" is an old pieced block first made in Kentucky in 1849. For a while it enjoyed great popularity, but its star began to wane and it was relegated to dim and dusty corners. Recently an old coverlet was brought to light in Indiana and recognized by a great grandmother as one of her mother's favorite patterns. Since its return to circulation it has been the same favorite it was when it first was pieced. The block is large, measuring 15 inches square. The entire quilt is composed of these blocks set together with two and one-half inch bands of white and surrounded by a two and one-half inch border and one-half inch bias binding.

NEW YORK BOXERS BATTLE CHICAGO TONIGHT

ILLINOIS SENATE VOTES $10 LIMIT ON FIGHT TICKETS

ACTION AIMED AT BRADDOCK, LOUIS MATCH

Solons Rally Behind Maypole.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—By a vote of 36 to 0, the state senate tonight passed the Mendel bill limiting the maximum price for prize fight tickets in Illinois to $10. It was designed especially to apply to the proposed Joe Louis-Braddock fight in Chicago on June 22 and, having obtained a two-thirds vote, would be effective immediately, provided the house took similar action and Gov. Henry Horner signed the bill.

George Maypole.

Senator George M. Maypole [D., Chicago], president pro tempore of the senate, was given credit for passage of the bill by reading correspondence he had exchanged with Joe Foley, Chicago promoter. The fact that his letter to Foley asking for 110 tickets for the fight for the senate was published aroused Maypole's ire.

Maypole Is Irked.

"The implication was cast that this request constituted an attempted shakedown for tickets," Maypole said. "What I wrote was that we would like to have 110 tickets set aside for us and a reasonable time to exercise our option on them. I asked for preferred seats and why not? Who wants to attend a prize fight and not be able to see the ring?

"This was a reflection upon the senate," Maypole continued. "And now they are saying that they don't care whether the bill is passed by the legislature. They say that it will be vetoed by Gov. Horner. I don't believe that. I don't believe the governor would say to the people of Illinois that they should have to pay more than $10 a seat for any prize fight."

Foley Guarantees Satisfaction.

In his letter Maypole told Foley a number of members of the senate had asked him to inquire about tickets for the Louis-Braddock fight and that, in his capacity as senate leader, he was asking that the bloc of 110 seats be held in the senate's name.

Foley's reply included the following:

"I will be only too glad to cooperate with you in this matter. Rest assured that you will be taken care of to your satisfaction."

Slamming the letters upon his desk, Maypole said with considerable warmth: "Those promoting this fight are in bad repute in New York and have had much to do with muscle work down there. One of Mike Jacobs' representatives was mixed up in a fixed fight in a southern city not long ago and there has been no denial of it.

"Jacobs is the gentleman who has made scalping the most profitable business in the United States and he is the gentleman who is promoting this fight.

"Senator Joseph Mendel's bill should be passed. It is impossible to conceive that the patrons at any fight should be asked to pay more than $10."

An Amateur Speaks Up.

Immediate aid came from Senator William J. Connors [D., Chicago], who said "there is no reason why dirty New York linen should be washed in Illinois."

"I was in the game myself, as an amateur," remarked Senator Peter P. Kielminsi [D., Chicago], "and I had to pay $40 for a seat at the Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1927. As far as this Braddock-Louis fight is concerned, I think we could see a better one anywhere else for $2."

The roll was called and the bill passed without opposition. Senator Richey V. Graham [D., Cicero] voted present.

"This ends my correspondence with Joe Foley," Maypole remarked as the vote was announced.

Chairman Joseph Triner of the Illinois athletic commission was reported to be aroused over the senate's action and is expected to fight the bill in the house. Triner was said to have been on the telephone from Chicago shortly after the bill was passed, showing his irritation in strong language.

No House Sponsors.

It had not been decided late tonight who in the house of representatives will be asked to handle the bill. The job there will be to obtain 102

RED WINGS WHIP CANADIENS, 4-0, IN PLAYOFF OPENER

Maroons Beat Boston; Rangers Win.

Detroit, Mich., March 23.—(AP)—Detroit Red Wings opened defense of their National Hocky league championship with a 4 to 0 victory over Montreal's Canadiens before 12,495 tonight in the first game of a three out of five series.

The high scoring first line of the Red Wings, with Hec Kilrea filling in for the injured Larry Aurie, scored all the goals. The Detroit defense repeatedly broke up Canadien plays at the blue line, and Normie Smith, Vezina trophy winner, turned in a brilliant performance in the nets.

Barry Sets 'Em Up.

Center Marty Barry scored assists on all the Detroit goals, while the veteran Kilrea drove home two goals in the third period to clinch the Wings' victory.

Herbie Lewis, in addition to covering Johnny Gagnon closely, passed to Ebbie Goodfellow for the first Detroit goal at 5:21 of the first period, then scored the second marker three minutes before the second period ended.

Meet Again Thursday.

The teams meet here again Thursday night, then move to Montreal for the rest of the series.

MAROONS, 4; BRUINS, 1

MONTREAL, March 23.—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons battered the Boston Bruins into submission, 4 to 1, tonight in the opening game of the playoff series between the teams that finished second. The series is played on a 2 out of 3 game basis, with the remaining contests scheduled for Boston Thursday and Sunday.

Carl Voss scored his first goal of the season at 13:56 of the opening period to send the Maroons into the lead, and they were never headed. Baldy Northcott got the second Maroon goal in the second period, while Allen Shields was in the penalty box.

Ray Getliffe scored the only Boston marker, at 6:34 of the third period. The Bruins then tried gang attacks in an effort to tie the score, but twice they boomeranged, Bob Gracie and Herb Cain each breaking away to beat Goalie Tiny Thompson. Lineups:

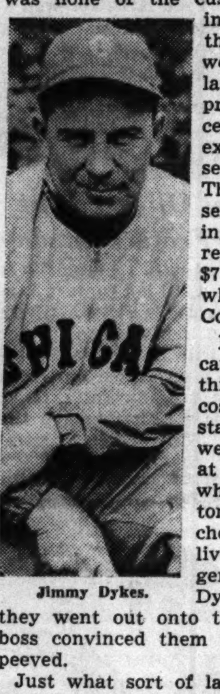
Sox Serious at Last; Play Pirates Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 23.—There was none of the customary clowning today while the White Sox were taking their last exercises prior to six successive days of exhibiting themselves elsewhere. The boys were serious about doing something in return for their $7 per day board which J. Louis Comiskey pays.



Jimmy Dykes.

It wasn't because they were thinking of the cost of their stabling. They were stimulated, at least those who needed a tonic, by a few choice words delivered by Manager James J. Dykes before they went out onto the field. The boss convinced them he really was peeved.

Just what sort of language Dykes used in the secret clubhouse session he refused to say. He admitted only that he had popped off plenty about leisurely conduct. But a couple of the fellows who knew they weren't charged with anything didn't mind talking out of school.

It seems that Dykes mentioned Zeke Bonura, Steve Mesner, and some of the pitchers. Vernon Kennedy was included in the latter batch because he experimented with some new tricks while operating on the Angels in Sunday's game at Ontario.

Hardest Workout of Session.

Along with having their mentalities stung, the batch of athletes was subjected to the most intense workout of the entire conditioning period. Dykes kept them on the field far beyond the usual time, not at all concerned with the fact that the boys might be worried about lunch. "It will be tough for anybody leaving the field before me," was one of Dykes' warnings.

Batting went on for two and one-half hours. Dykes told his coaches to "make those sissies stay in there and pitch longer than 5 minutes." Dykes, of course, isn't feeling good physically, what with arm soreness and stomach pains, and that may be one reason that he suddenly has become a tough supervisor.

The suspicion that some of the fellows might be taking their work too lightly probably was the cause of Dykes announcing today that he might scatter a flock of rookies to minor league points inside of the next week. Originally he intended to take everybody at least as far as Dallas, which is a Sox farm locale.

The Sox program for tomorrow calls for an appearance against the Pittsbugh Pirates at Los Angeles. Thornton Lee, John Rigney, and Italo Chelini will divide the nine innings of pitching. The Pirates also will be encountered the following day. On Thursday the Cubs will be taken on and, while Dykes isn't certain about what he'll do for pitching on that occasion, he thinks it might be just the job for Clint Brown, John Whitehead, and possibly Monty Stratton.

Axman Dykes.

Dixie Walker's right arm, which is the only thing that can keep him out of right field when the season opens, remains an unknown quantity, but thus far he is satisfied. He made a couple of real throws from the outfield during the week-end games with the Angels and noticed no alarming effects. He also did a little hurried throwing for distance today without being able to discover that the operation performed on a shoulder muscle last summer wasn't a success.

About seven rookies will be in danger of getting the ax as soon as Dykes decides to start swinging. Three of them are catchers known as Norman Schlueter, Ken Sylvestri and Edmond Skoronski. Infielders due for dismissal are Frank Houska, Lester Rock and Frank Hackney. Tom

MUSIC IN THE AIR? NO, JUST LOYOLA, DE PAUL RIVALRY

Basketball Teams Will Settle Up Monday.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

If you happened to ride by Loyola or De Paul universities yesterday, you probably noticed that each campus looked just like you'd expect it to look most any Tuesday. And that shows how little you can depend on appearances.

Those groups of students weren't talking about the next Greek exam nor even about the next prom. They were talking about the De Paul-Loyola basketball game that's to be played next Monday at the Chicago Stadium.

Now if you knew Loyola and De Paul students, you wouldn't have had to go near them to guess what they were saying. It's fortunate these universites aren't located in typical small college towns, separated by no greater distance than Sheffield avenue is from Devon. If they were there's no telling what shenanigans would be afoot by now. But due to the fact that they're both in one big orderly city, the student bodies confine themselves to baiting one another verbally.

Remarks Remain Good Natured.

The rivalry is such a natural one and has been curbed for so long that you might expect the students to be pointedly impolite. Each campus is, verbally speaking, an armed camp. Each carries itself with an easy air of superiority when its rival is mentioned. Yet remarks, for the most part, are good natured.

When it comes to semi-official opinion, the tone becomes amazingly polite. Here, for instance, is a quotation from a student publication, the Loyola News:

"The Blue Demons of today represent one of the finest teams that De Paul has ever claimed. All five regulars are seniors and have played as a unit for the last three years, compiling a record of victories against the outstanding teams of the middle west, east and south which will stand long after they have graduated."

Afraid of Showdown?

Magnanimous journalistic gestures such as this are counterbalanced by occasional free lance gibes from campus to campus. For instance, members of each camp have charged that the reason why six years have passed without a meeting on the basketball floor is because their rivals are secretly afraid of a showdown. The names of the two schools are transposed in making this charge, depending on the direction from which the accusation is coming.

In an editorial early in the present season, the Loyola News wanted to know: "Is a great intracity rivalry to die?"

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, director of the Catholic Youth Organization, hoped that it would not. He launched negotiations that culminated last week with the announcement that these outstanding teams would play under the sponsorship of the C. Y. O. There have been only two meetings before, both in 1931. Each team won one. So Monday night's game should settle everything.

Harry Balsamo Stops Tait Littman in First

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Harry Balsamo, Harlem middleweight contender, stopped Tait Littman, Milwaukee veteran, in the first round in their scheduled ten round bout at the Broadway arena in Brooklyn tonight. Floored twice for counts of nine, Littman was sent sprawling in his own corner and Referee Jimmy Corlwey dispensed with the formality of a count. It was several minutes before he was revived.

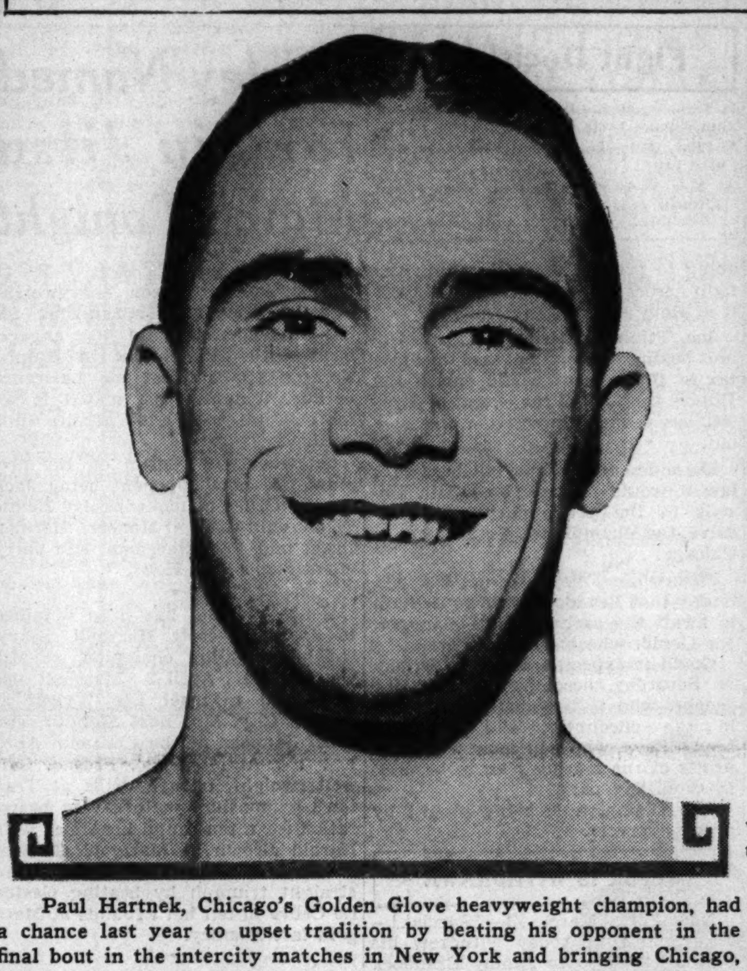
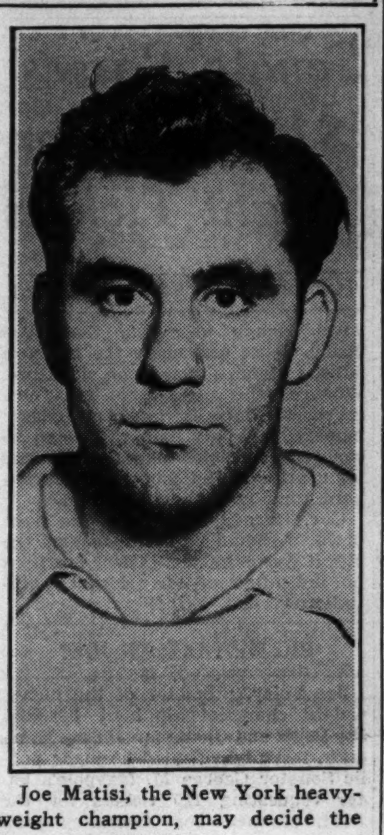
WILL IT BE UP TO THEM?



Paul Hartnek, Chicago's Golden Glove heavyweight champion, had a chance last year to upset tradition by beating his opponent in the final bout in the intercity matches in New York and bringing Chicago, the visiting team, a victory. But he lost and the match ended in a tie. He fights last again tonight and his bout against——



Joe Matisi, the New York heavyweight champion, may decide the team championship.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.

AT 8 o'clock tonight the lights will go out in the world's largest indoor boxing arena. . . . Two white lights will break out at each corner of the ring and spotlight two brave boys clad for fighting. . . . The tenth annual intercity Golden Gloves match will be off to its thrilling and dramatic finish. . . . Before an overflow crowd of 21,000 the young men who fight for fun will battle it out for the greatest prize in the game, an intercity Golden Gloves championship. . . . For the 32 stout hearted young fighters who have survived the greatest tournament amateur boxing has known this is the thrill of thrills. . . . They hear themselves acclaimed by 21,000 voices. . . . When the fight begins they share the spotlight with another, but when it is over and they have won they stand alone as the focal point for 21,000 pairs of eyes. . . . Many an older man would take a punch on the nose or a sock in the midriff for that. . . .

Few of the 21,000 spectators could tell you the names of more than one or two members of either team. . . . Fewer still could identify any of the fighters if they were to meet them on the street. . . . But it makes no difference. . . . They are Golden Gloves champions and to the boxing fans of America that means they are the best. . . . New York has a complete turnover in talent. . . . None of the 16 boys who faced Chicago in Madison Square Garden last spring will appear tonight. . . . At least 12 of Chicago's 16 representatives will be newcomers to intercity competition. . . . One thing is certain. . . . The athletes you will see standing there tonight toe to toe trying to knock one another's ears off are real amateurs. . . . They are doing what they are doing for trophies, for glory and for the thrill they get out of winning. . . . You might find it difficult to understand, but it is recreation to them. . . . The profits that accrue from their efforts are donated to charity. . . .

This year's intercity match is something more than the name implies. . . . It actually is intersectional. . . . The New York tournament, conducted by the Daily News A. A., under the direction of Jimmy Powers, included entries from the entire Atlantic seaboard. . . . Fourteen states contributed a total of 7,450 nominations. . . . The Chicago meet embraced 20 states and drew an entry of 21,000 in territory stretching from the Alleghenies to the Rockies and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico. . . . Almost every amateur boxer of ability east of the Rocky mountains has participated in some stage of the tournament which has its climax at Chicago Stadium tonight. . . . As evidence of the class of competition, only two boys from the metropolitan district were able to win championships in the New York meet. . . . Likewise, only two Chicagoans survived our tournament. . . .

Chicago has the edge in the ten year rivalry, but a victory for New York tonight would even the score. . . . Jimmy Powers' squad feels it really must whip Chicago in its own arena tonight. . . . They were so doggoned mad at our success in earning an 8 to 8 tie at Madison Square Garden last year that they are determined to go a step farther. . . . They wouldn't let us use three or four of our best fighters because they came from Cleveland and Detroit. . . . But now they are using Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, etc., and it seems to be all right. . . . The slogan now is "Anything Goes," as long as it conforms to the amateur code. . . . Neutral judges and referees from points outside Chicago and New York will appraise the contestants' work. . . .

Flying fists, pumping arms, a cheering crowd, and tireless striving for victory. . . . That's Golden Gloves. . . .

Easterners Seek to Even Series.

Fight Facts

Event—Tenth annual intercity Golden Gloves match, sponsored by the New York Daily News Athletic association and the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.
Time—8 p. m.
Place—Chicago Stadium.
Attendance—21,000.
Radio broadcast—W-G-N and Mutual Broadcasting system from 10 o'clock until finish of fight. Also NBC and CBS chains, but no Chicago outlet.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There's a larger issue than usual to be decided tonight in the ring at the Chicago Stadium.

For the first time in all the ten years of Intercity Golden Gloves matches between teams representing New York and Chicago, the New Yorkers will have no alibi.

Heretofore whenever there was a Chicago victory, the New Yorkers have stated in no softly modulated tones that they had been asked to whip not only Chicago but the entire west as well, whereas they represented only the city of New York.

Tonight their position is a new one. The team that fights in the New York colors in this 10th annual battle represents the entire east. In fact not many of the boys hail from Manhattan. They come from Buffalo, Philadelphia, Boston, and other eastern cities. The New York Daily News tournament was enlarged this year to take care of this contingency.

Chicago Has Edge.

So the big battle that starts at 8 o'clock this evening is a true test of the east against the west's punching ability and boxing skill.

It isn't any wonder that all seats in the gigantic Stadium have been sold for 10 days and that all those 21,000 seats will be occupied when the battles, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Charities, Inc., get under way.

If you haven't a seat there's just one chance left for you. Three thousand general admission tickets at 50 cents, which includes tax, will go on sale at the Stadium at 8 o'clock tonight. These tickets can be purchased at gates 1 and 3 on the Madison street side and at gate 6 on the Warren avenue side of the Stadium.

The standing between the teams representing Uncle Sam's two largest cities now is Chicago, 4; New York, 3; ties, 2.

So the affair will go back into a deadlock shortly after 11 o'clock tonight should the boys from New York win a majority of the 16 bouts on the program.

Tradition Favors Chicago.

It has become almost a tradition that the visiting team in this series gets whipped. This happens in the face of the fact that the referees and judges are the best that can be recruited from the Amateur Athletic union ranks in neutral Golden Gloves territory.

Last year Chicago nearly upset precedent in Madison Square Garden when Paul Hartnek, the big football player from Creighton university, went into the final battle of the night with the Chicago team leading by a score of 8 to 7.

Hartnek was thumped by the New York heavyweight champion so the battle ended in an 8 to 8 tie.

That same Hartnek will be Chicago's representative in the final battle tonight, the only surviving champion on either team who will see action at the Stadium. His opponent will be Joe Matisi from Binghamton, reported to be one of the best heavyweights ever developed in the New York tournament.

Joyce vs. Donovan—Ah!

Their scrap should bring a dramatic finish to the show, particularly so if the annual match is as close as the one a year ago.

There will be many other thrillers. That's become a part of these inter-

TILDEN VS. PERRY FOR NEW YORK'S NETFANS TONIGHT

Newest Tennis Tour Opens in Garden.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Before another prospective sell-out crowd, the pro tennis troupers will return to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with one important change in the cast of leading performers.

Bill Tilden.

Whereas last January, when he made his commercial debut, Britain's Fred Perry was matched with Ellsworth Vines in the principal singles match, tomorrow evening his opponent will be Big Bill Tilden, the lean, 44 year old perennial of the courts.

Chief speculation about the match, the first of a series of five which will take the troupe from New York to Chicago, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and Boston, revolves about Tilden and his ability to stand up under the strain of a five set encounter with the man who last year was the world's ranking amateur. On that score Big Bill voices no worries.

May Get Surprise.

"If Perry thinks that they're going to have to bring me on the court in a wheel chair after the first two sets, I may surprise him," said Tilden, resting in his hotel room while the Briton engaged in a final tune up. "After all, they've been burying me since 1922, and I haven't stayed put yet."

Though Promoter Frank Hunter and Garden officials confidently predicted a sell out, gate receipts will be appreciably lower than for the January matches. With $5.50 as tops, a sell out will gross $31,000. Two months ago, at a $9.90 top, the Perry-Vines opener drew over $50,000.

Tomorrow night's main event is supported by a singles encounter between Vinnie Richards and Bruce Barnes and a doubles match which sends Richards and Tilden against Vines and Perry.

Rare Tennis Sight.

Vines, whose activities at the Garden and in the other four cities will be restricted to doubles, believes the team play also should provide a rare sight.

"When Perry and I appear on the same side of the net, he takes one half of the court and I take the other," the lanky Californian explained with a grin. "Then we just try to blast our way through. In fact, we furnish a very fine picture of two singles players playing doubles."

Vines, of course, believes Perry will win with ease from Tilden. And Big Bill? He just isn't talking, merely holding to the time worn theory that actions speak louder than words.

The matches in Chicago will be played Sunday night in the Chicago Stadium.

city Golden Gloves scraps. One that is being anxiously awaited is the featherweight encounter between Chicago's champion, William Joyce, a terrific punching colored lad from Gary, and Jackie Donovan, 19 year old Irish lad from Buffalo, who the New Yorkers here for the match declare in no uncertain terms is the best fighter on the eastern team.

The lightweight bout between New York's Kelly and Chicago's Kozole also had the tongues wagging last night, and the tiny 112 pound champs, Chicago's Jimmy Urso and New York's Billy Speary, if the dopesters vision it correctly, will put on the most slashing bout ever waged in this particular intercity division.

Chicago goes into the struggle without the services of one of its champions. Herman West, lightweight champion from Centralia who has been ill for the greater part of a week, was ruled out yesterday by the team physicians.

Sixteen Bouts on Card.

In order to meet this emergency Mike Minnich, Chicago's secondary representative in the 175 pound class, was moved into the championship circle and will clash with New York's Charlie Jackson. Nick Lubovich from Milwaukee, who finished third in the Tournament of Champions, replaces Minnich in the secondary division.

His foe will be Gaetano Rossi, an Italian boy from the Bronx. Lubovich has been in the Chicago training camp since it was opened and is in splendid shape.

The first bout will get going promtly at 8 o'clock and if you are not there on time you may miss the best fight of the night. It is impossible to guess when that bell ringer is likely to take place in an Inter City match.

The eight bouts bringing together the Chicago and New York secondary fighters will be run off first. Then the sixteen champions will parade into the ring to settle their differences.

At the end of the first eight bouts, there will be Golden Gloves ceremonies. But the action will not halt very long.

WALDORF TO SPEAK.

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern football coach, will address 100 members of Chicago Sales Executive club at the Bismarck hotel tomorrow noon.

Senate Passes $10 Limit on Fight Tickets

votes, enough to satisfy the emergency clause and make the measure effective immediately upon signature. Whoever the sponsor, he was conceded to have a good argument: namely, that any one who voted to charge Illinois citizens more than $10 for a prize fight ticket would have a hard time justifying it at home.

Gov. Horner would face the same problem should he desire to veto the bill, it was admitted. There has been no indication of Mr. Horner's attitude toward it.

BIG MISTAKE, EH JOE?

Joe Foley, promoter of the heavyweight championship bout between Joe Louis and Champion Jimmy Braddock, last night denied he made public Senator George M. Maypole's letter requesting 110 tickets for the bout, planned for Comiskey park June 22.

"I answered Senator Maypole shortly after I received his letter," said Foley, "and told him we would get the members of the senate seats in good locations. Senator Maypole merely inquired about the possibility of buying good seats, and I handled it as I have hundreds of other requests."

Mike Jacobs, co-promoter, called Foley from New York last night to inquire as to the possibilities of the bill becoming a law. Foley said he didn't think it would.

Later, however, he said, "What's going to prevent us from taking the fight across the state line and holding it at Roby speedway in Indiana?"

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, said the state tax of 10 per cent would enrich the Illinois treasury to the extent of $120,000, based on his prediction of a sell-out.

He added that if the bill became a law it would relegate boxing in Illinois to the preliminary class and drive the championship fight out of Chicago.

Meanwhile Foley was notified yesterday that Braddock is en route here to await the arrival of his manager, Joe Gould, who is in New York.

Gould is expected to arrive Friday or Saturday, accompanied by Mike Jacobs, who is financially interested in the encounter, and Architect Lionel Levy, who will come with blue prints of the seating plan to be used in Comiskey park.

The champion is being sought by process servers.

OFFER IS WITHDRAWN

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Max Schmeling today withdrew his offer of $350,000 to Jimmy Braddock for a heavyweight title defense in Berlin and prepared to sail for Germany tomorrow.

Joe Jacobs, the German's American representative, said Schmeling would leave on the Queen Mary but would return to the United States late in April to begin training at Speculator, N. Y., for his scheduled match with Braddock here June 3.

Conley Named for Jiu Jitsu Match Tonight

Jack Conley, Boston heavyweight wrestler, has been substituted for Hans Schnabel in a jiu jitsu engagement with Oki Shikina at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight. The match is set for one fall with a 60 minute time limit.

Schnabel will remain on the program, his new opponent being Jack Curtis. Other matches involve Heinie Olson and George Mansor, Herman Olson and Pete Sherman, and Jerry Meeker and Pete Holtz.

Hans Schnabel has been obtained to oppose Everett Marshall, heavyweight wrestling champion, at Milwaukee, Wis., April 2. Marshall also is booked to meet Lee Wykoff at Kansas City, Mo., next Monday, and Chief Sanooke at the Coliseum April 1. . . . Al Manfredo, Fresno, Cal., welterweight, opened drills at Trafton's gymnasium yesterday in preparation for a ten round headliner with Harold Brown at Marigold Gardens Monday. Harold scored his third straight triumph by beating Gaston Le Cadre in ten hard rounds at Marigold last Monday.

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves lightweight king, will be after his eighteenth consecutive professional conquest in an eight round fight with Carl Fasnaugh of Toledo, O., at Milwaukee a week from tomorrow. Larry Greb and Eddie Zivic will be principals in the ten round windup. Another show at Milwaukee is listed for April 5, headed by a ten round clash between Al Nettlow and Roger Bernard. Eddie Mileski, light heavyweight stablemate of Nettlow, Catholic Youth Organization lightweight, is matched to meet Henry Hamburg in a four round preliminary.

* * *

Plans for a ten round fight between Leo Rodak and Lenny Cohen at Majestic arena Friday of next week are nearing completion. Billy Miske Jr., St. Paul light heavyweight, may appear in a supplementary affair. . . . Tom O'Connell, boxing director of the C. Y. O., is arranging eight amateur engagements between members of his organization at the International Amphitheater April 23. The South Side Lecturers club of the Knights of Columbus is sponsoring the show. F. M.

Star Midget Drivers Race in 100 Lap Feature Sunday

Leading midget auto racing drivers will compete in a 100 lap contest Sunday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, where the western indoor championship will be decided. Special rules have been drawn up which will permit the use of reserve tanks for gas and water. First among the entrants was Wally Zale, central states outdoor champion.

Fishermen Get Set for Annual Smelt Festivals

BY BOB BECKER.

Carrying bushel baskets, creels, sacks, and other containers of all sizes and descriptions, the smelt fishermen are gathering at the rivers on the west shore of upper Lake Michigan, prepared to get supplies of these silvery little fish that now are running out of the big lake into the small streams.

Starting Friday, April 2, the towns of Escanaba, Marinette, and Menominee are going to put on big parties to celebrate the spring run of the smelt. The public is invited to these jamborees.

Will Run Week.

Escanaba, Mich., will start its smelt fishing jamboree Friday and continue the party through April 3. A king and queen will be crowned at a public ceremony and a colorful parade is planned. After sundown everybody goes to a stream near by and dips smelt. These small fish start running up the streams after dark. They continue this run at intervals until the early hours of the morning. There are about ten streams in the vicinity of Escanaba where one may dip anything from a net to a golf bag and get smelt after dark.

Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., the two cities separated by the Menominee river, are going to extend their smelt fishing festival over three days. According to the latest word from these cities this party will start shortly after the conclusion of the Escanaba celebration. The setting of the carnival will be the interstate bridge across the Menominee river. Bands will play at each end of the bridge if the weather permits. Streamers and banners will decorate the bridge and a queen of the festival will be chosen by the two cities.

Write Chamber of Commerce.

Illinois fishermen and outdoors fans who wish further information about these smelt jamborees may write to the chamber of commerce at Escanaba, Mich., or to Jack Boyle at Marinette, Wis.

MISS HICKS LOSES TO GRACE AMORY IN AUGUSTA GOLF

Augusta, Ga., March 23.—(AP)—Grace Amory of Long Island, N. Y., upset Helen Hicks of New York, 4 and 3, today to advance to the quarter-final round of the annual women's Augusta invitational golf tournament here. Tomorrow she meets Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, who defeated Helen Dettweiler of Washington, 5 and 4.

Others who won their way to the quarter-finals were Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky.; Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., Mildred Didrikson of Beaumont, Tex.; Deborrah Berry of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Warren Beard of Boston, and Virginia Guilfoil of Syracuse.

TWO NOTRE DAME SKATERS ENTER NATIONAL MEET

Jack Shannon and Tom Liston, University of Notre Dame students, were added to the entry list for the National Indoor Speed Skating championship meet yesterday. Shannon and Liston are the first midwestern collegians to file entries for the meet which will be held at the Chicago Arena, East Erie street and McClurg court, Saturday and Sunday nights.

It is expected that Illinois will enter several men. Shannon and Liston will compete against the outstanding stars in the United States in the two day meet. Shannon is especially strong in the shorter races and is expected to make a creditable showing against such recognized stars as Alex Hurd, Truman Connell, and Marvin Swanson.

C. Y. O. Title Prospect.

The C. Y. O. and the Northwest Skating club of Chicago and St. Louis and Cleveland are expected to be the leading competitors for the team championship.

The C. Y. O. has a strong team composed of Leo Freisinger, Vic Ronchetti, Al Kucera and Johnny Mesch Jr. in the class A races; Eleanor Thiel and Ann Vitaska in the senior women's events; Sid Steffen, Evelyn Mesch, Dorothy Lagorio, Mary Melihercik and Rose Chaplick in the intermediate class and Bunny Lawlor, Eleanor Freisinger, Veronica Leonard and Ann Adams in the junior girls events.

Northwest Club Strong.

The Northwest Skating club is built around Eddie Schroeder, Bob Hackenback, Bob Sherman and Armand Massin. Among its senior women entrants are Shirley Jameson and Elaine Bogda.

HORTON SMITH AND SHUTE CARD 67s AT PINEHURST

Take North and South Open Lead.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—Horton Smith of Chicago and Denny Shute, West Newton, Mass., pro who won the P. G. A. championship over the same course last November, each shot a 67, five strokes under par, today to tie for the lead at the end of the first 18 holes of the 72 hole North and South open golf tournament.

Horton Smith.

Their scores set a new competitive record for the famous Pinehurst course, which today yielded sub-par rounds to 17 players.

Snead, Nelson Second.

One stroke behind the leaders with 68s were Sam Snead of White Sulpher Springs, W. Va., one of the leading money winners of the winter campaign, and Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa.

One ace was turned in during opening round play, John Maultic, Struthers, O., professional, holing his tee shot on the 143 yard ninth. Among the subpar shooters was the veteran Jess Sweetser of New York, who topped the amateur entries with a 71.

Manero Shoots 70.

Willie MacFarlane, Purchase, N. Y., and Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., were two strokes behind the pace setters with 69s, while Tony Manero of Salem, Mass., the national open champion; Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va.; Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Marine Strike Threat Scares Cubs; They May Be Marooned

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 23.—The Cubs this morning were told to stand by for orders to leave Santa Catalina Island on the afternoon boat, a departure that would have been 48 hours ahead of the camp breaking schedule. The flurry came when reports reached Vice President John O. Seys and Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis that the maritime strike which had cut off the island last month had been resumed and that transportation might again be suspended within 24 hours, or before the sailing of tomorrow's boat.

Secretary Lewis phoned the mainland and made hotel arrangements and asked for two days of practice privileges at Wrigley field in Los Angeles. Then, after plans for a precipitate pushoff really were rolling, Dave Fleming, head of the Wilmington Transportation company [The Wrigley transporation outfit], flew over and soothed Seys, Lewis et al. He assured them there wasn't a chance for the Cub party to be stuck on the island any longer than the arrangements specify. Whereupon no one seemed to know whether to be disappointed or gratified.

Grimm Is Dissatisfied.

Aside from informing his players that they might have to pack their satchels in a hurry, Manager Grimm took little part in the flee plan. He kept his pitchers busy pitching to hitters who tried to keep busy hitting.

It was suspected by observers that the Cub skipper would just as soon be marooned on the island long enough to miss Friday and Sunday's games with the White Sox and Saturday's contest with Pittsburgh Pirates. He was not satisfied with the showing of his so-called first stringers in their five games with the Yannigans, in which the so-called second stringers did most of the ball playing. You remember that the Regulars made a grand total of one earned run in the second, third, and fourth games, and lost the first four games without challenging at any time.

Shoun Pleases Grimm.

Manager Grimm, who has been known to change his mind, stood by his plan to start Larry French against the Sox Friday and finish with Parmelee, provided neither gets knocked out. Saturday Bill Lee will pitch against the Pirates, with Clay Bryant scheduled to finish. The boss man said today he was undecided about his selection for the Sox game Sunday, but that he may use Clyde Shoun and Tex Carleton.

Shoun is expected to more than fill the place vacated by Roy Henshaw, according to the belief currently expressed by Manager Grimm. Said Charles: "Shoun should go better against Pittsburgh than Henshaw did last year and he will be much stronger against the Phillies. He will start many games with those two Pennsylvania teams and will have some tries against other teams who load up with left hand hitters."

Capt. Gabby Hartnett, who has been on the mainland since Sunday to fill radio engagements, returned on the noon boat.

McBride is the only one of the seven outfielders definitly destined for a lower grade at this time. There is some doubt about the one place available in the pitching department. All the new hands are mere kids who probably didn't expect to stick. They'll all be turned out subject to recall.

Vernon Kennedy, winner of 21 games last season, reported arm soreness today, but it was diagnosed merely as a cold, contracted as the result of chilly weather yesterday when the chamber of commerce was confronted with the problem of answering why there was snow on the nearby foothills.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Sox, today accepted another five year option on the local field for training purposes.

1938 SANTA ANITA PURSES TO TOTAL ALMOST $1,000,000

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—[Special.]—The Los Angeles Turf club today announced an increase in purses for next year's Santa Anita meeting. Almost a million dollars will be distributed in 1938, whereas this year's purse prize total was $750,000.

Every weekday program will have at least one race worth $1,500, while each Saturday will have one race whose value is at least $5,000. There will be a minimum purse of $1,200 for other daily races, except in the case of two year olds, the minimum for which will be $1,000.

$10,000 Chicago Open Awarded Medinah Club

The $10,000 Chicago open golf tournament, to be held on July 23-25 as a feature of the charter jubilee celebration sports program, was awarded to the Medinah Country club yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago District Golf association.

The tournament, which will provide the professional delegation with one of its biggest money making opportunities this season, will be played over Medinah's No. 1 and 3 courses. The only other serious bidder for the event, the Olympia Fields Country club, will be given preference in selecting the site for the 1938 renewal.

CAMBRIDGE AND OXFORD CREWS TO RACE TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—More than a half million spectators will line the banks of the Thames from Northlake to Putney again tomorrow to see the annual crew race between Oxford and Cambridge.

The Cambridge oarsmen have won the last 13 races, but Britons never seem to tire of watching the annual struggle. The betting tonight was 5 to 1 that the Cambridge crew makes it 14 in a row.

Trial rows reveal that the two crews are more evenly matched than the betting odds indicate. The Oxford oarsmen outweigh their Cambridge rivals about seven pounds per man.

Claudia Eckert Headlines Medinah Water Carnival

Claudia Eckert, National A. A. U. highboard diving champion, will headline the program at the Medinah club's water carnival tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

the opening game of a best two out of three playoff series between the teams that finished third in the league.

Lynn Patrick scored the opening goal on Frank Boucher's pass early in the second period. There was no further scoring until the last five minutes, when Murray Murdock netted his first goal of the season, and Alex Shibicky followed with another a minute later.

In the last half minute of the game, a battle that had been threatening all evening broke out. The affair started when Bob Davidson cross-checked Phil Watson across the mouth. Immediately both squads joined in the fighting. Red Horner took a swing at Referee A. G. Smith and stung him so sharply the official forgot to give him a penalty.

SECOND PLACE TEAM BARRED IN A. B. C. MEET

Flushing Bowler Rolled in Unsanctioned League.

New York, N. Y., March 23.—[Special.]—For the first time since 1922, a disqualification was made today in the A. B. C. bowling tournament. The 2,973 total scored last Friday by the Terminal Industrials of Flushing, N. Y., was tossed out of the records, moving up the Marcellus Casket five, Syracuse, and their 2,911 total into second place.

The ruling was made by congress officials after it was discovered that John Reeber, one of the members of the Flushing lineup, had been rolling in the Metropolitan Life Insurance league, New York, a league not sanctioned by the congress.

Elmer Baumgarten of Milwaukee, A. B. C. secretary, made the final decision, though Al Lattin, vice president of the congress and head of the New York A. B. C. Tournament company, discovered the infringement of the rule.

"Deliberate Violation."

"We discovered," said Baumgarten, "that Reeber deliberately violated congress rules which prohibit unsanctioned league bowlers rolling in competition with sanctioned players. The rules are clearly printed on our entry blanks and, while I dislike to take the prize money away from the other four members of the team, Bob Partinfeller, Joe Enders, John Herrel, and Frank Bellezzi, there was nothing else I could do. We even learned that Reeber openly boasted that he would 'put one over' on the congress. He's been rolling all season in the unsanctioned league and is in second place in the individual standings."

Berwyn Team Ninth.

Two changes occurred among the leaders during the afternoon sessions today. Dominick Di Santo, New York, moved into third place in all-events with a 1,861 total and scored 644 for fourth in the singles. Al Florio, New York, scored 646, taking fifth place in the solo class.

The Berwyn Recreation five, Berwyn, Ill., rolled up a 2,854 total in taking ninth place tonight. Bart Mathhuser and his mates rang up games of 906, 954, and 994.

JEWELL DORSETT WINS TO QUALIFY IN $10,000 DERBY

Reigh Count's Son Third at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., March 23.—(AP)—Jewell Dorsett, daughter of Cohort from the Lone Star stable, qualified for Sunday's running of the $10,000 Louisiana Derby today when she took the measure of eight other eligibles in the mile of the Jasmine purse at the Fairgrounds.

Although considered only a sprinter, Jewell Dorsett carried her vaunted speed for the entire distance to win as she pleased. She took the lead at the start, finishing two lengths in front of the Shandon farm's Quincy.

Grey Count, highly regarded son of Reigh Count from the Millsdale stable, raced with the leaders all the way and closed with a burst of speed for third money.

ODDESA LADY AT TROPICAL.

Miami, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Rain, which turned into a downpour at the start of the sixth race, failed to stop the steadygoing Oddesa Lady from whipping four other 2 year olds in a 4 furlong dash for 2 year olds at Tropical Park today. The chestnut filly ran the distance over a sloppy track in 48 1-5 seconds to win by three lengths and pay 5 to 1. W. H. Gallagher's Miss Apprehend closed with a rush to beat Joseph Pepp's favored Sing Low by a half length for the place.

FORCED LANDING WINS.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 23.—(AP)—Forced Landing, out of the money only twice in eight previous starts this year, carried R. Jewett's silks to a two length victory in the sprint feature at Oaklawn. As the odds-on-favorite, the son of Upset paid only $3.60 straight. Second money went to Pharatime and third to Iceberg.

CLOUD D'OR AT TANFORAN.

San Francisco, Cal., March 23.—(AP)—Cloud O'Or, the favorite, won the Oakland handicap, $1,000 added, on a muddy track at Tanforan today. Happy Knot was second, and Manners Man third. Time for the six furlongs was 1:14 3-5. Happy Knot and Manners Man fought for the early lead. Cloud D'Or remained in back of the field for the first half mile, but came up on the outside of the leaders at the turn into the stretch and won by a length, going away.

YANKEES, CARDS HEAVY CHOICES AMONG WRITERS

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—A poll of baseball writers, conducted by the Sporting News, disclosed today overwhelming support for the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals in the 1937 major league pennant races.

The forecast on the order of finish in each league, based on the writers vote, follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE—New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Chicago, Washington, St. Louis, and Philadelphia.

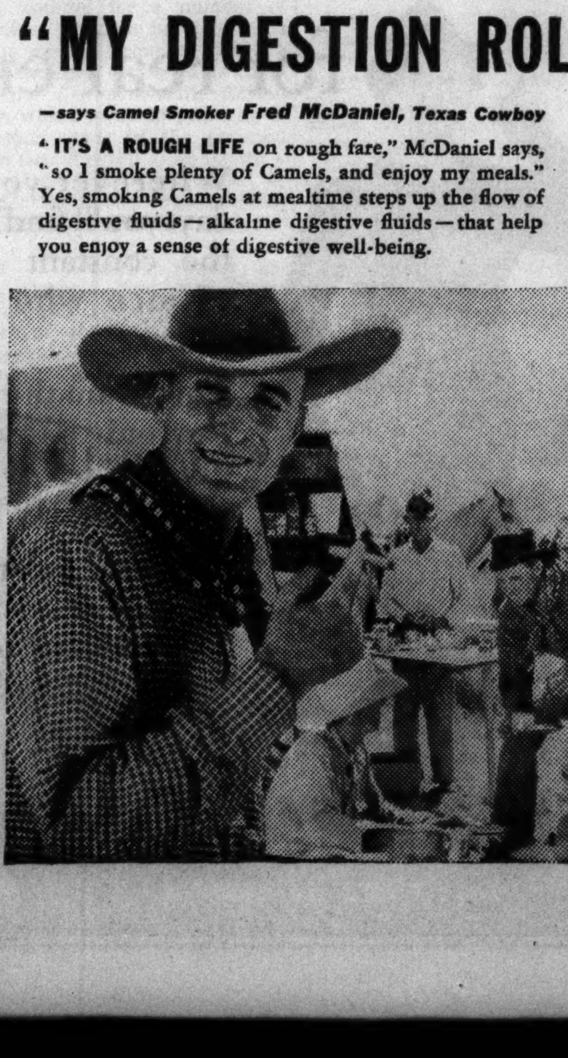
"MY DIGESTION ROLLS RIGHT ALONG"

—says Camel Smoker Fred McDaniel, Texas Cowboy

"IT'S A ROUGH LIFE on rough fare," McDaniel says, "so I smoke plenty of Camels, and enjoy my meals." Yes, smoking Camels at mealtime steps up the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that help you enjoy a sense of digestive well-being.



MACHINE OPERATOR. Frances Morel puts in a long day. She says: "When I feel low and dragged out, I get a 'lift' in energy with a Camel. And Camels aid my digestion." Enjoy Camels freely! They set you right!

GENERAL FOODS REPORTS BEST PROFIT SINCE '31

3 Equipment Makers Have Big Gains.

C. M. Chester.

General Foods corporation yesterday reported that 1936 earnings were the largest since 1931. At the same time three leading companies in the automotive and railway equipment reported sharp improvement last year. They were Stewart-Warner corporation, Timken Roller Bearing company, and Westinghouse Air Brake company. Another automotive concern—Bendix Aviation corporation — reported an increase in operations but a slight decline in earnings.

General Foods' net earnings totaled $14,240,957, equal to $2.71 a common share, against $11,730,768 or $2.23 a share in 1935. Sales were the largest since 1929 at $122,462,350, C. M. Chester, chairman, reported.

Best Year Since 1929.

The annual report of Stewart-Warner, Chicago manufacturer of automotive parts, radios and refrigerators, issued by James S. Knowlson, chairman, and J. E. Otis Jr., president, showed consolidated net income for 1936 of $2,113,234, or $1.70 a common share, the best results since 1929, compared with $1,724,313, or $1.39 a share in 1935. The company provided for surtax of $141,730. Net sales were $27,074,509, against $20,479,164 in 1935.

Bendix Aviation had 1936 net income of $3,025,490 or $1.44 a share, against $3,163,921 or $1.51 a share in 1935.

Costs Reduce Profits.

"Practically all units showed substantial increases in production," said Vincent Bendix, president. "Due largely to our commitments, to the increase in cost of materials and to wage boosts we were unable to secure the increase in earnings which would normally go with the increase in production."

Timken Roller Bearing in the year ended Dec. 31, 1936 had a net profit of $9,257,127, or $3.84 a share, the largest since 1929 when the company earned $14,926,306. In 1935 net profit was $7,483,602, or $3.10 a share.

Westinghouse Air Brake reported net profit of $5,548,782, or $1.79 a share, best since 1930, compared with $302,473 or 10 cents a share in 1935. The 1936 profit included $1,797,046 from the sale of securities, of which $1,653,177 was from the sale of stock in Westinghouse Brake and Signal Company, Ltd.

Paper Maker Reports Gain.

Kimberly-Clark corporation, maker of paper pulp and chemicals, reported 1936 net income of $1,457,265 or $1.76 a common share, against $1,052,395, or 93 cents a common share, in 1935. Net sales totaled $22,863,863, against $20,246,139.

Parker Pen company reported 1936 net profit of $621,494, equal to $3.20 a common share, against $447,951, or $2.34 a share in 1935. Domestic sales increased 25 per cent.

Utah Radio Products company of Chicago had a consolidated net loss of $24,420, against a net loss of $151,670 in 1935.

At the annual meeting of American Woolen company at Springfield, Mass., yesterday, Moses Pendleton, president, reported net earnings for 1936 of $1,929,982, equivalent to $5.03 a share of preferred stock, against $2,740,598 or $7.15 a share in 1935. Adverse factors affecting earnings included a direct flood loss of $395,619 and rising costs of raw materials.

Refutes Fears of Shortages in Iron, Steel

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—There is no danger of a shortage of iron and steel in the United States, said Benjamin Schwartz, head of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, today in refuting some contentions of that sort.

He explained that there is sufficient scrap iron and steel available to meet needs through treatment in perfected electrical furnaces which use scrap and no iron ore.

Estimates are, he said, that available iron ore reserves, not including those where the cost of production exceeds the value of the ore, will last only another 60 to 75 years.

Sees New Era in Steel.

"We are just starting to live in the alloy-steel age, the age of electric furnaces, after passing through the iron age, then the steel age," Schwartz asserted.

About 36 million tons of scrap iron and steel will flow back to the mills this year for reprocessing and wholesalers will ship only 1,900,000 tons abroad, he continued.

"This is the answer to the alarmists who are shouting that America faces a shortage because buyers abroad are buying for munitions manufacture," said Schwartz. "Today's prices are high enough—at $24 a ton delivered—to interest owners in scrapping tremendous quantities of aging equipment, old buildings, anything containing iron and steel that is now wearing out.

Old Steel to Be Reused.

"There are a billion tons of steel in use today and the cycle of life for the longest is only 40 years. Some day steel will be an ever revolving commodity, the scrap flowing into the mills equalling the output of new steel. Then we will never have to worry again about iron ore reserves."

Schwartz pointed out that the high price of scrap steel is bringing out such quantities that it is piling up everywhere—in freight yards, storage centers, steel yards. In the depth of the depression, when mills were operating at less than 40 per cent of capacity, scrap steel was selling at $8 a ton.

The Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, which Schwartz heads, represents about 90 per cent of the 700 wholesalers in the scrap business. He said that its annual turnover involves $500,000,000 and that the business supports 200,000 workers, of whom 150,000 are peddlers.

FEDERAL EXPERTS PREDICT HIGHER PRICES FOR FOOD

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Government experts predicted today that prices of major foods would maintain present levels or climb still higher. In a report of the bureau of agricultural economics, they said wheat would continue "at high levels" during the next marketing year, which begins in July. Advance in prices of cattle, hogs and lambs were forecast.

The bureau's economists said another short world wheat crop or a small European crop could send world prices higher for the new season than they averaged this year. Although wheat supplies were termed ample for this season, the government men predicted stocks remaining in exporting countries would be below normal in July, beginning of the new season.

They reported that farmers in this country planted the largest acreage on record to winter wheat last fall and intend to plant 87 per cent more spring wheat this year than was harvested last. The economists estimated that, with average yields, this acreage would produce about 260,000,000 bushels of spring wheat and about 600,000,000 bushels of winter wheat. If this production of 860,000,000 bushels is realized it would permit the United States to become a wheat exporter, provided a proportionate amount of the different kinds of wheat were harvested. The report added, however, that recent unfavorable soil and weather conditions made possible "a crop that would leave no surplus for exports."

GRADE CROSSING FATALITIES RISE SHARPLY IN 1936

Fatal grade crossing accidents were more numerous in 1936 than in any year since 1931, the Association of American Railroads announced yesterday.

Grade crossing accidents in the United States last year took a toll of 1,786 lives, an increase of 106 over 1935, and resulted in 4,930 injuries, against 4,658 in 1935.

Safety campaigns during recent years have resulted in a marked decrease from the highest fatality records of the six years 1925 to 1930, inclusive, when a total of 14,141 persons were killed in grade crossing accidents. The number of deaths from 1931 to 1936, inclusive, was 9,867, but an almost constant increase has been made since 1932.

Industry Finds Skilled Labor Hard to Obtain

There is a definite scarcity of skilled craftsmen in the metal working idustries, while less acute shortages exist in certain other lines, including textile, paper, printing and lumber, the National Industrial Conference Board reported yesterday.

The board has just completed a survey of 404 companies, employing approximately 467,200 workers. Of these companies, 21.4 per cent reported no skilled labor shortage; 26.5 per cent indicated that a serious scarcity of such labor existed and 52.2 per cent reported that they had found it impossible to secure craftsmen to fill jobs that were open. This last group of 211 companies would employ 7,158 additional skilled workers if they could be found.

More Machinists Required.

An analysis of the shortage of craftsmen by type of occupation in the metal working industries indicates that more machinists are required than any other type of worker. The concerns reporting to the board said they needed 1,889 such workers.

The board said that there are a number of reasons why there should be a shortage of skilled labor at a time when there is so much unemployment. The most important one is the fact that most companies during the depression suspended training programs.

Skilled Labor Reserves Lower.

"Since it is conservatively estimated that 5 per cent of the skilled labor of the country withdraws from service each year because of death or obsolescence," the board said "practically 25 per cent of the skilled labor reserve was permanently lost during the depression, while very few replacements were being trained."

Obtain Other Kinds of Work.

In addition, the board said many skilled workers, either voluntarily or as a result of loss of jobs, left their trades and obtained other kind of work. Other skilled workers were promoted from the ranks of production workers, and world economic conditions and immigration restrictions shut off the inflow of skilled workers from Europe.

A serious factor of the situation from a social view point, the board continued, was the loss of skill by formerly competent workers.

COURT TO DECIDE ON COUNSEL FOR TRUSTEE OF 'L'

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday took under advisement a motion for the appointment of the law firm of Schuyler, Weinfeld & Hennessy as counsel for Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee of the Chicago Rapid Transit company [the elevated lines].

The law firm's appointment was objected to by Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, counsel for a number of bondholders. Ettelson has based his objections on the grounds that the law firm has been employed as counsel for the Commonwealth Edison company, which owns 60 per cent of the common stock of the elevated lines, and that Edward J. Hennessy, a member of the law firm, served as counsel for the equity receiver prior to the 77-B reorganization proceedings.

George I. Haight, counsel for Sprague, asserted that there is no conflict of interest because the law firm acted as counsel for Edison only in special matters and has since terminated its relationship.

WRIGLEY VOTES EXTRA OF 50 CENTS AND SIX MONTHLY DIVIDENDS

Directors of the Wm. Wrigley Jr. company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents in addition to six regular monthly payments of 25 cents each, payable the first of the month beginning with May.

The Zenith Radio corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents. On Jan. 30 the company paid 50 cents a share, the first disbursement since 1929.

The Laclede Steel company declared a dividend of 25 cents. In 1936 the company paid three quarterly dividends of 15 cents each and a dividend of 45 cents on Dec. 26.

An unfavorable action was that of the directors of the Axton Fisher Tobacco company, which announced that because of the recent flood damage to the plant at Louisville and necessary further expansion of plants they had decided to forego action on both classes of stock.

The Louisville Gas and Electric company postponed action on common stock quarterly dividends until damage suffered in the Ohio River valley floods in January is determined.

The Superheater company declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents. In the preceding quarter the company paid 12½ cents a share.

CHICAGO RENT BOOSTS REVIVE HOME BUILDING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—An estimated 90 million dollar gain in Chicago rents in the coming year is stimulating an increase in suburban homebuilding in that city, A. R. Gardner, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago, said today.

The rise in building activity has been accompanied, according to Gardner, by an increased interest in the investment of money in mortgage institutions. In many of the older building and loan associations in the Chicago area, he said, the inflow of new funds has not been exceeded since pre-depression days.

"The rent raises this spring," Mr. Gardner said, "have done for Chicago what no amount of salesmen's warnings or advertisements in publications could accomplishment. They have started crowds of people thinking in earnest about home building.

"Even in the city limits of Chicago, where little building of anything besides apartments goes on, the last four weeks witnessed the granting of permits for 81 residences at a cost of $600,000, compared with 12 at a cost of $50,000 in the same period last year. Gains in the suburbs, where most of the building can be expected to take place, are even more spectacular.

NEW HIGH SEEN IN LAST WEEK'S FREIGHT VOLUME

Preliminary estimates yesterday indicated a new 1937 high in railroad car loadings was set during the week ended March 20. A total of more than 750,000 cars is forecast for the week, which would exceed the preceding week's record by about 2,000 cars.

More Firms Give Workers Boosts in Pay

Thousands of workers in many parts of the nation benefited yesterday as more industrial concerns granted wage boosts. Among the concerns increasing pay scales were Westinghouse Electric, Anaconda Copper, Pullman Standard company and Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company.

In Butte, Mont., Anaconda Copper Mining company announced a hike in wages of 25 cents per shift pursuant to a contract based on the price of copper remaining at 14½ cents a pound for 30 days. The new scale makes the basic wage of miners $6 a shift and affects 10,000 men in Butte, Anaconda and Great Falls, Mont.

Westinghouse Grants Increase.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company reached an agreement with workers' representatives for a wage increase of eight cents an hour for men and six cents for women.

The new schedule will go into effect immediately and will benefit approximately 10,000 employés at the East Pittsburgh, Trafford City and Linhart plants. Workers are guaranteed a minimum of 63 cents an hour for men and 44 cents for women. The agreement also provides for comparable salary adjustments for white collar workers and for a semi-annual review of plant salary ranges.

800 Workers Affected.

The Pullman-Standard company plant at Worcester, Mass., boosted wages 15 per cent for 800 workers.

Employés of the Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company were granted hourly and piece work pay increases amounting to five cents an hour. Officials said the better scale was warranted by general improvement in the farm implement business. The increase was in addition to a recently negotiated contract for higher wages effective March 15.

MORE CANADIAN FIRMS LIFT PRICE OF NEWSPRINT

MONTREAL, Que., March 23.—[Special.]—The number of companies which have announced a boost in newsprint prices for the first half of 1938, from $42.50 to $50 per ton, was increased to nine today, the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company and the St. Lawrence Paper company joining in the move.

It was estimated that the higher return will mean an increase of $32,500,000 in the gross income of Canadian newsprint producers. The value of February newsprint exports was officially placed today at $8,011,776, of which $6,453,102 worth went to the United States. A year ago the total value was $6,267,605.

Americans Play Harmonica Less (Mouth Organ to You)

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The commerce department said today that apparently fewer Americans than formerly are puffing into harmonicas. Harmonica imports last year totaled 9,592,005, the department said, compared with 10,390,286 in 1935.

U. S. ALPHABET GROUPS ABLE TO LEND 13 BILLION

Broad Powers Given to Agencies.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—(AP)—Government financing agencies have today a potential lending power of $13,000,000,000.

A citizen may sit at a conference table and ask for millions to build streamlined railroad trains, or may file a brief application for a few dollars to repair a flood damaged country store. To farm borrowers, the government makes a dozen kinds of loans, ranging from short term crop advances to long term mortgage credit.

In the upper bracket of the lending network is the pioneer Reconstruction Finance corporation, which has a financial finger in a half dozen other agencies in addition to its direct dealings with borrowers.

RFC Has Vast Fund.

The RFC is listed with an unexpended balance of about $2,000,000,000. If it utilized full powers to issue obligations and reloaned expected repayments, its possible lending would be close to $5,000,000,000.

The corporation has the broadest powers of any agency, lending to railroads, commercial establishments, mines, fisheries, public schools and numerous other enterprises.

In the agricultural field, far flung operations of the land bank system, land bank commissioners and several short term credit agencies are knit together under the Farm Credit Administration. If authority to issue securities were utilized fully, these agencies could pile up about $7,000,000,000 for loans in addition to those outstanding.

Funds of Farm Agencies.

The Commodity Credit corporation, which draws on the RFC for cash, could provide about $200,000,000 for financing carrying and orderly marketing of commodities.

For farm rehabilitation the Resettlement Administration has exhausted its lending fund for this fiscal year. The recently enacted deficiency appropriation bill, however, gave the administration $79,000,000, part of which may be used for loans.

The Home Loan Bank system and the Federal Housing Administration stand at the apex of the government's home financing setup. The RFC and the Public Works Administration also participate in this field.

Direct loans by the Home Owners' Loan corporation have been discontinued, but the bank system provides an important reservoir of credit for building and loan associations. The system now has $163,000,000 available for advances, plus receipts from any amount of securities issued against its mortgage holdings.

FHA May Insure Loans.

No direct loans are made by the FHA, but it may insure loans by banks and other institutions without limit. The RFC participates in home financing through its mortgage company. The PWA makes direct loans and grants for slum clearance projects.

Grants and loans are made by the PWA for numerous public projects other than housing, and it still could advance about $470,000,000. Unless extended, however, the agency will discontinue activities on June 30.

The Rural Electrification Administration has $20,000,000 available during the remainder of the fiscal year to make advances for distribution systems. The Electric Home and Farm Authority has unlimited power to discount paper for purchasing appliances.

The Export Import bank, operated under the RFC, has $16,000,000 to help finance foreign trade in commodities. Another offshoot of the RFC—the newly created Disaster Loan corporation—has $20,000,000 for rehabilitation lending in the midwest flood areas.

Milwaukee, Great Western File Co-Ordination Plea

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Trustees of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad and the Chicago Great Western railroad applied to the interstate commerce commission today for authority to coordinate operation over 21.6 miles of track between Red Wing and Cannon Falls, in Goodhue county, Minn.

Lake Shipping This Year May Rival '29 Boom

With Great Lakes steamship operators predicting that the coming season will see commerce on the lakes approaching the record volume of 1929, announcement was made yesterday that the United States coast guard cutter Escanaba will depart on Monday from Grand Haven, Mich., in an attempt to open a passage through the ice at the head of Lake Michigan to enable steamship movement to start as soon as possible.

Despite the comparatively mild winter in the middle west, the winter was severe enough at the head of the lake to freeze a large amount of ice. While the Escanaba may accomplish something in opening a passage, veteran lake operators say the opening date for large scale operations will depend largely on the weather. It is reported that the temperature in northern Michigan has been abnormally cold for March.

Predict Boom Season.

The Lake Carriers' association, which has it headquarters in Cleveland, O., predicted a boom season. With the big steel companies working nearly at capacity, iron ore becomes a vital need and the carriers expect the total movement this year to run between 60,000,000 and 65,000,000 tons, compared with the 66,000,000 tons moved in 1929. Every available ship is being made ready to handle ore cargoes, the association said. This will be the first time since 1929 that all such ships will be pressed into service.

United States coast guard cutter Escanaba opening a passage through a Lake Michigan ice field.

The Lake Shippers' association, in its annual report, which was made public yesterday, stated that the bulk freight movement on the lakes last season totaled 114,414,748 tons, an increase of 38.06 per cent over 1935. The 1936 volume was the largest since 1929 and it was 2,000,000 tons over the 1930 volume.

Coal Shipments Set Record.

It was explained that the large movement was largely the result of the huge bituminous coal shipments last year, which set an all-time record for this commodity. Recollection of the preceding bitterly cold winter and fear of labor troubles were among the factors which contributed to the large coal shipments in 1936.

The movement of iron ore last year totaled 50,200,666 net tons, an increase of 58.03 per cent over 1935. Bituminous coal totaled 44,010,585 net tons, an increase of 26.72 per cent. Anthracite coal totaled 688,858 tons, a gain of 23.22 per cent. Grain totaled 7,433,967 tons, a gain of 10.13 per cent, and limestone shipments, the largest since 1929, totaled 12,080,672 tons, an increase of 33.02 per cent.

American Light-Traction Boosts Building Budget

The 1937 construction budget of the American Light and Traction company, subsidiary of the United Light and Power company, is $5,673,088, against $4,371,370 in 1936, the annual report of the company disclosed.

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—A general price advance averaging 10 per cent will go into effect on all classes of machine tools April 1, builders reported today.

BANKERS LIFT MONEY RATES TO 2 YEAR PEAK

U. S. Pays More for Short Term Loans.

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Short-term money rates today were lifted to the highest level in two years or more when dealers in bankers' acceptances and commercial paper raised yields in an effort to overcome investor resistance to current low returns.

Meanwhile the United States treasury was forced to pay sharply higher interest on three and nine month discount bills. The higher rate paid by the federal government was the direct consequence of the recent collapse in the value of United States government securities.

The rise in bankers' acceptance rates, the third since Feb. 1, brought yields to a point where they were double those of a year ago.

First Boost in Months.

Commercial paper was advanced for the first time in many months when prime name accommodation for six months' maturity was quoted at 1 per cent, compared with ¾ per cent previously. Paper of less known names was quoted at 1¼ per cent.

Higher borrowing costs to the treasury were reflected in its weekly $100,000,000 discount bill offering. The average rate on $50,000,000 of 85-day bills was .440 per cent, compared with .173 per cent a week ago.

For $50,000,000 of 273 bills the average rate was .711 per cent, against .524 per cent the week before. Several months ago 273 bills were sold at a rate of .0770 per cent.

Acceptance dealers said the boost instituted by them was made to bring rates in line with that on treasury bills. Scattered selling of bills by banking institutions in the last two weeks has increased the supply of bills on the market, with buying limited.

Seek to Overcome Resistance.

In the commercial paper market it was pointed out that the rate was elevated for the purpose of overcoming banks' reluctance to buy at ¾ of 1 per cent which has prevailed for many months. It was expected that the higher yield would attract fresh sources of demand.

Call money and time money remained unchanged at their stabilized levels of the last year. Money brokers did not foresee any immediate change in the situation, declaring that the supply is plentiful with demand nil.

It was reasoned, however, that some adjustment might be made after the new reserve requirements of federal reserve member banks go into effect on May 1.

Foundation Co. Approves Boost in Capitalization

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Foundation company voted today to increase the authorized capital to 500,000 shares to provide 400,000 new shares for financing purposes, and approved the change from no par to $1 par value. It is proposed to offer 150,000 new shares to stockholders at $7.50 a share on the basis of 1½ new shares for each present share.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Led by steel shares and to a smaller extent by carrier equities, the stock exchange experienced a mild rally today which wiped out part of previous losses with gains of fractions to around 4 points. Utilities were steady to fractionally higher.

The rally failed to impress the financial community, because the rise came too early after the break and was not accompanied by an increase in the volume of trading. It was pointed out that the market will have to develop a more decisive base before any convincing upward movement can get under way and that today's buoyancy, instead of being attributable to mass interest, was largely due to short covering by professionals.

Steel shares assumed the early lead in the upward movement, opening with trading in large blocks at higher prices. As usual U. S. Steel, industrial division barometer, was a forerunner in the movement, opening with a gain of 1½ points. As the day progressed further support sent the stock to 115 for a 2⅞ points net gain on the day. Almost all of the leaders followed.

Nearly all railroad shares staged a comeback and sold fractions to about 3 points higher.

Sharing in the recovery movement were motor shares. Oils continued strong in late trading on reports from the industry that oil production was higher last week.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Government bonds today staged the most impressive rally that has been witnessed since the market began its sharp decline more than ten days ago. A sweeping recovery lifted prices of federal issues from 2-32 to 20-32 point, erasing many of the losses that were incurred yesterday.

The recovery in this group stimulated buying in other types of bonds and substantial price gains were made in all sections of the list.

Today's upturn was credited in a large measure to large institutional buying and for that reason the reversal in the market trend provided more reassurance than the earlier price rallies, which were believed the result of government support.

Closing prices on government bonds showed gains ranging up to 20-32. One issue closed 3-32 lower.

Foreign bonds showed an irregular price trend.

Transactions today totaled $20,077,000, par value, against $18,638,000 yesterday.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday. Associates Investment dropped 3 points to 9; Kalamazoo Stove sagged 3⅛ to 38½; Godchaux Sugar A was 2½ points lower, closing at 44; McQuay-Norris lost 3 points to 56, and Crane declined 1 point to 24. On the up side Commonwealth Edison gained 2¾ to 118. Signode Steel Strapping touched a new high at 39¼, but eased to close unchanged at 38½. Armour led the trading, rising a fraction on a turnover of 4,700 shares. Chicago corporation eased ⅜ on a turnover of 3,250 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Wide variations were shown in Chicago bank stock prices quoted by various distributors yesterday. Northern Trust was unchanged to $15 lower, Harris Trust was unchanged to $10 lower, Merchandise Bank and Trust was steady to $5 lower, Chicago Title was down $7 to $12, and Continental Illinois rose $4 to $5.

BUTTER, EGGS, POTATOES

A marked broadening of trading on the buying side of egg futures yesterday carried all deliveries on the mercantile exchange to new high levels for the season. Closing trades were ¼ to ⅝ cent higher with October at 26¾ cents a dozen, the highest level quoted at this season since 1931. Comparatively light receipts, Chicago and New York having about 20,000 cases less than for the corresponding period last year, and prospects for rain or snow in the leading producing areas furnished the bullish incentive. Sales of all futures were 204 cars.

Butter advanced ⅛ to ¼ cent with March closing at 34¾ cents per pound, a new high for the season. Sales were 41 cars.

A break of as much as 17 cents in potato futures in the early trading to new low levels for the season was folowed by a swift advance and the close was 7 to 20 cents higher with April Idahos at $2.49 per 100 pounds. Sales, 101 cars. Range of future prices follow:

Commodities

Grain.

Continued strength in foreign wheat markets and the development of an active demand for supplies of cash grain from importing countries caused a fairly sharp upturn in prices in North American markets early yesterday.

While a large part of the advance on the May delivery was maintained the new crop futures turned weak toward the close as the result of reports of highly beneficial rains in the eastern half of Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska. Closing trades in May wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade showed a net gain of ½ cent, while the deferred futures were ⅝ to ⅞ cent a bushel lower.

Italy and Germany were reported to have purchased 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels of southern hemisphere cash wheat in the last two days, mainly from Argentina.

Liverpool wheat futures opened easy, but rallied to close unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher with all deliveries selling at new highs for the season during the morning. The reëntrance of Italy and Germany into the world market for wheat had considerable influence abroad.

The Buenos Aires market closed 3⅛ to 3⅞ cents a bushel higher yesterday, with the June delivery at $1.26⅜ a bushel, or 6 cents premium over the same delivery in Kansas City.

Corn and other grains showed a relatively firm undertone. Corn closed a small fraction of a cent higher, while gains in rye ranged upward to ⅞ cent a bushel. Soy beans advanced as much as 3½ cents, with buyers finding offerings light. May barley declined a cent a bushel to 75 cents, a new low for the season.

Live Stock.

Trends in live stock and meat markets were irregular yesterday, some kinds ruling strong to higher, while sharp declines were registered in others.

Steady prices prevailed in veal and lamb meat, but beef sold steady to 50 cents per hundred pounds lower and fresh pork was unevenly 50 cents lower to 50 cents higher at the principal points, the range for pork loins in Chicago at $17.50 to $22.50 showing a 50 cent loss.

Packers cut live costs of lambs at the stockyards 25 to 40 cents, buying mostly $1 to $1.25 under the year's high point early last week, and shaved 10 to 15 cents from the recent advance in hogs. There was a two-way trade for cattle, but most steers sold weak to lower.

The adverse influence of "Holy Week" on live stock and meat demand is being counterbalanced in part by the lighter receipts at the Chicago stockyards.

Lard.

Holders of lard futures were on the selling side yesterday, and it was understood that a good part of the selling represented taking of losses on purchases made at higher prices. Closing trades were at net losses of 12½ to 22½ cents. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 12½ to 20 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $12.27½; loose, $11.55; leaf, $11.87½, and clear bellies at $12.62½ per 100 pounds. Prices per 100 pounds follow:

Cotton.

Cotton futures showed an easy undertone from the start of trading yesterday in sympathy with lower cables from Liverpool and less aggressive domestic and foreign buying. Prices declined around $1 a bale at the extreme and the market showed little tendency to rally. Closing trades on futures in Chicago were at net losses of .07 to .11 cent and other American markets lost .12 to .19 cent a pound.

Spot cotton closed .10 to .15 cent lower with new Orleans, 14.25 cents; New York, 14.55 cents; Houston, 14.05 cents, and Galveston at 14.10 cents a pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

J. B. Berryman.

Stockholders of the Crane com- ny, large Chicago plumbing supply anufactur- r, were told esterday y John B. e ryman, hairman, hat there s a possi- ility of a esumption f dividend ayments n common tock. The eeting as one of everal held y local oncerns at hich exec- tives told better business conditions.

Berryman said that before a com- on dividend can be paid accumula- ons of $5.25 on preferred stock plus gular dividends of $7 for 1937, must set aside. In addition, he said, mething should be appropriated for ntingencies. Last year $14 in ac- mulations and $7 in regular pay- ents were made on the preferred. is year $3 in back dividends and .75 regular has been paid. Berry- an said sales this year are ahead 1936 and that the outlook is en- uraging. All directors were re- ected.

Tells of Employé Benefits.

At the meeting of Link-Belt com- ny, manufacturers of conveying d other machinery, Alfred Kauff- an, president, stressed the com- ny's relations with its workers, regoing comment on the business uation. He said the concern's em- oyés for many years have been re- iving advantages which other com- nies are only now allowing.

"We have always tried to consider r employés as men and women, d not just as workers," Kauffman id.

Stockholders elected two new di- ctors, Bernard E. Sunny, who is a rector of the Illinois Bell Telephone d other companies, and Austin L. ams, in charge of the company's dianapolis operations. They suc- ed Arthur L. Livermore, deceased, d Austin L. Adams, resigned.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here will be welcomed. Inquiries will be answered through the daily articles rather than by letter. Requests for information on investments should be addressed as heretofore to Tribune Investors' Guide, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Buying on Margin.

"What," asks R. W., "is buying on margin? I am told that it is the way big speculators make money."

Large quantities of stocks and commodities are bought on margin, but the practice is risky for a person of limited means. Assume you want to speculate in stocks and wish to carry in your account a larger quantity than you can afford to buy outright. This is what you do:

Under present regulations of the federal reserve board you must post a minimum margin of 55 per cent of the value of your stocks. You buy 100 shares of Rustless Brass, which is selling at $100 a share. The total cost would be $10,000. But you margin your transaction. You deposit $5,500 with your broker and he loans you $4,500, charging you interest on this amount.

Suppose the stock declines to 90. Your total investment is reduced in value to $9,000, of which only $4,500 is your money. The 10 point decline cost you $1,000. As you must maintain a 55 per cent interest, your broker calls for more margin.

You supply it immediately, or the broker has the right to sell your holdings, deducting his $4,500 loan, plus expenses and commissions, and returning to you what is left. Of course, if prices go up you make money, but the vagaries of price trends are such that the average investor should avoid margin trading unless he has sufficient capital to meet any demands for more margin.

In the 1929 boom days margin purchases were made with as little as 10 per cent of the full price paid. But on such a shoestring purchase the buyer was in an extremely vulnerable position.

Briefly, you can "buy" more stock for less money on margin, but your risk is greater. When you own a stock outright you can hold it as long as you please, regardless of whether the market goes up or down.

NORTH WESTERN GIVES DATA ON REORGANIZATION

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Counsel for the Chicago & North Western railroad added information on the road's holdings today to the interstate commerce commission's file on proposed financial reorganization.

C. H. Westbrook, controler, and Barrett Conway, vice president, both of Chicago, identified exhibits submitted at a hearing continuing sessions recessed last September. Their exhibits and testimony concerned terminals, Terminal facilities, various mortgage lines, trackage rights and equipment, and some data requested at the previous hearing.

S. H. Cady, general counsel, said the road's current presentation probably would be completed in three days after which the North Western representatives planned to ask a 60 day recess for studying results of a new trafic survey.

WORLD CHANGES IN COMMODITY PRICES AIMLESS

Nonferrous Metals Show Irregular Trend.

Prices of commodities drifted aimlessly in world markets yesterday. Strength in future deliveries of nonferrous metals was offset by weakness in the domestic price of lead and a slump in export copper quotations, while other commodities displayed considerable irregularity.

The American Smelting and Refining company announced a further reduction of $1 a ton in the price of lead, bringing the new basis to 6.95 cents a pound in New York. The St. Joseph Lead company, another leading producer, remained at the 7 cent level, due to heavy sales during the last few weeks and large shipping orders on its books.

Export Copper Cheaper.

Export copper sales were reported as low as 16.525 cents a pound, with the foreign bid price at the equivalent of 16.14 cents and the asking price at 16.57 cents. Sales were made on Monday as high as 17.225 cents. The domestic price of copper was unchanged at 16.25 cents. Bullish news in the American market was the report that sales on Monday were 7,746,000 pounds, against 1,752,000 pounds sold Friday and Saturday.

In sympathy with strength in the London market attributed to short covering, metal futures in New York displayed strength, in sharp contrast to recent trading sessions. Copper closed firm, 0.51 to 0.57 cent a pound higher, with March to May contracts quoted at 15.43 cents.

Lead futures closed 0.15 to 0.20 cent a pound higher, with March to August deliveries at 6.09 to 6.95 cents. Zinc was up 0.10 to 0.35 cent a pound, with March to May deliveries quoted at 7.30 cents a pound bid. No tin sales were reported in the futures markets, but nominal prices were as much as 2 cents a pound higher. Trading in all metals was light.

More Metals Being Used.

In New York several reports released during the day showed the rising consumption of metals. Lead statistics for February, reported by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, showed a decrease in stocks, and a rise in shipments and production above February of last year but under the previous month. Stocks of lead at the end of the month were 156,832 tons, against 169,776 tons in January and 225,010 in February, 1936.

World tin consumption in January was reported at 15,668 tons, against 13,237 in January, 1936. World production of tin in January was 13,660 tons, or practically the same as for the month a year before.

U. S. FIRM GETS BIG PLANE ORDER FROM ARGENTINA

Baltimore, Md., March 23.—[Special.]—The Argentine republic has ordered 35 military planes from the Glenn L. Martin company to cost $4,300,000 and to be delivered before the end of the year, officials of the company announced today.

To get the contract, it was learned, a Martin demonstrator plane, flown to Buenos Aires last September, won out in competition with planes offered by German and Italian concerns. On the 7,000 mile trip from Baltimore to Buenos Aires and back the Martin plane was exhibited to government officials of Mexico, Ecuador, Chile, and Peru.

The Argentine contract brings the Martin company's total of unfilled orders to more than $12,500,000.

D. & H. TO RETIRE 7½ MILLION ISSUE OF BONDS MAY 1

Sells N. Y. Central Stock to Get Funds.

The Delaware & Hudson company, holding company for the railroad bearing the same name and for coal properties, announced yesterday it has sold 85,000 shares of New York Central railroad common stock for approximately $3,750,000.

Directors have decided to use this amount together with other funds raised by the sale of miscellaneous securities to pay off at maturity May 1, an issue of $7,500,000 of 5½ per cent bonds. The company still owns 410,000 shares of New York Central. It is understood no further sale of New York Central stock is planned.

Large Profit In Deal.

Since Delaware & Hudson's holdings of 495,000 shares of New York Central stock were acquired in 1932 at from $22 to $36 a share and the 85,000 shares were sold during the past two months, it made a profit estimated at about $2,000,000. The stock has been selling at approximately $50 a share.

Salomon Brothers & Hutzler yesterday bought $7,500,000 of Baltimore and Ohio 2½ per cent equipment trust certificates, due in one to ten years, on a bid of 96.788. There will be no reoffering, indicating that the issue has already been placed with investors.

A reflection of the recent unsettlement in the bond market in which prices have declined and buying has been at a minimum, was shown yesterday in the price of Philadelphia Electric 3½ per cent bonds, brought out two weeks ago at 102½. They were quoted yesterday at 99¾ bid and 100 asked.

Seattle Bonds Offered.

An issue of $1,489,000 Seattle, Wash., municipal light and power 3¾ per cent revenue bonds, maturing April 1, 1943 to 1953, inclusive, has been bought by a group headed by the Bancamerica-Blair corporation and is being offered at prices to yield from 3¾ per cent to 4.10 per cent, according to maturity. Proceeds, together with other funds, will be used to construct a dam and reservoir as a part of the city's water power development.

Rawson Lizars & Co. and Carlton M. Higbie corporation will offer today 54,675 common shares of the Aetna Ball Bearing Manufacturing company of Chicago at $12.75 a share. The stock was supplied by stockholders and does not represent new financing.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Wednesday, March 24, 1937.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Fairbanks, Morse.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information on Fairbanks, Morse & Co.?—Miss E. L.

Answer: This important manufacturing enterprise has grown from a business founded a century ago and first gained prominence as a producer of scales. The most important division of the business today is the manufacture of Diesel and other types of internal combustion engines for marine, stationary, and transportation purposes. Next in importance is the electrical division, producing motors, generators, and other apparatus, and the division making scales. Pumps, pumping equipment, railway motor cars, track maintenance supplies, and water supply equipment are other lines of years' standing.

The company entered the consumers' goods field in 1934, products for the home now including radios, electric refrigerators, washing machines, and ironers.

The earnings record of Fairbanks-Morse conforms closely to the experience of other prominent companies in the durable goods field. Business dropped off sharply after 1929 sales of $31,505,000 and net income of $2,349,000.

Sales struck a low of $8,585,000 in 1932. Net income declined to $822,000 in 1930 and losses of $5,168,000, $2,547,000 and $1,147,000 occurred in the next three years.

As sales recovered from $8,908,000 in 1933 to $12,551,000 in 1934 operations returned to a profitable basis, net income being $566,000, or 28 cents per common share, in 1934.

In 1935 the company recapitalized to eliminate three and a half years of preferred dividend arrears. After further conversions during 1936 there were 28,505 preferred and 545,932 common shares outstanding. An additional 17,352 preferred shares were converted in the first two months of 1937.

With sales of $18,221,000 in 1935 and $26,828,000 in 1936, net income rose to $1,466,000, or $2.47 per common share, in 1935, and $2,253,000, or $3.42 a share after preferred dividend payments, in 1936. On the basis of capitalization at the end of the year, 1936 net was equal to $3.81 per common share.

Continued improvement in business, said President R. H. Morse, is indicated by a 36 per cent increase in orders during the first two months of 1937 compared with the corresponding 1936 period.

Dividends were resumed on the common stock in September, 1936, payments for the year amounting to $1.25. A quarterly dividend of 25 cents and an extra of 25 cents a share was paid March 1, 1937.

To Holders of

St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company
(Cotton Belt Route)
First Terminal and Unifying Mortgage Bonds

Two plans for the reorganization of St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company have already been filed in proceedings for the reorganization of said railroad under Section 77 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act. One of these has been filed by the Company and the other by banks holding large secured obligations of the Company. A hearing on these plans before the Interstate Commerce Commission was held on March 16, 1937 and adjourned to April 20.

The application of the undersigned Committee for authority to solicit proxies and authorizations from you and to represent and act for you, has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This is the only committee that has been so authorized. We believe that the necessity for prompt action is obvious.

A form of authorization authorizing the undersigned Committee to represent you will be sent on request. Pursuant to such authorization, the undersigned Committee will consider every plan proposed or which may be proposed, and may make recommendations in connection therewith or may suggest amendments thereto or may itself formulate and present another plan. The authorization, however, will not give the undersigned Committee power to accept or reject for you any plan of reorganization.

No deposit of bonds is being requested by the Committee and bondholders are not required to make any payment to the Committee under such authorization.

CROP INSURANCE BILL MAY PASS IN SENATE SOON

Committee Gives Measure Favorable Report.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The administration's $100,000,000 crop insurance bill reached the senate floor today, accompanied by a favorable report from the agricultural committee and prediction it would be passed within 10 days.

Senator Pope [D., Idaho], author of the bill, said the committee approved it unanimously after adopting an amendment placing the proposed insurance corporation's personnel under a career service independent of the civil service commission.

Covers All Types of Losses.

The legislation is designed to insure producers of wheat against losses in yield due to drouth, flood, hail, wind, tornado, insect infestation, plant disease and other natural hazards.

It proposes an appropriation of $100,000,000 to finance a federal crop insurance corporation which would enter into voluntary contracts with farmers. Premiums would be collected in wheat and indemnities paid in grain of the same class and grade.

The corporation would seek to build up a reserve of 25,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of wheat. The grain would be taken off the market in the form of insurance premiums in bumper years and paid out as indemnities in years of crop failure.

Plan to Limit Disposal.

An amendment would prevent the corporation from disposing of the grain except for indemnities or to avoid deterioration. In the latter event it would be traded, or sales replaced by purchases of equal amounts of newer wheat. Insurance would start with the 1938 crop. Administration spokesmen have said similar protection might be extended later to other kinds of crops.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

A Sip of Chicory, Sir?

March 23, 1937.

FINAL tests of chicory, a beverage producing crop grown at the Tribune's Wheaton experimental farm last summer, will be made over the coffee cups at the farm this week. Pulverized chicory, made from the home grown roots, will be blended with coffee and brewed for the test. The chicory to be used was prepared for blending by C. B. Miller & Co. of Port Huron, Mich.

In making the coffee-chicory tests various amounts of chicory will be blended with the coffee. It has been found that satisfactory blends can be made with as much as 10 per cent chicory.

A report of the drying, roasting and grinding processes carried on in the Port Huron company's laboratories has just been received at the Wheaton farm.

Mainly Exhibition Crop.

Only a small quantity of the chicory was processed because the crop had been grown primarily for exhibition purposes and the roots were not harvested and handled as is done where they are grown for commercial use.

They were of poor quality because of the extremely unfavorable weather conditions last summer. The crop made a fair showing even under extreme drouth conditions which were followed by excessive rains in September. The production test demonstrated that chicory can be grown in northern Illinois. No doubt, under normal weather conditions a much higher grade of roots could be grown.

The unfavorable weather produced roots with excess perpendicular crowns. This overgrowth is objectionable where the roots are to be used in manufacturing a fine quality of chicory. Some of the roots were hollow. Many of the plants went to seed and were not harvested. The weather also left the roots irregular in size. The tests showed an excessive amount of fibrous material which is objectionable for quality production.

The chicory crop was kept in the field as late as possible last fall for the benefit of visitors to the farm. The roots were not pulled until the last week in October, long after killing frosts.

Findings of Laboratory.

The Port Huron laboratory report shows the following:

DRYING: Weight of cut and washed roots, 24 pounds; weight of dried roots, 4.875 pounds, and a drying shrinkage of 79.687 per cent. Experts say that this figure indicates excessive drying shrinkage, the usual allowable shrinkage being 75 per cent.

ROASTING: Weight of dried roots, 4.875 pounds; weight of roasted roots, 3.827 pounds, or a shrinkage of 21.5 per cent. The usual allowable shrinkage is 16 per cent.

GRINDING: Weight of roasted root, 3.827 pounds; weight of granulated material, 2.009 pounds; weight of powder and fiber, 1.818 pounds. This shows a grinding loss of 47.5 per cent, which is considered excessive.

Executives and Managers.

AN ORGANIZATION MANUFACTURING a complete line of oil and gas fired boilers and furnaces, water heaters and air conditioning equipment is now expanding on a national scale and is seeking an executive who is capable of filling the position of a national sales director. The man to take over this position must know the largest and best distributors of this type of equipment in the country, know their methods of selling, be able to sell them personally, line up their organization and their dealers, be financially responsible. A man in this capacity will receive a 5% overwriting on all sales and should be able to make himself $50,000 per year if his connections are the kind we want. Our line has met trade acceptance and is second to none in the entire country in salability.

If you can fill the above requirements, selling equipment such as ours, backed by a sound advertising program that is already under way, then here is the opportunity of a lifetime. We want sales—nothing else, and are willing to pay well for results only. Write in detail, giving complete past experience, business and personal history, education, results obtained in previous connections, phone number, and address for appointment with company officers. Members of our organization know of this ad. Do not answer unless your qualifications coincide with our requirements.

AN INVESTIGATION

OF A SOUND, SOLID BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN WILL BE OPEN TO A FEW MEN, FOR CHICAGO AND SURROUNDING TERRITORY.

Men who are without jobs and men who are unprofitably employed should immediately interview the writer of this ad and hear the amazing story of a new invention that is going over big and making men from $40 to as high as $150 commission a week.

Sales ability is not essential; we will discount sales experience in favor of a genuine desire to work hard and learn.

WE FINANCE YOU for your own electrical unit business and pay you weekly.

NO INVESTMENT — Nothing to buy — straight and on the level.

We will grant you a personal interview and you will be amazed at the money-making possibilities this business holds for you—if you qualify. Ask for Mr. R. R. Owens, Wednesday, March 24.

Hours 9-12 AND 2-4.

A CORRECTION

Recently we advertised a '29 Chevrolet coach as having new tires. This was inaccurate as the tires had been used and were not new. We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.

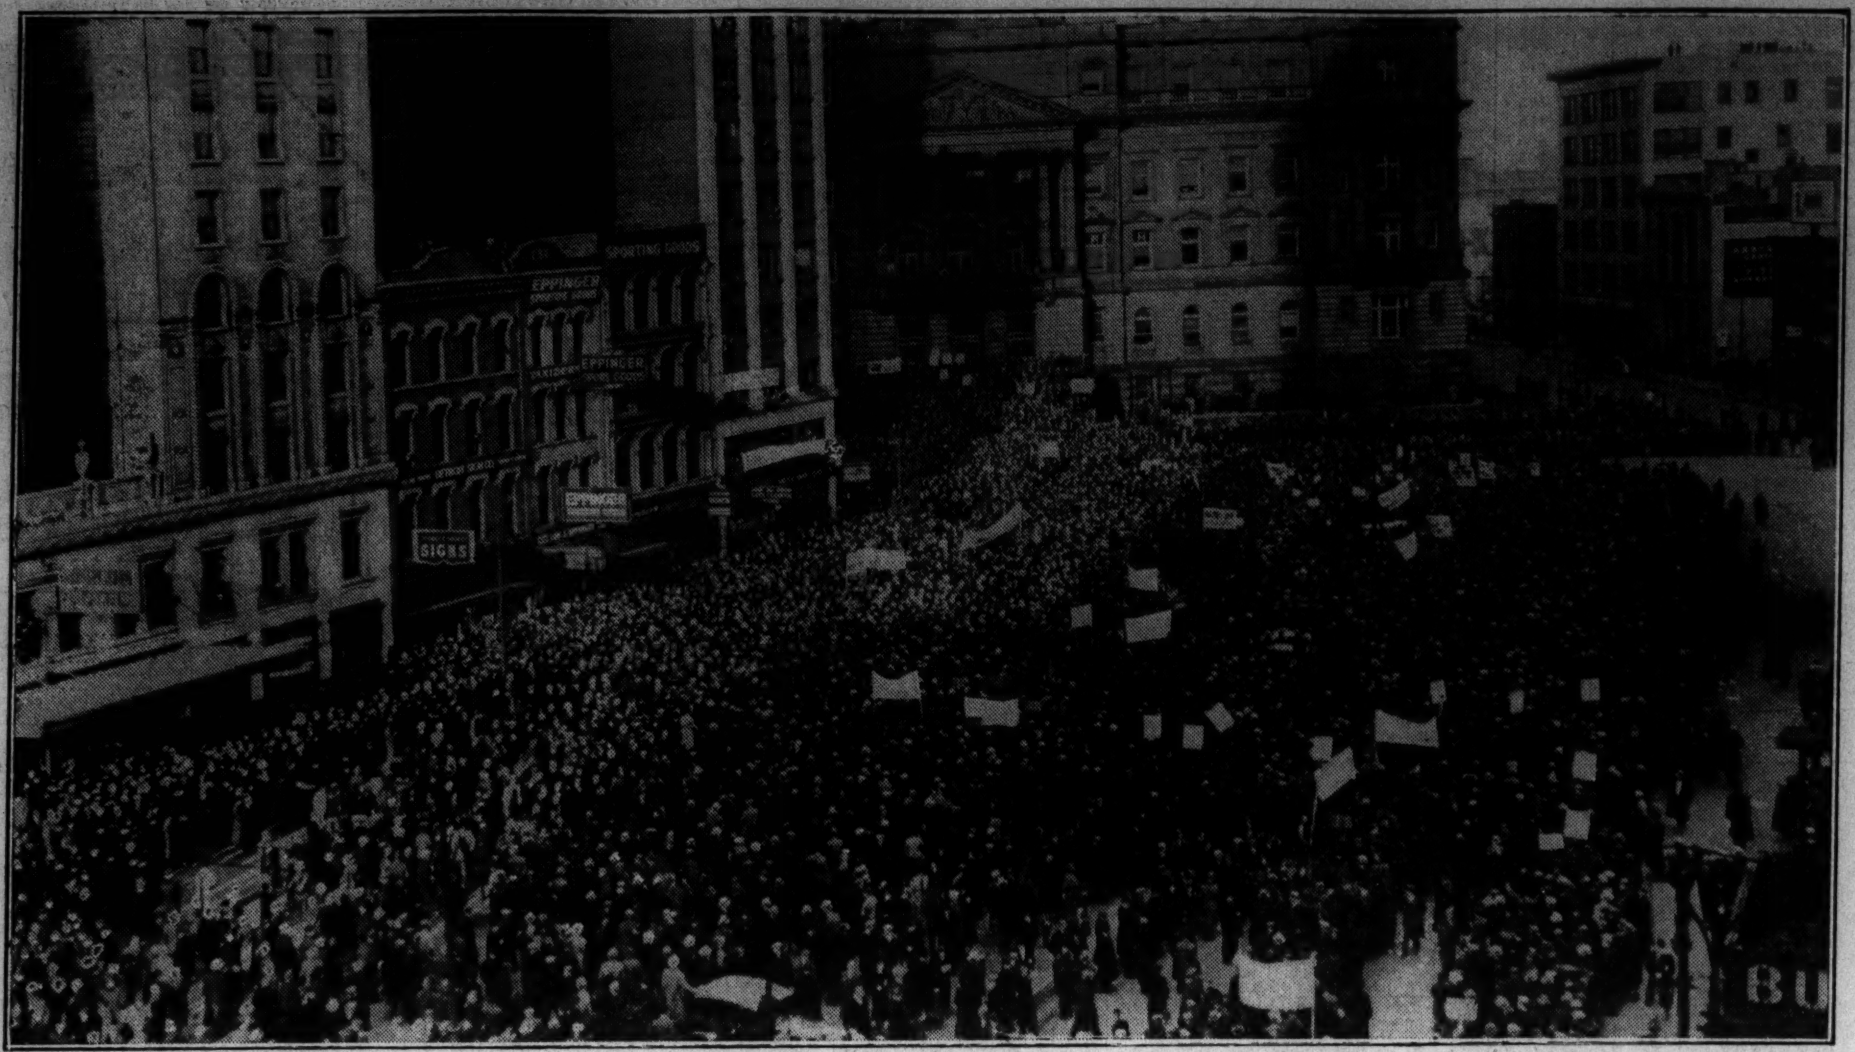
Union Labor Protests Detroit War on Strikers; Warns Ford—Chrysler and Lewis Will Meet Today



UNION LABOR TURNS OUT IN DETROIT TO PROTEST OUSTER OF STRIKERS; HEARS FORD WARNED—Part of the throng of between 25,000 and 50,000 which assembled in Cadillac square in Detroit last evening to hear officials of the United Auto Workers assail city officials for turning the police loose on sitdown strikers. The main speaker, Homer Martin, auto union president, warned Henry Ford that a union drive was soon to be started in his plants. Union demonstration came on eve of session today in which Gov. Murphy, Walter P. Chrysler, and John L. Lewis will confer on Chrysler strike.

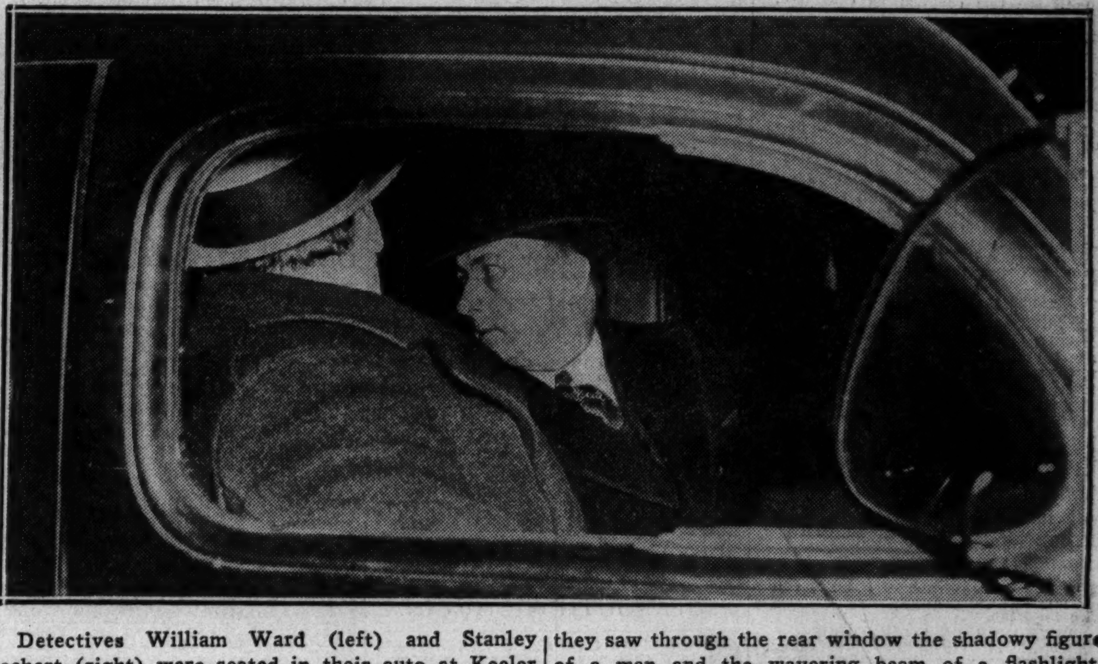
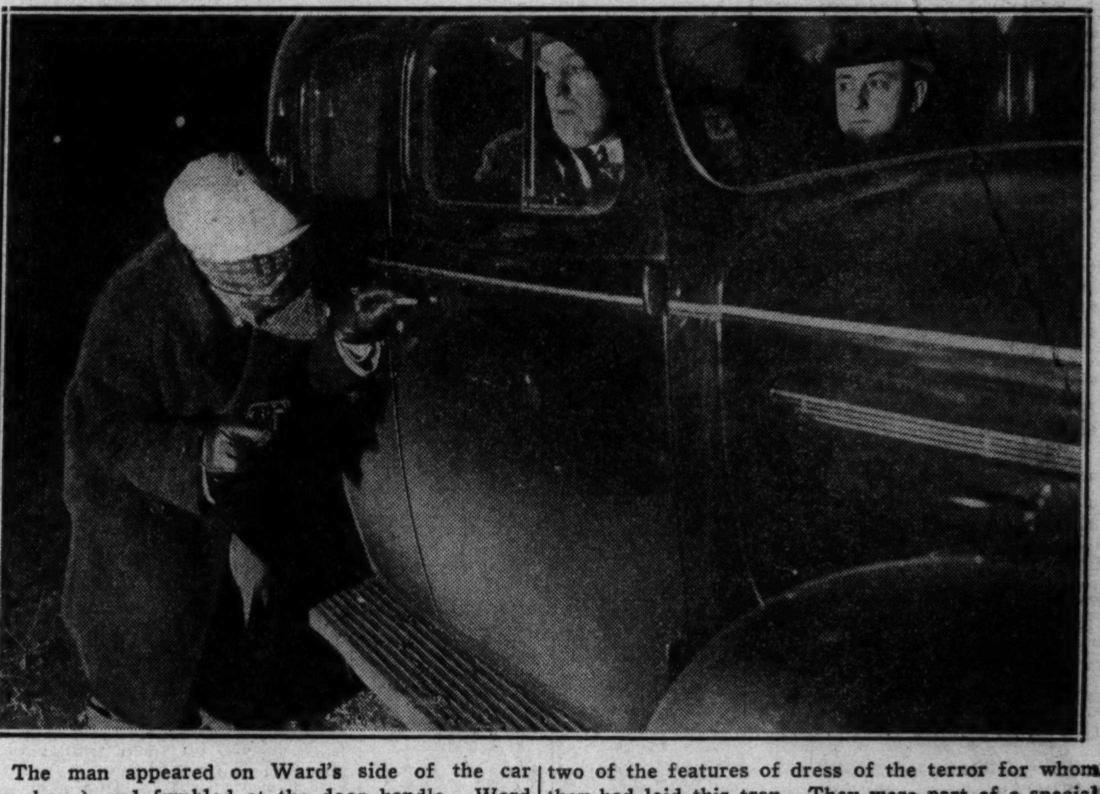
On the left is the bullet which killed Mrs. Mary Irwin, wife of a policeman, who was shot down by the masked terror on the southwest side on March 11. On the right is a bullet from Ebert's gun.

Lieut. Joseph Wilimovsky, ballistics expert, compares the bullets for identification.

Re-enactment of the Killing by Police



Detectives William Ward (left) and Stanley Lechert (right) were seated in their auto at Keeler avenue and 57th street at 1:30 a. m. yesterday when they saw through the rear window the shadowy figure of a man and the wavering beam of a flashlight. They took out their guns.



The man appeared on Ward's side of the car (as above) and fumbled at the door handle. Ward saw that the gunman wore a mask and gray cap—two of the features of dress of the terror for whom they had laid this trap. They were part of a special detail of 25 men delegated to the hunt.

Shoving open the door with his left hand, Detective Ward fired two shots from the revolver in his right hand. One bullet pierced the gunman's abdomen, the other his heart.

As the killer fell he snapped his gun four times, but the weapon missed fire. Ward jumped out and took the bandit's revolver as his partner came around the rear of the car from the other side.
